The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. William Fraser McDowell, vice-president-at-large, on the theme found in John 12:32: "And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto myself."

The customary opening hymn, "O for a thousand tongues to sing My great Redeemer's praise," was sung. After the lesson and prayer by Mrs. McDowell the service closed with Hymn 171, "Hail thou once despised Jesus!" and Hymn 138, "Christ's life our code, his cross our creed."

To review the year on the foreign field Mrs. McConnell introduced three official visitors, Mrs. Avann who went to China, Japan, and Korea, Miss Watson who visited all fields in Asia and Miss Carnahan who had been in Mexico and South America.

Mrs. Avann, speaking for China, noted the rapid changes and seething unrest of that country with the demand for self direction in religious affairs. Mrs. McDowell led in prayer.

The Committee on By-laws submitted a report which was adopted.*

The report of the Committee on United Study was presented by the recording secretary for Mrs. Frank Mason North, for thirteen years the representative of the Society on this committee. The report was accepted and ordered printed in the Executive Daily.*

It was voted that resolutions be drawn expressing appreciation of Mrs. North's long and valuable service to the Society.

The following resolution was presented by Mrs. McDowell and adopted:

In recognition of the services tendered the Central Committee for United Study of Missions by Mrs. Frank Mason North as the representative of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society on that Committee,

We recommend that one of the buildings, or if the buildings are already named, a part of one of the buildings, to be erected at the Aoyama School in Japan, to replace those destroyed by the earthquake, bear the honored name of

LOUISE MCCOY NORTH

We request the Secretary of the Home Department to express to Mrs. North our appreciation of and gratitude for these services.

On recommendation of the Committee on Memorials the memorial from Cincinnati Branch, requesting that credit be given for gifts of supplies to the field and for district contingent funds, was referred to the Home Department.

At the request of Miss Helen Kim, the president read a plan, originated by Miss Kim, for the federation of the women of the world, its purpose being

"To promote peace and friendship throughout the world; to help and encourage women of all trades and professions to do their best and to professionalize all the work of the women; to protect women and children from all the evil tendencies which keep them from growing physically, mentally and spiritually; to train the women to be intelligent and loyal citizens of the world and of their nations; to inform the women of the world about the conditions and activities of all the nations."

Mrs. McConnell announced that the president, Mrs. Nicholson, had been chosen by the International Missionary Council to study the place of women in churches and missions on the field.

By a rising vote the General Executive Committee expressed its appreciation that Mrs. Nicholson had been chosen to make this study, also its pleasure and gratification that Mrs. Nicholson has been chosen as a member of the Continuation Committee of the Council.

Mrs. Nicholson spoke briefly of the growing missionary interest among the women of the mission fields evidenced by their organization for missionary purposes.

After singing the Doxology, Miss Miriam Nieh and Miss Kitajima led in prayer, each in her own language.

Presentation of the work of Union Colleges was conducted by Mrs. McDowell, who introduced Miss L. M. Rockwell of Isabella Thoburn College, Miss Ruth Stahl of Yenching, Miss Florence Justin, a new missionary to go to Isabella Thoburn College. In the absence of a faculty member Miss Clara Merrill, a member of the Board of Control, brought greetings from Ginling College.

The erection of new buildings, made possible by the 1921 gift to Union Colleges was reported by all speakers. Miss Hooper stated that the buildings of the Woman's College in Tokyo were not damaged by earthquake and fire. In Isabella Thoburn College one girl in every six is a non-Christian. Of nine Mohammedan girls enrolled seven attend volunteer mission study and Bible classes. The Christian students devote part time each week to social service in the by-ways of Lucknow.

Reference was again made to the plan of world federation for women proposed by Miss Kim and announcement made that a similar appeal had come from Mrs. Lucy W. Peabody, president of the Federation of Woman's Boards.

It was voted that a resolution be sent to Mrs. Peabody accompanied by a copy of Miss Kim's plan, expressing the sympathy of the Society with this movement. Mrs. McDowell was appointed to prepare the resolution.

Introductions followed: Dr. Claudio Spencer, editor of the Central Christian Advocate; Dr. Gideon F. Draper, for forty-three years a missionary in Japan; chairman of local committees: Mrs. O. A. Luce, Mrs. Z. G. Thorneburg, Mrs. A. R. Harder, Mrs. F. J. Greever, Miss Nianette Hinkle, Mrs. Charles Howell, Mrs. Matthews, Mrs. Dilmah Smith; also Mrs. Hartlett Townsend Button, president of auxiliary of Grace Church, Zanesville, Ohio. Hymn 389, "Sow in the morn thy seed," was sung, after which Rev. Ray Shippard, pastor of Trinity Church, Des Moines, conducted the Quiet Hour.

The AFTERNOON session began by singing the young people's hymn, "Gracious Spirit dwell with me," led by Mrs. Van Sant, followed by a prayer by Dr. Draper and a solo by Mr. Paul S. Ray.

China being the theme for the afternoon, Mrs. McConnell, who was presiding, introduced the official correspondents for China, Miss Harvey, Miss Sinclair, Mrs. Avann, Mrs. Wilson, also Miss Bender, member of the China Committee.

Mrs. Avann presented Misses Mina Stahl, Danner, Walker, Joyce, Greer, Ruth Stahl, Gregg, Cheney, Brudenbaugh, Bell, missionaries on furlough from North China Conference, also Miss Rita Schenck, a recruit for this Conference Executive Committee especially for the British Isles. By a vote of the Central Executive Committee Mrs. Wilson introduced Dr. Robins, Misses Merrill, Seelye, Beigis, furloughed missionaries; Miss Niel, a teacher in Russian School, and Miss Laura Gooding, a recruit of Central China and Kiangsi Conferences. Miss Sinclair presented Misses Holmes, Jones, Desjardines, Trotter, furloughed missionaries from West China Conference.

Mrs. Harvey, representing Foochow, Hinghwa and Yenping Conferences, presented furloughed missionaries, Misses Bartlett, Mabel Allen, Lebeus, Dr. Johnson; Misses Bachman, Apple, Hussey, Shawhan, and Dr. Hemmenway, new missionaries for these fields, also Mrs. Tippett.

Miss Elizabeth M. Strow, Central Treasurer for China, was introduced. An address on the educational field in China was given by Miss Miriam Nieh, supervisor of primary schools in Kiangsi Conference. Miss Nieh commended the work done by graduates of middle schools. She represented China as trampling old customs under foot and accepting anything new. The mission schools are a strong power to keep the girls at their old, stoic, faithful, refined customs and they introduce the best of the new. Our country is in an adolescent condition ready to be molded into a Christian nation.

Dr. Eda Johnson represented the needs of the hospital in Sienyu, which, having been recently well-equipped, is without adequate support. Miss Eva Gregg, R. N., president of the China Nurses' Association, spoke of the organization for nurses in China, with a membership of six hundred, expecting soon to be admitted to the International Council of Nurses. Miss Cora Simpson, a missionary nurse of the Society, is executive secretary for China, Dr. Iva Miller, also a missionary of the Society, has been released for service on the Public Health Council of China.

Miss Cheney of Keen School, Tientsin, reviewed some of the work done by Chinese girl students for the social betterment of the community. Hwa

Nan students conduct twenty-five Sunday schools with an attendance of about one thousand children, Kukiang has a mothers' club for young wives, Yenching students are continuing the school begun during the famine, Keen school girls are making kimonos for Japanese in the earthquake zone.

Miss Dorothy Jones of West China represented the high school at Chengtu, the only one for girls, in a population equal to the United States.

Mrs. H. M. Patten sang "A voice in the wilderness."

Mrs. Ainsworth and Mrs. H. H. Wagoner were introduced, having attended a General Executive meeting forty years ago.

Dr. Kwégyir Aggrey of South Africa was introduced.

After singing Hymn 408, "Lead on, O King Eternal," Professor O. H. Smith, formerly of Nanking, China, gave an address on "Science and Missions."

At 3:30 on Wednesday afternoon the General Executive Committee met in EXECUTIVE SESSION, Mrs. Nicholson presiding.

Mrs. Snow and Mrs. McConnell led in prayer.

The report of the Committee on Foreign Students in America was presented by Mrs. Mary Carr Curtis and the recommendations were adopted.

It was voted to adopt the recommendations of the Foreign Department for the affiliation of Aoyama Jo Gakuen with Aoyama Gakuin.

It was voted that those amounts now in 1924 building appropriations for Aoyama Jo Gakuen, including the young people's thank offering, be transferred to Kwassui Jo Gakko, except those of Tōkai Branch given under special conditions.

That it be clearly understood that building at Kwassui Jo Gakko be not commenced until building plans have been approved by the Foreign Department and the money is in hand and authorization given by the Foreign Department through the general treasurer.

The recommendation of the Foreign Department of a budget of $610,000 for rehabilitation in the earthquake zone in Japan was adopted.

It was voted that if this amount for rehabilitation be raised and there is a balance it shall be used, up to $100,000, for Kwassui Jo Gakko at Nagasaki. This use of excess receipts shall be announced in the publicity of the campaign.

It was voted to adopt the plan of campaign for the earthquake fund as proposed by the Home Department.

That the corresponding secretary for Japan, Mrs. Mary Carr Curtis, be added to the committee named by the Home Department to present the plan to the Committee on Conservation and Advance.

That in view of the fact that the Committee on Conservation and Advance may not approve proposed plan, and in case of failure of any plan for co-operation with the Board of Foreign Missions, the Society may appeal to its constituency on the basis of plan devised for this purpose by the Home Department.

Mrs. J. N. Reed and Miss Carrie J. Carnahan were appointed to arrange for the appeal for an offering for Japan to be made at the evening service.

Adjourned.

Thursday, November 1

The closing meeting of the General Executive Committee opened with singing Hymn 350, "O Jesus, I have promised To serve thee to the end."

Mrs. Nicholson presided and Mrs. Townsend conducted the devotional service. Mrs. Burton led in prayer, after which Hymn 448, "God is our strong salvation," was sung, followed by a solo, "The living God," sung by Mrs. Fannie W. Ryan.

The minutes of the Home Department were read by the secretary, Mrs. Sheets, and approved.†

Tellers were named as follows: Miss Juliet H. Knox, Mrs. W. L. Snow, Mrs. E. J. Wittwer, Mrs. S. F. Draper, Mrs. Frank E. Baker.

Miss Ella M. Watson announced the death of Esther Russell, a missionary of the Topeka Branch in Puebla, Mexico, which occurred on Wednesday, the thirty-first. Miss Watson was requested to send to the family an expression of deep sympathy. Miss Carrie J. Carnahan led in prayer.

Mrs. Townley and Mrs. Sheets were appointed a committee to approve the minutes of this session of the General Executive Committee.

It was voted that in case the joint appeal with the Board of Foreign Missions for Japan rehabilitation does not take place the entire appropriation, including the young people's thank offering transferred from Aoyama Jo Gakuin to Kwassui Jo Gakko by vote of the General Executive Committee in executive session on Wednesday, be transferred back to Aoyama Jo Gakuin.

It was voted to accept the invitation extended by New York Branch to hold the session of the General Executive Committee for 1924 in Calvary Church, East Orange, New Jersey.

Mrs. Townsend made the announcement that Yen 650 ($325) had been collected for Japan rebuilding at the evening service on Wednesday.

In response to a request from Mrs. Henry W. Peabody that the Society take some action on the international federation of women, Mrs. McDowell introduced the following resolution which was adopted, by courtesy the motion being made by Miss Kitajima, seconded by Miss Nieh.

Believing that we, as Christian women of America, dare not shirk the responsibility resting on us as we face the present world conditions, which are plainly manifested, not only by the disregard of law but also in the general letting down of ethical standards, the widespread criticism of religion and the Church, and the dangers besetting our children and young men and women;

Furthermore, believing that the Christian women of other nations are ready to unite with us in working for a better world, as is proved by the recent visit of Madame Yajima to this country, bringing a petition for world peace to President Harding from ten thousand Japanese women, and as is shown also by the petition for an international association of women brought to us by Helen Kim of Korea, and by a similar petition from India;

Believing also that the work of Christian missions is a most potent factor in the establishment of peace and good will the world over;

Therefore, be it resolved, That we believe the time is at hand when the Christian women of the world should unite their forces in an international federation to work for world peace and world friendship, for the creation and enforcement of good laws, for the safeguarding and welfare of the youth and children of the world and for the establishment of justice and righteousness throughout the world.

We request that a copy of Helen Kim's letter be forwarded to the Federation of Foreign Mission Boards with this resolution.

All joined hands while singing, "Blest be the tie that binds Our hearts in Christian love," after which Mrs. Caldwell led in prayer.

The budget for Home Administration* was presented by Miss Hooper and it was voted that the treasurer be authorized to pay these amounts from the General Fund.

The request of the students of Ewha Haktang, Seoul, Korea, that they be allowed the privilege of sending, as a gift to the museum of the Society, the school bell which has been in service for many years, was presented by Mrs. F. I. Johnson.

Miss Jeannette Walter, a member of the faculty of Ewha Haktang, was granted the privilege of the floor and made the presentation address written by Miss Helen Kim.

Mrs. Thomas led in prayer for the school, and was asked to prepare a resolution of thanks to Ewha Haktang students.

It was voted that the president be requested to express to Rev. J. T. B. Smith the thanks of the Society for his services in securing publicity.

That the thanks of the Society be given to Mrs. J. C. Thornburg for her publicity work.

The Committee on Resolutions presented the following which was adopted:

Resolved: That we rejoice in the new opportunity that is opening to the women of the world in international and interracial relationships and will welcome the privilege of cultivating this new field;

That we declare ourselves ready to further by every means possible disarmament looking toward world peace;

That as representatives of women in every land we wish to express to the general chairman and local committees our very great appreciation of their thoughtful consideration of our comfort and pleasure as well as for their concern for the furtherance of our common task.

A special vote of thanks was tendered to Mrs. H. M. Patten, chairman of the music committee, and to Mrs. J. S. Barnett, organist, for their great contribution to the pleasure of the session.

Mrs. Lindsay took the chair.

The report of the Committee on Nominations was presented by Mrs. Alfred Matthews as follows: for President, Mrs. Thomas Nicholson; for Vice President, Mrs. Frederick F. Lindsay; for Vice President, Mrs. Francis J. McConnell; for Vice President-at-Large, Mrs. William Fraser McDowell; for Vice-President-at-Large, Mrs. Orville N. Townsend; for Recording Secretary, Mrs. Charles Spaeth; for Treasurer, Miss Florence Hooper.

Standing committees, general counselor and auditor were nominated and elected. (See pages 5 and 6.)

Delegates to the Foreign Missions Conference of North America and to the meeting of the Federation of Woman's Boards were nominated and elected. (See page 6.)

Mrs. Thomas presented the following resolution which was adopted:

The General Executive Committee of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in session at Des Moines, Iowa, wishes to express to the students of Ewha Haktang, through Miss Helen Kim, our appreciation of the gift of the school bell, which by its ringing voice, has told us of the love and loyalty of its girls. We shall prize it, realizing the sacrifice you have made in presenting to us one of the most loved of your possessions.

The Forward Movement Committee, through Mrs. J. N. Reed, presented in detail plans which had been made in the Home Department for collecting the fund for the rehabilitation of Japan, plans which provide for the mobilization and quick action of the membership of the Society, looking toward a united offering from the Church on Christmas Sunday, December twenty-third. (See December number of the Friend).

From Branches (included in Branch receipts listed above) the treasurer has received for Retirement Fund Endowment $30,247.85. Allowances totaling $23,596.00 have been paid to fifty-seven retired missionaries. The year's income from the Retirement Fund Endowment amounted to $16,920.02 and there was a special gift of $7,500 from the General Fund. The income deficit, which on October 2, 1922, was $16,916.52, now amounts to $18,416.49. The endowment on October 2, 1923, totalled $313,837.75 with $9,200 additional appropriated by Branches but not yet paid to the Treasurer.

A method should be devised to meet the heavy deficit in Retirement Fund Income. This will recur and increase until the endowment has been largely increased. To meet a budget of approximately $24,000, an endowment of not less than $450,000 will be required. Toward this the Society should work as rapidly as possible. The treasurer suggests that $1,923, the balance which will remain in 1923 General Fund when all Branch assessments have been paid, be appropriated on account of the Retirement Fund deficit. This will reduce the deficit to the figures at which it stood October 2, 1922. We may, however, anticipate an addition of about $7,000 to the deficiency during 1924.

The total of annuity gifts in the hands of the general treasurer, including those specifically designated for Retirement Fund, is $142,202, all safely invested under direction of the Committee on Investments. In addition the treasurer holds and similarly invests Branch annuity funds totalling $118,361.65. The net proceeds of lapsed annuities is paid over to the Branches concerned.

In addition to these, the treasurer has handled and invested under direction of the Committee on Investments, special funds as follows:

Legacies directed by testators to be held and invested.....	$ 92,230.07
Congdon Professorship Endowment (Isabella Thoburn College)	12,535.51
Helen Keller, Lucie F. Harrison, Isabella Thoburn, Mrs. Charles Gibson, Frances Willard and Lilavati Singh Scholarship and General Endowments (Isabella Thoburn College).....	12,945.16
Various Funds for education of candidates for medical missionary service.....	15,849.44
Retirement Fund.....	313,837.75
Zenana Paper Fund.....	21,611.12
Miscellaneous Special Funds.....	13,190.62

The total of investible funds amounted on October 3, 1923, to $743,263.92 of which $716,774.75 was invested in the highest grade securities it has been possible to purchase, and the rest in cash awaiting investment. These securities are purchased only after unanimous approval by the members of the Committee on Investments and consist principally of United States and Canadian Government Bonds and Railway Equipment Bonds. A detailed annual report is made to the Committee on Investments. The increase in investible funds since October 2, 1922, has been $103,095.09.

The members of the General Executive Committee will be interested in a report of the part played by the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society in the campaign for Union Colleges. The following statement covers cash receipts for the entire campaign, not only for the year 1922-23.

Christian Woman's College, Tokyo	$ 63,862.81
Isabella Thoburn College.....	138,068.44
North China Medical School.....	23.78
Ginling College.....	62,897.28
Yenching College.....	49,862.95
Madras College.....	285.54
Vellore Medical School.....	1,270.00
	$316,270.80

In addition to these cash receipts which passed through the regular channels of our Society, the treasurer of the Joint Campaign has handed us vouchers covering Methodist gifts totalling $25,195.57 and the Board of Foreign Missions has turned over to us a special gift of $4,640 for Ginling College, thus making a grand total of $346,106.37, of which $321,302.02 secured Rockefeller credit and therefore brought into the treasury of the Joint Campaign from the Rockefeller Fund $160,651.01 in addition to our direct gifts. $24,804.35 was used to clear off debts for amounts advanced by us within the last four or five years for the new Union College plants, but not a part, so far as we are concerned, of the present campaign. We may rejoice, therefore, that our effort added $482,088.03 to the campaign fund in addition to considerable sums paid in previous years for Union College buildings.

For the Interchurch World Movement Overhead Expense Fund, the Branches report specially designated gifts totalling $50,354.52. These, with $9,390.89 received before October 2, 1922, make a total of $59,745.50 for this fund.

For buildings and major repairs (not including Union Colleges) the treasurer has received $401,083.35 and has paid out $479,893.33.

The real estate list appears in full in the Year Book.

The financial report brings reason for profound gratitude to God. All Branches but two show substantial increases in collections. Of those two, one falls but a few dollars below last year; the other about $8,000 below. The special receipts, such as income from endowments, etc., have increased some $6,000. The year's collections have made possible appropriations for missionaries and current work on the foreign field exceeding the appropriations of 1922 by $53,380 and $66,352 respectively, thus making a considerable addition to the size and efficiency of our work, the while they maintained all work on the field for which we were at the beginning of the year responsible.

FLORENCE HOOPER, Treasurer.

Secretaries of Branches, supported by Branch delegations, pledged the appropriations for 1924:

This session of the General Executive Committee was notable for great audiences. Des Moines Branch held a business meeting one day and merged its regular program with that of the General Executive Committee, resulting in greatly increased attendance.

The program was built around the theme of World Friendship and World Peace, the breaking down of national and race prejudice through better understanding being an outgrowth of missionary endeavor. This thought ran through the presentation for each country.

The first public function was a reception in the State House tendered by the Des Moines Branch. The packed corridors drew from the doorman the exclamation, "I didn't know that anyone but Roosevelt could draw such a crowd!"

Three great banquets were attended by varying groups. On Friday evening representatives of young people's organizations in large numbers dined together and later, under the leadership of Mrs. Nicholas Van Sant, presented a pageant, "Links in the great adventure." Miss Sprowles gave her experiences as an eye-witness of the Japan earthquake. On Tuesday evening Mrs. Van Sant presented the illustrated lecture "The youth of many lands." The student banquet of five hundred, attended by large groups of students from surrounding schools, was followed by a student program in the auditorium, foreign students giving a demonstration, "Day after tomorrow." Mr. Charles D. Hurrey, secretary of the Federation of Foreign Students in America, and Miss Twila Lytton, recently returned from the Woman's College of Japan, gave the addresses. On Monday evening more than seven hundred Methodists assembled at a banquet at Hotel Des Moines, the missionaries and General Executive Committee being once more the guests of Des Moines Branch. Addresses were made by Bishop Nicholson and Rev. Edwin F. Lee, formerly of Java.

The children's rally brings the King's Heralds from near and far to see the missionaries in strange costumes and to hear their stories. The older on-lookers joined in the program by subscribing many children's life memberships.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of Des Moines gave a reception in the Iowa National Bible Training School of that Society on Tuesday afternoon. A large company availed themselves of the opportunity to inspect the beautiful new building.

On several evenings notable addresses were delivered, Bishop Edgar Blake on the situation in Europe; Dr. Kwegyir Aggrey on Christianizing inter-racial and international relationships; Rev. Charles Iglehart and Dr. Masanobu Ishizaka on friendship between Japan and America.

FOREWORD

Millions are now turning definitely toward Christ. His ideals of life and character are affecting the whole social organism. The political upheaval has not hindered the progress of Christianity. Rather, it has brought the principles of Jesus into bold relief, so that reformers of all religious faiths are quoting from the New Testament his messages and prayers. He stands out as a dominant ideal to the awakened Indians. . . . This year, during our special revival months, forty-three thousand special meetings were held, with more than a million people in attendance. There were six hundred seventy-five heathen shrines destroyed by village people who had turned from idolatry to Christ. During these meetings, there were 9,686 persons baptized. When has Methodism experienced a greater ingathering? The days of the apostles are upon us!

BISHOP FRED B. FISHER.

Politically, India is more quiet than a year ago. There is confusion of thought in regard to the best policy to achieve Swaraj or home rule, and there is also a lack of organized leadership. The Khilafat agitation has been largely undermined by the treaty of Lausanne with its large concessions to the demands of Turkey, and in consequence Hindus have largely ceased to feel an interest in the communal interests of Indian Mohammedans. This lack of unity may be correctly described as the chief obstacle to Indian national aspirations for self-government.

The year has afforded unusual evidence of the influence of the gospel of Jesus Christ both direct and indirect. Once more the National Congress adopted resolutions asking that immediate steps be taken to do away with the purdah system, condemning early marriage, and favorable to the re-marriage of widows. The congress also passed a resolution asking total prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating drinks. The cause of prohibition is making rapid progress. Some months ago the cable brought news that in the native state of Bhopal the Begum, the only woman ruler in India, had declared prohibition for her state. Let us realize what this declaration means for the state and the ruler in the loss of revenue of more than Rs. 5,000,000 annually, but the income has been sacrificed in the hope of a corresponding improvement in the material conditions of the subjects of the state.

BENGAL CONFERENCE Educational Work (Vernacular)

ASANSOL—Bengali Girls' Middle English Boarding School—The success of this school is its embarrassment. The report comes of the cramped quarters and of the large number of day school pupils of high grade, willing to pay fees, who are awaiting a chance to be enrolled. A more commodious school building and a home for the teachers are sorely needed.

CALCUTTA—The missionaries see great need for a Hindustani girls' boarding school located near Calcutta. Already sixteen girls, all daughters of Bible women, preachers and teachers, are ready for high school. "Our only hope lies in training these girls in their own language," they say. A domestic science department with a teacher would be of great benefit.

PAKUR—Bengali Girls' School—That the school is growing is evidenced by the demand for another teacher, to take care of the work which has become too great for one alone.

The Santali girls have been moved into a school of their own, which is more satisfactory in every way. Buildings for the Santali work have been promised and the outlook for training leaders for these less conservative people is hopeful. An educational plant for them is the natural outgrowth of the successful evangelistic work which has been conducted among these people for several years.

Educational Work (English)

CALCUTTA—Girls' High School—This has been a good year. Besides nearly two hundred day pupils there are one hundred six boarders, forty-one of whom are cared for on scholarships and twenty-nine on half pay. The aim of this school is that no girl wanting to come and meeting the requirements shall be turned away. Miss Hunt writes: "Christian education means for the Anglo-Indians not only power to fulfill their calling, but their very lives. In the new day dawning the Anglo-Indian is meeting keener competition and must stand on his merits."

This school is a lively and attractive place; companies of timid zenana women and girls steal upstairs to hear the music and get a glimpse of the Christian home life there. Of the three graduates who entered the training school for missionaries at Muttra, one has finished and is at work.

Some of the primary pupils are still housed in the Anna Thoburn Hall, though all the room there is needed for an evangelistic center. All are looking forward to permanent quarters of their own for these pupils. They greatly need a domestic science department and teacher.

A season of special evangelistic services led by Bishop Fisher resulted in conversions and "deeper Christian experience for many of the girls, and," wrote a missionary, "was of great benefit to us all."

DARJEELING—Queen's Hill High School—A high grade of work has been done here despite poor accommodations and equipment. The time has come when the government will permit the old buildings to be used only until new ones can be built. A fine tract of sixty-two acres, ideally located, has been purchased and plans drawn for an adequate school plant. Permission to build has been granted, so it is the purpose to have the work well begun this year. Much help will be given locally, $35,000 having been secured on the field. Miss Madden writes enthusiastically that the building will face the most wonderful snow-capped mountain view in the world, and she is sure it is one of the most healthful and beautiful places anywhere to be found. There has been an increase in attendance this year, and through the evangelism constantly carried on spiritual growth in the students has been marked. "The importance of training these children of missionaries, many of whom have already taken their places in the work of the Kingdom, cannot be overestimated."

The call comes for more missionaries; one with an M. A. degree to be in training for the principalship of this splendid English school. Will not some fine college young woman accept this high privilege?

Miss Laura V. Long, who rendered fine service as a teacher in this school for five years, went home to God this year while on furlough in America.

Evangelistic Work

"A new day is dawning in Bengal," writes the field correspondent. One thousand four hundred thirty-one baptisms last year call for more evangelistic missionaries to care for them. Nine were asked for; one was sent during the year, but three others who have had fine training in the Lee Memorial Mission will soon be working under the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society. Miss Beulah Swan, a new missionary, will also be welcomed soon.

There is a pressing need for better trained Bible women, and standards are being raised. To this end a Bible training school in Bengal is becoming a necessity. Attendance at other training schools would mean learning another language, which would be prohibitive. In Bengal there are forty million women and only fifty Bible women. The need is great.

ASANSOL—The Bible women are doing faithful work here and should be properly taken care of. The missionaries are asking that a home be provided for them as soon as possible.

CALCUTTA (Vernacular)—The many villages in this district constitute a constant challenge. At least one more evangelistic missionary for Bengali work is badly needed. Miss Welles writes: "We do so need a Bible training school for Hindustani work. So little trained help is a great handicap; but we are expecting it will soon be different. India is coming to Christ, but she needs more witnesses. Tell the people to come." Of Miss Welles, who is a recruit, an associate missionary writes: "Send us more just like her."

The first Epworth League Institute was held in Calcutta in the summer. Miss Field says: "The real spiritual note and blessing prayed for by the missionaries prevailed. In December we are to entertain the four-year Central Conference (our General Conference) when we expect four hundred guests. We shall be busy of course, but it will be a rare privilege and the joy and blessing we shall receive will be more than we deserve."

It is planned that, next summer, schools shall be held for village workers, giving them instruction and inspiration for their work.

TAMLUK—Miss Blair writes: "The new day which has come to India has dawned in Tamluk. Opportunities are on every hand; the women and girls are calling us. No one else will help them if we do not." They are eagerly waiting for the time when it will be possible to provide for them. The need is for land, school, teacher, that a girls' boarding school may be developed.

Tamluk is a strategic point for training leaders. Here the Board of Foreign Missions has now a prosperous work. Higher literacy prevails than in most localities. Many baptisms the past year have crowned the faith and labor of the missionaries and it is from these our leaders might come if they could be trained.

PAKAUR—"Poor but promising" is the way one missionary describes the twenty-five Sunday schools in the villages near Pakaur. Unique among these are some composed entirely of Mohammedans. In each of these schools, taught by a single Bible woman or preacher, there is but one class. No attempt at a program is made but Bible stories are told many times and large portions of scripture are memorized.

Pakaur is the center for the Santali work of the conference. Most successful has been the evangelistic work done among these who are unusually responsive to the gospel. Buildings for school work are almost in sight, and this promises to be a strong hold in the Kingdom.

Tilautia Sanitarium has proved a blessing to the four girls and two Bible women sent there from Bengal Conference, all of whom returned cured. The call comes for the endowment of free beds there to be used by Bengali patients when needed. May some one respond to this opportunity for doing a blessed service.

BOMBAY CONFERENCE

Educational Work

"BOMBAY The Beautiful" is the heading of an article in the Indian Witness describing the dedication of the fine new church, made out of an old one, which will house the Gujarati and Hindustani congregations in the city. While the newly-formed conference is Marathi outside of Bombay, our work in this city remains a problem of languages as there are four different vernacular Methodist congregations in the city: Marathi, Gujarati, Hindustani and Kanarese.

We have day schools in the first three of these language areas. Because their work is so strong, educationally, and because they are becoming to the children of Bombay what the public schools are to children in America, these schools are mentioned here rather than under evangelistic work. There are three Marathi schools superintended by Miss Ruppell with an enrollment of over one hundred. The wall, for which the money was sent last year, has greatly increased the efficiency of the work of Byculla school, as it furnishes the safety and privacy so much needed in a down-town site. Miss Elliott has charge of four Marathi schools, one a new one this year for which she has as yet no support. Miss Austin conducts two Gujarati schools with an enrollment of sixty. One of these is housed in the hostel of Byculla Road, and its children are especially promising, coming from good homes.

BASIM—We are often asked what becomes of our girls after they leave school. Here is the report of Miss Abbott for one year at Basim. "The older girls have gone, three to build Christian homes of their own, three for normal training, two for study in high school; two are being trained for special work in our own school, two are engaged for teachers next year, and a few have been sent away whose parents did not belong to our mission and could not pay fees. (The children of Christian parents are given first chance in enrollment.) Many new girls ranging in age from two months to thirteen years have come in to fill the places, so that the attendance is increased." Miss Greene writes, "A better day is dawning for our, primary schools, for we now have four girls in training for teachers. We hope this will be the beginning of an ever-growing supply of trained teachers." Last year we had to close the Anglo-vernacular department of the school because of a lack of trained teachers.

NAGPUR—Miss Holder's coming released Miss Sutherland for the evangelistic work which needed her so greatly. Miss Drescher and Miss Holder have had many encouragements this year. The coming of the money to purchase their own property was a great relief; but purchasing property in an Indian city is not the work of a day. Much time and energy had gone into the negotiations that were not yet accomplished at the close of the year. Miss Drescher writes of the inconvenience of their cramped rented quarters with no playground. "We opened school with over seventy girls but more have been coming until there are eighty, with the matron and one teacher, all living in a bungalow. Can you imagine the conditions in rainy weather when they cannot get out doors? But they are exceptionally good children and have such happy times together. I cannot close without a word about our most able assistant, the Ford. It has been such a blessing and saves us hours of precious time." The normal school, for which there has been such a great demand in this conference and which has been located at Nagpur, has been organized and a staff of three teachers engaged. With proper housing this department will increase rapidly.

POONA—Taylor High School—Miss Dove and Mrs. Hutchings write: "Lack of accommodations compels us to turn many worthy pupils away. The results of the Cambridge examinations were good. Our four juniors passed and all our music pupils were successful. A number of our older girls have been received into full membership in the church. While the attendance at weekly prayer and Bible study meeting is purely voluntary, most of the older girls attend regularly. Our older girls are so willing and dependable in the home, just like big, helpful daughters."

TALEGAON—Ordelia M. Hillman School—The home coming of Miss Blasdell and Miss Christina Lawson left this most important school in new hands. Miss Mayer and Miss Goodall were called from other work to "carry on" at Talegaon. An increase in attendance, a revival in the school, a beautiful Christian wedding, one of the school girls being the bride, good results in the examinations given by the government inspector of schools and faithful work of teachers, are the outstanding things in last year's report. Illness made it necessary for Miss Lawson to leave before she saw the results of Miss Blasdell's and her prayers in the conversion of fourteen girls. Of the one hundred twelve enrolled, four are Hindu girls who, while learning to read and write, are also learning of Christ.

Evangelistic Work

Much attention has been given to the preparation of a course of study for the Bible women of the conference. This is a difficult problem as there are few Marathi books suitable for Bible women. The conference greatly needs a training school similar to that at Muttra.

The work of Miss Abbott, on Basim Circuit, has been greatly hindered by lack of conveyance. Perhaps no place in India has needed a car more than has Basim, situated twenty miles in the jungle. We are rejoicing that Northwestern Branch has come to the rescue and that money for the car will soon be sent. At Nagpur the evangelistic work has felt the impetus of Miss Sutherland's being able to give her full time to it since she was released from school work. She and Mrs. Gertrude Warner have some up-to-date institutions in their district. Baby shows have become an annual event. This last year the "show" was held on the last day and as a climax to health week. Mrs. Warner writes, "Friday was Baby Show Day. We filled the Ford with babies, and found our places among hundreds of others, high caste, low caste, purdah ladies with their babies, Christians and Mohammedans with theirs. In a large open tent, nurses and doctors examined the children. Each child, when presented for examination, was given a little pink shirt which greatly pleased the adoring mothers. And Methodist twins won first prize, two of the dearest, sweetest babies, Ruth and David! Hindus, Parsees and Mohammedans pressed through the crowd asking, "Where are the prize babies?" The very names said to everyone, "Christian babies! First prize!"

The enforced home coming, because of illness, of Mrs. Mabel Fisher left Puntamba, our most promising evangelistic field in this conference, without a missionary. In a bullock cart with her Bible women, Mrs. Fisher has ridden over this circuit, often fording rivers, visiting day schools, Sunday schools, Epworth Leagues, Bible classes, and has been welcomed enthusiastically. In one village seventy-three people were baptized, so another school had to be opened. Over three hundred Christian girls are without school privileges. With workers and a little money this could easily become a mass movement area. And not missionary there!

Mrs. Aldis has had charge of three important circuits on Basim District. A summer school for Bible women in Basim is a helpful feature of the work on the district. On Poona District Mrs. Stevens says this was the best year since work was started. Many have been baptized, the city schools are more than full and are turning away pupils, and their government grant, which is based in amount upon the grade of the work done in the schools, was generously increased. Mrs. Borgman tells of the interest of parents in the schools and of two women who often came to visit, and who would sit for hours listening to the teaching, soon asking for baptism. Miss Abbott writes of the opening of a new day school ten miles from Basim, for low caste children, at the request of high caste men. The opening was celebrated by a great gathering, with music by a band, and with speeches by high caste men. In Bombay, in addition to the superintendence of day schools, Miss Austin, Miss Ruppell and Miss Elliott each have many Bible women working in Gujarati, Hindustani and Marathi districts. On the whole, a strong evangelistic program is being put on in the conference. The Marathi women are strong characters and, when trained, make good leaders. Pundita Ramabai and her daughter are striking examples of what Christianity can do for Marathi womanhood.

MRS. RANDOLPH BEALL, Official Correspondent.

CENTRAL PROVINCES CONFERENCE Educational Work

BAIHAR—The new teachers' quarters and hostel for girls now being built will greatly increase the efficiency of the school. About one hundred are enrolled. Besides the regular routine of school work, hand work has been introduced with good effect, the older girls making blouses out of cloth sent to the school in Christmas boxes. During some special meetings, at an altar call by Bishop Robinson, every one of the older pupils came forward to dedicate herself for life service to the Master. It will be "good news from a far country" when Baihar hears that money has been given for the missionary bungalow and that building operations may begin. This was made possible by the generous gift of five thousand dollars from a gentleman in Northwestern Branch. We are all rejoicing over the recovery of Miss Clark from her serious illness and are deeply grateful to Dr. and Mrs. Felt for their untiring care of her.

JUBBULPORE—Johnson Girls' High School—The subject of a new building for the high school and the remodeling and enlargement of the present building continues to be uppermost in all Jubbulpore thinking. A feature of this year's work has been the physical examination of all the pupils (three hundred of them) under the supervision of Dr. Felt. Miss Clinton, Mrs. Felt and Miss Bannerji did the weighing and measuring which work, Miss Clinton says, "is most entrancingly interesting but takes hours and hours." Microscopic and laboratory tests were made by Dr. Felt and a complete record kept, on a printed chart, of the physical condition of each child. The school recently celebrated its thirtieth anniversary. Miss Gould, who has special charge of high school work, tells of a visit of a government official to inspect the two companies of Girl Guides in the school: "We just swelled with pride as we watched our girls, well-groomed, keen, happy, thoroughly alive, carrying themselves with such self-possession, naturalness, and ease. It is really remarkable what this school does in developing such beautiful types from low caste girls. If only we had the needed buildings!" Like the famous, "Carthage must be destroyed!" of the Romans, "Buildings must be constructed!" ends every speech or letter from Jubbulpore these days.

The Christian Normal Training School—The attendance has almost doubled in the last two years. They are rejoicing in the comfort of the new outdoor dormitory. Miss Bannerji is now principal of this important school and is doing the work very efficiently. Miss Bannerji's appointment as principal, which was made entirely upon her ability for the task, has met with special approbation by government officials. A kindergarten training department has recently been added.

JAGDALPUR—At last conference Ada Lauck was appointed to our new school at Jagdalpur. She found many encouraging and some discouraging features but finds the work tremendously interesting. A very pretty ceremony was held when the school was formally turned over to the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society. The new building is fine, built of pucca (brick and mortar) and splendidly planned. The Centenary money given by our missionaries to make possible the taking over of this school amounted to about 3,500 rupees, and is being used to build a missionary home. Mrs. Chew, the former principal of the school, has been appointed governess of the young thirteen-year-old queen and lives in the palace with her. Thus Methodism has a wonderful chance to make this Bastar state entirely Christian and we must not fail. There are many needs listed for the school. The General Board hope that we can take over the entire support of the school in a few years, and this should be planned for. The money for the much-needed latrine, granted at General Executive Meeting, will be greatly appreciated.

KHANDWA—Miss Sweet's furlough coming due before Miss Ruggles had returned left Khandwa station in entirely new hands. Miss Colony had arrived only a few months before Miss Sweet left. Bishop Robinson transferred Miss Margaret Crouse from Bombay Conference to take charge of the school. Miss Sweet left the school in good condition with an excellent staff of teachers. They have strong Epworth and Junior Leagues in the church and a strong Sunday school of which Miss Sweet was superintendent. Six of the older girls were taken into full membership of the church last year. They have an excellent vegetable garden, since they have good water supply, and the varied diet has made better health and thus better school work and better character development. They have ninety-six girls in the hostel and pay for the support of eleven in other schools, two of these being in high school, one in normal school and one in medical college. The new teachers' quarters and cook rooms built with the money sent by Des Moines Branch last year are a great comfort.

RAIPUR—Stevens Girls' School—The government inspectress of schools gave an especially favorable report of the educational work and general morale of this school last year. Mrs. Holland writes, "The junior teachers find their new house a joy, and the new dormitory relieves the formerly crowded condition of our boarding department, giving light, airy quarters to forty or more girls. We are supporting on special scholarships seven girls in Jubbulpore high school, three in the Christian normal school, one in Bible training school and one in industrial school. Many of the girls, only two or three years out of village heathenism, show wonderful development of character. They are responsive, reliable and helpful. Our victrola (baja), given us by St. Louis friends, has been a source of great enjoyment to all. One of the favorite pieces of even the small children is the Hallelujah Chorus of the 'Messiah.' " Mrs. Holland closes her letter by saying, "One of the best things the year brought us is our new missionary, Miss Ovenshire."

SIRONCHA—Mary J. Clark School—The school has had a good year. Freed from the danger of wild animals by the new wall, and given more dormitory space by the new extension, the girls have greatly improved in health. Because the heathen people have many festivals and ceremonies, our missionaries are learning to make much of Christmas holidays and of Easter. Miss Fales tells of last Christmas, "The older girls went out before dawn to sing Christmas carols to our Hindu and Mohammedan neighbors. After Sunday school the girls again went into the village, and under a friendly tree organized a Sunday school among the Hindu children. On another Sunday morning a number of Mohammedan children came running to meet us, and upon our arrival we found a group of Mohammedans and upon either side of them a group of different caste Hindu children, and the three distinct groups have kept their places. In these groups an average of sixty children throughout the year have heard the gospel story, after which they scamper home with their much prized gift of postcard or flower."

Evangelistic Work

Miss Colony's and Miss Hall's arrival made five missionaries giving most of their time to evangelistic work, an entirely inadequate force when we consider the work already opened in the conference and the opportunities for opening more and more. Much of the evangelistic work for women has been carried on by wives of General Board missionaries. On Balaghat District Mrs. Williams, in addition to superintending the school hostel and city evangelistic work, has, with her assistant, Miss Thomas, superintended work in fifteen centres. In this district about seventeen hundred heathen children attend Christian Sunday schools and there are about three hundred in day schools. On Jubbulpore District Mrs. Guse and Mrs. Scholberg have found great opportunities in the readiness of the people to hear the gospel. Mrs. Guse was much hindered by lack of a conveyance of her own until she was able to procure one. She needs more Bible women and more money for itinerating. In addition to the district work, Mrs. Guse superintends the training of women in the Thoburn Institute in Jubbulpore.

In Jubbulpore Miss Becker has had the help of Miss Hall while the latter was studying the language. In addition to the city work, with its important day schools, its home missionary and temperance societies, its zenana work, Miss Becker has had charge of the work of ten Bible women on Gadarwara District. This district, which is called "little" in the conference report, has nine stations, with twenty-five to thirty villages surrounding each, and has a population of over twenty-six thousand. Child welfare exhibitions, baby shows, Bible study classes, zenana parties and temperance plays, explaining the harm of opium and liquor, given by zenana women, are some of the many activities that fill up Miss Becker's time.

Of the work on Khandwa District, Miss Lauck, who had charge of it last year, says, "The zenana work in Khandwa has never been so promising, invitations to new homes so numerous and the women so eager to learn. A new day school has been opened where every child pays fees. In Burhanpur the best homes of the city are open to us, and everywhere the people are eager for and attentive to the Message." Miss Colony has spent most of her time in study but has been able to do some touring with her Bible women. Mrs. Auner has had charge of the work in Burhanpur this last year. Here again we read of a baby show and of Christian babies taking both first and second prizes.

On Raipur District Miss Huff has twenty-one Bible women. She has long distances to travel, her stations being forty, fifty and some seventy miles from Raipur; so she goes to these distant ones and stays several days or even weeks at a time. Miss Huff has had an eventful two years at Raipur. A motor accident, a serious illness, a fire in the house while she was left in charge of the school, a child bitten by a mad dog, with a consequent trip to Bombay with the child for Pasteur treatment, are some of the things that have kept life from being dull.

The Jagdalpur work has been in charge of Miss Daniels, the faithful, efficient assistant who was loaned to Jagdalpur by Jubbulpore District and who is so greatly missed there. Miss Daniels has also assisted Miss Lauck in the school. The twenty-eight Bible women of this district are still on support of General Board.

Miss Naylor on Sironcha District has been able to give all her time to the evangelistic work since Miss Simpson and Dr. Dodd have come to the station for the medical work. She has specialized on training classes for her twenty-nine Bible women. In connection with these classes three new village schools have been opened. She greatly needs a lantern and slides for her work among these jungle people. Miss Naylor has had the assistance of Mrs. Perkins on her large district this year. Among the New Year's honors granted by the King of England to persons in India was a Kaiser-i-Hind medal bestowed upon Miss Naylor in recognition of her general welfare work in the community, an unusual honor for an American missionary.

SIRONCHA—Dr. Dodd and Miss Simpson have made much progress in putting the hospital upon a working basis. Friends at home have been generous with gifts of money and hospital supplies. The latest gift is an operating table sent by Dr. Bond, a physician at Denison, Iowa, who is retiring from practice. The auxiliary at Centerville, Iowa, were raising money for an operating table for Sironcha when the gift came. The money, two hundred dollars, was sent to Dr. Dodd to be used for other equipment, enough being retained to pay the expense of sending the table. But their needs are still many and large, including money for four more nurses, twenty-eight more hospital beds (there were only three real beds in the hospital when Dr. Dodd reached there two years ago) at least three hundred dollars for general equipment, a maternity ward and support for ten babies. Dr. Dodd and Miss Simpson deserve all praise for their heroic work in making a real hospital out of what was but a building full of patients.

GUJARAT CONFERENCE

The Gujarat Conference was organized about a year ago from parts of the Bombay and Central Provinces Conferences, as a move toward the plan making the conference boundaries in India conform as far as possible to those of the language areas. The conference is now composed of four districts in each of which the work of our Society centers in the larger cities of Nadiad, Baroda, Godhra, Ranpur and Jagdalpur. The work of Methodism in this part of India is the outgrowth of a great mass movement which began some years ago and continues to the present time.

Evangelistic Work

The women's department of the Florence B. Nicholson School of Theology in Baroda trains pastors' wives and others for the work of Bible women. A nursery is maintained for the cradle babies and the older children attend the Webb Memorial Girls' School kindergarten, while both their parents are preparing for more efficient service for the Kingdom. The women, in addition to other study, are taught sewing and knitting, and are given demonstration lectures at the Butler Memorial Hospital.

The Ruth Robinson Memorial Home for Widows in Nadiad gives protection to the widows of Christian workers, and the native church provides their pensions as they work as Bible women in the city.

Hundreds of village day schools are in various stages of progress throughout the conference, and many girls and boys are being taught in them regarding Christianity, a contact that will bear fruit in their lives. Many of these schools receive government grants in recognition of their value to the community from a purely secular standpoint. Bible women, under the supervision of the missionary, work out from these schools in the homes of the people, and many are being brought to a true allegiance to Christ. Women of India are very much behind the men in the matter of giving up their heathen customs, but when the women do become so yielded to Christ that they will walk according to his teaching in all things, then will a new day dawn in India.

Educational Work

A primary boarding school and the Webb Memorial High School in Baroda, and a boarding school and the Normal Training School in Godhra are the extent of our efforts to train Christian leaders for the women of Gujarat Conference. Jagdalpur, recently added to this conference from the Central Provinces area, is the seat of the Edna B. Alderman School for Girls where new gifts of land from the government are making plans for new buildings possible. In Nadiad a primary boarding school must be opened soon if the work there is to expand in any degree. Vast areas are still left entirely untouched by Christian influence in this conference of Gujarat.

Medical Work

The only hospital maintained by our Society in the whole Gujarat area is the Mrs. William Butler Memorial in Baroda. This hospital, most inadequately staffed and equipped for efficient service, continues, nevertheless, to minister faithfully to the needs of the Christian women, and to be a source of strength to the missionaries and many Europeans who have regained health within its walls. The nurse training department attracts young women of high standing, and many are being prepared to answer the call to service in this field which offers such abundant opportunity for vital help to those who are sick and afflicted. The hospital is in dire need of an ambulance, which would greatly enlarge its scope.

Gujarat Conference is the most inadequately staffed of any of our fields. Eight vacancies are reported, and the missionaries are all bearing more than double burdens. "Pray ye, therefore, the Lord of the harvest."

INDUS RIVER CONFERENCE

Last year we had the first report of this new conference which includes the Punjab, Rajputana, Sind and Baluchistan. The Sind-Baluchistan District covers an area of one hundred thirty-five thousand square miles with a population of eight hundred thousand people. In the midst of these interesting folks Rev. and Mrs. Grey of the Board of Foreign Missions and one missionary of the Church of England are the only workers. Seven Bible readers are caring for the work among the women and the girls. One of these, Sara Bai, has a school for girls at Chaman, our outpost on the very borders of Afghanistan.

QUETTA—At this important center there is a small Bible training school for the wives of men who are preparing for work, and a few faithful workers in the church are teaching and shepherding the Christian women and also trying to reach the non-Christians.

KARACHI—This is a seaport city, a big field in itself, where as yet we have scarcely made a beginning, though there is a little work among both the Gujarati and Hindustani peoples and Christian congregations that meet regularly. From this far-away station we may go by rail across the Sind desert twenty-eight hours' journey to Lahore. The desert sand is so fine and penetrating that you seem to have turned gray in the night. Eyebrows, eyelashes, even your clothes are covered with a fine gray sand, a memento of this desert experience.

LAHORE—No member of the Society in the home land need be told that in this city is located the Lucie F. Harrison Girls' School. Miss Smith and Miss Palmer, assisted by a splendid staff of teachers, find much to do in the daily care of the physical, mental and spiritual well being of these energetic Punjabi girls. Miss Christensen lives in Lahore and has charge of the evangelistic work of both Lahore and Batala Districts. She has had a good year and supervised the work of sixty-eight Bible readers.

HISSAR—The Hissar District, with a population of four million, covers a territory of thirty thousand square miles and has a Christian community of twenty-three thousand people. Miss Charlotte Holman is our missionary and pleads most earnestly for a girls' school, thus giving opportunity for an education to these children of Christian parents. Sixty Bible readers living in different centers are sowing the gospel seed and preparing for the harvest that is sure to result from their faithful effort. Some of the Bible readers have day schools, others go to the homes of the people and sing and teach the women, while still others assist the evangelist in special gatherings held here and there and everywhere.

AJMER—Rajputana territory has long been familiar to our constituency for it was in that region that the Society was able to do a big work during the long-ago famine days. Children who were then nursed back to health and trained for service we now find as preachers, Bible readers, nurses and teachers and loyal members of our Church. Miss Caroline Nelson and her sister, Miss Lavinia, are in charge of the school of a hundred girls with an efficient corps of teachers. Miss Ellen Lawson is the district evangelist and has a force of sixty-seven Bible readers scattered in various parts of this large territory. She itinerates through the villages, sometimes on a trotting camel and sometimes in a slow ox cart. During the summer school special meetings were held for the women. Lectures were given on the care of children, the diet suitable for sick people, the evils of idolatrous customs and other subjects helpful to the women in their efforts to carry forward the work entrusted to their care. A baby show was also held with its object lesson before them and prizes given as an incentive to better results.

BIKANIR—An old city in the desert is a center for the work of this new district. Fifteen Bible readers are carrying on and have access to the hearts and homes of the splendid people of this region.

TILAUNIA—About forty miles from Ajmer by rail is located our Mary Wilson Sanatorium, which has been such a boon to the entire mission in the care it has given to those who are suffering from the white man's plague. There are about thirty-five acres of land, some of which is under cultivation to supply vegetables for the patients or food for the bullocks and cows, as the former must be kept for plowing and drawing of water and the latter to supply milk for the patients. The new administration building was completed last January. A new dormitory for convalescents has been erected and improvements made in the sanitary system. Some twenty-five patients, looking strong and well, were returned to their homes during the year. Dr. Kipp is leaving for her well-earned furlough and the institution is in charge of Dr. Riste and Miss Bunger while Miss Murray has supervision of the educational work, an important adjunct to the institution.

ELLA M. WATSON, Official Correspondent.

LUCKNOW CONFERENCE

Only a year ago this was called a new conference but the work is familiar to people acquainted with the long established missionary endeavor of this region. Lucknow is the home of the Isabella Thoburn College, for so many years the residence of our first missionary to India, Isabella Thoburn, whose name and memory are still fragrant in the garden of Lal Bagh. The college has moved into new buildings in another part of the city but the Lal Bagh School is still located in the midst of the old and familiar scenes. Miss Grace Davis has come on furlough leaving Miss Laurence in charge of the school with Miss Hutchens, Miss Parks and Miss Bothwell as helpers. Miss Gantzer, a local missionary, has supervision of the district evangelistic work and is also head of the Deaconess Home.

GONDA—Chambers Memorial School is under the care of Miss Hoge, whose long experience in dealing with Indian questions is valuable in the school as well as in the work of the station and district. The school of a hundred thirty-three girls is in need of more room and a good kindergarten building would add much to the comfort of the entire school. The girls have passed splendidly in the government examinations; no failures for three years and four scholarships awarded because of high grades.

CAWNPORE—The Manchester of India with its big mills and army of laboring classes gives opportunity for varied types of missionary work. To students of history Cawnpore is the scene of some of the horrible events of the mutiny of years gone by. At one side of the city, not far from the gardens in which we find the Memorial Well, is located the girls' high school with more than a hundred pupils who come from the Anglo-Indian community. Miss Whiting has spent many years in this school and is fully alive to all its needs. She is ably seconded by Miss Dalrymple. Miss Bragg, lately returned from furlough, makes her home in the high school, though her work is in the city and villages, giving especial attention to elementary education for women and girls. Across the city in the mills district you will find a garden spot in the midst of which are the buildings of the Hudson Memorial Girls' School. Miss Ludgate and Miss Cox are kept busy providing and caring for a big family of a hundred thirty girls. During the years of its history this school has sent out well-trained workers into the cities and villages round about.

MUZZAFFARPUR—Miss Smith is the principal of the Indiana Girls' School and has as her associate Miss Hardsaw who, because of being a newcomer, has had to spend a part of the year in language study. Improvements are being made on the buildings and the outlook for the future is good.

BALLIA—Miss Abbott is doing evangelistic work and finds much to encourage in holding meetings, visiting the women in their homes and trying by word of mouth as well as by printed page to spread a knowledge of the things of the Kingdom.

ARRAH—Miss Moses, in charge of the girls' school, has had a busy year and more recently a trying experience because of the floods. To make good their escape the missionaries, staff and girls had to take refuge on the flat roof of the bungalow to avoid the rising waters and were later rescued by a kindly British official who cared for them until they could be moved to places of safety. The school is without a plant, but land has been purchased and as soon as more funds are provided buildings will be erected by the Cincinnati Branch, giving to the school the name Sawtelle Memorial in memory of one of the good workers of that Branch recently gone to her reward. Miss Hyneman, with headquarters in Arrah, is in charge of district work and is in labors abundant.

The only medical work in the conference is the dispensary at Rasra in charge of Mrs. Baksh but government dispensaries provide medical attention in many places. In this conference, as in other places, our greatest embarrassment is our success. Again and again we miss opportunities for far-reaching service because we have so few workers to enter the wide-open doors and so little money with which to erect buildings and support the work.

NORTH INDIA CONFERENCE

North India is the mother of the three daughters, Northwest India, Lucknow and Indus River Conferences. In the early history of our mission in India the workers were few and widely scattered, but as the Lord sent forth more laborers into the fields it seemed best to set apart the three groups upon their own vine and fig trees. With the present facilities for rapid transit one might almost expect to view this great field from some huge machine circling above the territory described. If that could be done the distance would certainly seem great, stretching as it does from Buxar and Arrah in the extreme southeast to Baluchistan in the northwest and then away up to the heights of the Himalaya mountain stations, Pithoragarh on the east and Pauri on the west.

We may as well descend to Pithoragarh in the midst of the beautiful Shor valley, with its fields so suitable for agricultural efforts carried on by Miss Loper with her forty-four women and girls. In addition to the work of the fields and the home, Miss Loper also supervises the work of Bible readers in the villages and remote places round about. The boarding school of a hundred thirty girls is in charge of Miss Perrill, who finds these hill girls full of life and vigor and equal to hard work as well as study.

CHANDAG HEIGHTS—Just on the mountain side overlooking Pithoragarh is the little cottage in which dwells that rare soul, Mary Reed. The wonderful influence of her Christian life not only reaches the poor lepers in her care but also a wide circle of men and boys who have been enrolled in classes she has taught in her vine-clad haven of rest.

CHAMPAWAT—Miss Hayes, so long associated with the now sainted Annie Budden, has returned to this territory for evangelistic work and with her medical knowledge has a wide field of service.

NAINI TAL—This station recalls the splendid work of Miss Easton, now loyally continued by Miss Sellers and ably seconded by Miss Waugh. Wellesley yields to none in the splendid missionary work she is doing in training the future missionaries and teachers for the schools of this land. The vernacular work is in the hands of Miss McMullen and here she began her missionary endeavor twenty-nine years ago, so she finds it most interesting to be returned to the familiar field.

DWARAHAT—A hill journey of three days brings us to Dwarahat where we find Miss Oram looking after the needs of the girls under her care. These mountain children are full of life and many of them bright and quick to learn.

PAURI—A long hard trip across the mountains to Pauri, but scenery is beautiful and the journey soon ends. In Pauri we have Miss West and Miss Jacobson in charge of the girls' boarding school, busy all the day with many duties that must be attended to with a hundred twenty girls of varying age and size. The work of the district is in charge of Mrs. Gill who knows well the village folks scattered through these hill sides. She is in labors abundant as she shares the trials and joys of the women of her field.

BIJNOR—The first station on the plains where we have a missionary is Bijnor, and leaving the train we drive twenty miles to the Lois Parker Girls' School in charge of Miss Hadden. More than eighty girls are receiving careful training and give promise of useful lives. Miss Ramsbottom, one of the local missionaries, is giving care to the hostel for little boys and finds her hands more than full with the duties pertaining thereto. Miss Mary Means has city and district evangelistic work. Much plowing and seed sowing has been done in this, one of the oldest fields, but still there are multitudes to be taught and much reaping to be done.

MORADABAD—One of our oldest stations and familiar to all who have kept in touch with the work of the Society. The boarding school is in charge of Miss Beach and Miss Shur while Miss Peters cares for the normal department. There are a hundred ninety girls in the boarding school with twenty-one in the normal department. The new home, completed a year ago, is a comfort and gives room for teachers in the old quarters. The evangelistic work is cared for by Miss Hardie as she goes out into the homes of the people and into the villages.

BAREILLY—The very mention of the name recalls the early days when Dr. Clara Swain began the pioneer work that has been carried on with such success through many years. Dr. Esther Gimson Bare continues this work and ministers to the sick and suffering. The girls' school, with two hundred pupils, is well taken care of by Miss Alice Means and Miss Ruth Warrrington. In Bareilly, too, we find the baby fold, a late development of the ever-widening work of the Methodist church in India. Miss Kennard, like the famous woman who lived in a shoe, has almost more children to care for than she has room but her love takes them all and she mothers right loyally. Miss Dunn has charge of Bible readers' work in the city and outlying villages. Miss Peters is district evangelist in an area of fifteen hundred square miles and a population of more than a million. There are two thousand one hundred fifteen villages, and Christians are found in six hundred of these. Miss Peters also has the care of Pilibhit District with a population of four hundred fifty thousand and four hundred forty-six villages in which Christians are living.

BUDAON—Miss Anna Blackstock is in charge of the girls' boarding school with an enrollment of a hundred forty. Every member of last year's graduating class is taking further training in other institutions. Unusually good health is the record and no doubt this has much to do with the success of the scholastic efforts, as well as the progress made in spiritual life and growth.

SHAHJAHANPUR—Miss Honnell is in charge of the Bidwell Girls' School with a hundred thirty pupils and the work badly crippled because of the need for a new plant. These new buildings are coming some day, not in the distant future we hope. Miss Ashbrook is busy and happy in her chosen work in the boys' primary school.

HARDOI—This station is familiar and of particular interest because it is the home of Mother Parker, who lately celebrated her eighty-ninth birthday but has no thought of retirement. Miss Wright gives careful supervision to the girls' boarding school with its enrollment of eighty.

SITAPUR—In a territory of fifty-seven hundred square miles, with a population of two million, the Sitapur girls' school is the only agency at work for the education of the girls. Miss Dennis is in charge and has for a helper Miss Bates, a first-year missionary. Because of this fact, Miss Bates has spent a number of months in language school but will soon return to carry her share of the work for the one hundred thirty girls.

NORTHWEST INDIA CONFERENCE

AGRA—In this famous city, made so by that wonderful dream in marble, the Taj Mahal, Miss Sarah Holman has her home and center of work. She has a day school of fifty pupils and supervises the work of Bible readers in the city and nearby villages.

MUTTRA—In this ancient city of Hinduism is the well-known Black-stone Institute with its English and Hindustani departments. The Bible Institute is unique in that its students come from all parts of India and from different mission circles. A new dormitory so long needed for widows and new converts has been completed, and a small segregation hospital for the use of the institute as well as the girls' boarding school is under construction. Miss McKnight is in charge of the institute, with Miss Clark as a helper. The students make practical application of the teaching given by going out in company with experienced Bible readers to hold meetings and visit the people. Miss Boddy has had a busy year with a hundred fifty-two girls in the boarding school and has bravely carried on.

BRINDABAN—In this sacred city of Hinduism is a mission home and a dispensary and hospital. Dr. Huffman is in charge with Dr. Tower, a first-year missionary, as helper. Miss Porter, in addition to her duties as superintendent of the hospital, has supervision of the evangelistic work for the district.

ALIGARH—The girls' school has an enrollment of a hundred sixty-eight. Miss Vickery, a trained nurse, is a helper to Miss Hoffman, the principal of the school. Miss McLeavy, a local missionary on health leave, is also a valuable member of the family. The vocational school for girls with Miss Ball and Miss Brown has had a busy year in the care of sixty children who are being trained to do various kinds of work. Miss Ogilvie, a local missionary, is in charge of the evangelistic work and sixty Bible readers living in various centers of the district.

MEERUT—The girls' boarding school has high school, normal, middle and primary departments, with a total of a hundred ninety pupils, Miss Warner and Miss Cline in charge. They have labored heroically and to their burdens was added a siege of diphtheria which lasted a number of weeks, but latest reports indicate that all are well.

GAZIABAD—Miss Forsyth is in charge of the Meerut evangelistic work with eighty-eight Bible readers. One Bible story each month is taught the women until they know it so well as to be able to tell it to friends and neighbors. Five thousand women have passed the tests given in the work of story telling. Some of the outstanding features of the work have been a great gathering of Christians in a sunrise prayer and praise service held in one center before the Christians went off to their daily work; in another place a meeting numbering nine hundred people, where the entire day was spent in prayer, song and praise, with instruction along various lines; special meetings of a week's duration when effort was put forth to have a real revival among the enthusiastic village Christians. Great crowds met in the tent every day and not only Christians but non-Christians, as well, heard the earnest messages and were benefited thereby.

Miss Donohugh, supervisor of village educational work, has fifty schools with eight hundred fifty little girls who are being taught in primary classes. In Ghaziabad a large day school gives promise of fine results for the future.

BULANDSHAR—Miss Livermore, like other evangelists, is almost never at home as she itinerates from village to village in her parish. She has held many gatherings of the people, some of them under wide-spreading trees, God's first temples. At these meetings Bible stories are told in simple village language understood by all. Singing, accompanied by musical instruments, adds to the joyful noise. Talks are given on the evils of child marriage, strong drink and idolatrous practices, and to crown all comes the collection. Fitting name, for that is just what it is. Money, of course, eggs, chickens, goats, sometimes a young buffalo or calf and piles of fruit and grain make up this part of the service. Not only in these larger gatherings but in smaller ones emphasis is placed on the knowledge of the Bible stories and tests are given of their ability to tell them. Thousands of women have passed these tests and because of this systematic teaching have gained a better knowledge of the messages that Christianity has for the daily life of the one who has accepted the teaching of our Christian faith.

DELHI—In November Miss Greene returned from furlough and was appointed to open the girls' school. Owing to delay in the decision as to the land for the school, the buildings have not yet been begun and again the Delhi girls have been sent to other schools. Just as soon as the land question is settled work on the buildings will be started. In the meantime the evangelistic work of the district has kept Miss Greene busy among the Christians and non-Christians of the city and in the villages, where sixty-eight Bible readers are carrying on the work.

ROORKEE—The girls' school with its enrollment of eighty is in charge of Miss Randall. During the year additional property has been secured, and when funds are available a new school building will be erected with a remodeling of the dormitories and missionaries' residence. In addition to material improvement there has been spiritual and mental progress and girls are being fitted for lives of usefulness. Miss Hermiston is in charge of the district evangelistic work with remarkable opportunities for seed sowing in the hearts of the people. During heathen festivals preaching services have been held, gospels have been distributed and quiet talks with the people have turned their thoughts toward Christianity.

MUSSOORIE—This hill station must not be omitted in a report of our efforts for here is located the language school with Miss Lawson in charge. The school is in session from April to October. In addition to her duties in the language school Miss Lawson has the care of the work among the women and children of the local Indian church.

ELLA M. WATSON, Official Correspondent.

SOUTH INDIA CONFERENCE

South India Conference with nine districts and twenty-one mission stations is one of the most interesting parts of the Methodist world. This conference includes the two native states of Hyderabad and Mysore, and parts of the two Presidencies of Bombay and Madras. In this area dwell about ten million Kanarese people, twenty million Tamil and sixteen million Telugu besides large numbers of the Malayam, Marathi and Urdu speaking peoples. She has within her borders many races of mankind commingled, every great religion except Confucianism, and every economic organization, from the self-sufficient primitive village to the complicated modern city, with its factories and its finance. She has almost every political form, and exemplifies in some part of her area most of the social customs of the world. The work of the Methodist Episcopal Church began here with English congregations in 1875. The conference was organized in 1876.

Evangelistic Work

South India, the stronghold of Hinduism, is changing like the rest of India. Nowhere else in the world is the Church growing more rapidly than here. The new national spirit has filled the leaders of the Christian community with new life and enthusiasm. Our Bible women realize fully the importance of their work at this time, and so are anxious to take their places beside their men and share the authority of shaping the policies of the Church as they have always shared the responsibility of the work. They are determined that all shall work together to build a unified Church of Christ. Many women have been recommended as exhorters and they eagerly use their right to vote in district and quarterly conferences. Certainly the Christian Church cannot make much headway without the contribution which these educated and Spirit-filled women can make. The Bible women, as they go into the villages, day after day, week after week, reading and teaching, singing and praying, testify to their own lives as well as to the saving power of Jesus Christ. The work in the day schools is most encouraging. To hear these little Hindu or Mohammedan children recite their lessons, sing Christian hymns, tell Bible stories and pray is a tonic to the spirit of those to whom is given the privilege of planting the seeds of righteousness in these young lives. In India one finds himself between an immense past and an immense future, and to know the facts about that country as our missionaries know them is to stand in amazement before the power of Christ's gospel.

Educational Work

School work under our Board in South India Conference is carried on in eight boarding schools and one high school, and in six languages. To see India's girlhood advancing in physical and educational life is most gratifying to those who work with the girls of India. A very few years ago the Hindu father was asking if a girl was worth educating. He has ceased to ask that question. India is changing. Deep-rooted as were her old customs, some of her own people have dared to attack them. There are three language areas in South India, but only one high school for girls. This is located in Hyderabad, and is in the Telugu language.

BANGALORE—A most important branch of our work is located in this city of Bangalore—the Baldwin Boarding School, one for boys under the care of Aetna Emmel Olson, and one for girls under the direction of Muriel Robinson. An account of the many and varied activities of the Baldwin School for Girls would interest many, but time and space forbid giving such an account. There are the things which produce "tone" and "atmosphere"—those indefinite qualities which make for character and which make the world a better place to live in. A practical piece of work done by the girls, which was much appreciated by the Child Welfare Exhibition recently, was a set of charts dealing with the food, clothing and play life of the child from infancy to the age of six.

BELGAUM—The Marathi Girls' School in Belgaum has had an enrollment of one hundred thirty-seven during the past year. Land has been purchased and plans approved by the authorities, and government aid has been assured by the Director of Public Education for a high school at this place. When the girls graduate from our school here there is no place for them to go for further study and the need of this high school is imperative.

BIDAR—At our Bidar Girls' Boarding School special attention is given to the study of English, that government requirements may be met which will bring to the school recognition as an English school. The Educational Department does not recognize schools in the Kanarese language. A training school here for Bible women and village workers is a very busy center. An exhorters' course of study for these has been adopted and many are eager to fit themselves to enter on that course by a clearer understanding of Christian thought and living that will help them to present to the people a living, present Christ.

HYDERABAD—Stanley Girls' School has had during the past year an enrollment of two hundred sixty, of whom thirty-eight are high school students. Nine were graduated from the high school last year and of these two are teaching in Hyderabad, two in Vikarabad and one in Raichur. Two are in the Woman's Christian College in Madras as students, one is in the Medical School in Vellore and one is at home.

MADRAS—The orphanage and boarding school in this place has had one hundred ninety-two girls through the year. It has maintained its government recognition as a secondary school and the government grant-in-aid has recently been doubled.

RAICHUR-GULBARGA—There are two language areas in this section—Telugu and Kanarese—and our boarding school at Raichur has had eighty girls enrolled besides a number of others who have been sent to other schools for further study. This has been recognized as a middle school by Government. New buildings are under construction, and well ventilated dormitories and well equipped classrooms are a dream that is beginning to materialize.

KOLAR—The boarding school here has had an enrollment the past year of one hundred sixty girls. To see India's girlhood advancing in physical and educational life is a joy beyond expression to those of our workers whose work is the training of teachers and evangelists and leaders for India's womanhood.

VIKARABAD—The Mary A. Knotts School is rejoicing over a new well of clear sweet water, and making good progress in the preparation for service of many who will go forth to tell about the Water of Life. Thirty-three girls were recently received into the church, and the spiritual tone of the school is high.

Medical Work

Some people have the erroneous idea that in India the government furnishes adequate medical attention to those who need it and that the mission hospital and the missionary doctor and nurse are not necessary; but in the Ellen Thoburn Cowen Memorial Hospital in Kolar the wards have been full most of the time, often running over, and sometimes there was not even room to care for more on the floor. Two missionary doctors and two missionary nurses, with native assistants, have ministered here to the bodily ills of many thousands of India's sad daughters. Dr. Elizabeth has many queer and interesting, as well as sad, cases in the dispensary, where the work has grown heavier than ever before, reaching more than one hundred fifty patients a day, and aggregating thirty thousand in the year, with many outcalls in addition.

The Baby Fold, housed in its spacious airy new building, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Paul Garff of Blairsville, Pa., is so different from the previous crowded conditions in the midst of which Miss Griffin was living, with twenty little ones in space suitable for a half dozen and with no conveniences for her or their comfort. It is a joy to know that the babies are in beautiful surroundings with plenty of room to sleep and play.

UNDER APPOINTMENT—Irene Sterrett, Marian Whiteman.

Educational Work

RANGOON—English School—The question of ownership of the Lewis Street School site, which loomed so high in last year's discussions both at home and in Burma, has been settled for the present by the refusal of the government to permit the downtown site to be sold. Bishop Robinson was chairman of the committee that interviewed Government in regard to the sale, so there seems nothing more to be done about it at present. But the fact remains that the need of a new and better building for this large and growing school becomes more acute each day. Miss Doddridge, who went out to this school last year, writes, "We must have a new building soon. Our present buildings are 'a disgrace,' to quote frequent expressions in the missions. Pray with us that the way may open for this most necessary building." Miss Woodruff reports an increase in enrollment and in the interest of the girls in spiritual things. Last winter two weeks of special evangelistic meetings were held in the church; which were attended regularly by practically every girl in school. Every girl from the middle and high school and some from the third standard either made the first surrender of herself to Christ or reconsecrated herself to him.

Burmese School—Miss Power and Miss Moore have worked hard this year to keep the school up to the high grade of efficiency in which Miss Shannon's many years of service left it, and their success is indeed gratifying. They report an enrollment of two hundred eighty-two, an increase of one hundred during last year. This large increase brings the attendance back to the number enrolled before the boycott of 1921. Ninety-six of the girls are boarders. Many of the girls are earnest Christians and feel their full responsibility in teaching a living Christ to those who are not Christians.

As an offspring of this school, superintended this past year by Miss Moore and taught by two Christian young women who are the first fruits of the school, is Harris Memorial School, a vernacular day school in the rice mills district in another part of the city. The attendance and standing of the school have improved, it now having an average attendance of fifty-five. In the scholarship examination four girls entered and all won scholarships one second place among three hundred children.

In the Chinese school Miss King, and Miss Stouffer have had a strenuous year. The negotiations for property which continued up to the middle of July took any amount of energy and time. Miss King writes, "I have just finished the third day of running after government and municipal officers and I feel so wound up in all the red tape that I wonder how long it will take me to unwind." Property is costly in Rangoon and it was not possible to buy land and build with the $17,500 grant. But they have secured a fine site on which is a large new brick cement building which can be remodeled into a schoolhouse. They will finish only the lower story at present. Miss King is using all her diplomacy to secure from the city government the lease of some adjacent lots for a playground. They have a good government grant now and with a building of their own can plan for a permanent institution. The Sunday morning congregations in the Chinese church are so large that not all can be seated. Surely our work among these Burmo-Chinese is worth while. Miss King says, "When I think of the increase in interest since I came to Burma I am greatly impressed by the steady outpouring of the Spirit upon these people. There has been no great mass movement but there has been a steady 'win another' spirit among the Christians." The selection of this school for the children's Thank Offering this year greatly pleased Miss Stouffer and Miss King. Their typewriters have been busy and many interesting letters have come for publication.

THANDAUNG—Those young missionaries up on the hill, Miss Amburn and Miss Kintner, have surely made things lively for their official correspondent and for their corresponding secretaries this year. We are learning again the truth of the motto, "New blood, new life." The building seems to have reached the point where general repairing had to be done, and they have oiled, painted, mended windows, and repaired roof, and at last accounts they proposed to grade the steepest part of the road to the school, that their car might be run with greater safety and economy. With all of these improvements they have kept the balance between income and expenditure with little deficit for the year. But the old debt still hangs over them and a new car must be bought. The school is more than full and everyone who writes of it is enthusiastic over what we are doing for the future Church of Burma in this hill school. The pupils continue to do most of the work of the establishment and are developing into sturdy, self-reliant, Christian workers. Miss Amburn writes during the rainy season, "The rain is pouring every day. Every thing is damp and musty. But our roof is mended, we are all well, busy and happy, so let it pour!"

Evangelistic Work

A writer in the Indian Witness of March fourteenth, says: "The evangelistic outlook for the work in Burma is the most encouraging since our Church entered this field. The Burmans have always adhered stubbornly to their form of Buddhism. Converts have been won individually but seldom in groups. Recent political developments added the touch of nationalism to the natural strength of the people. It is most encouraging, therefore, to learn that in one village, near Pegu, there were received into our church fifty-four people at one time. Most of these were heads of families, two being the most influential men of the village. It is fully expected that their families will soon follow the men into the church. This item accords with other news from Burma—that there is opening to us a wonderful opportunity in this land peopled by many nations. Every phase of our work is feeling the impetus of this new interest in Christianity. All of our schools have gained in attendance during the past year. It is certainly a time to press forward vigorously."

THONGWA—When Miss Stockwell left Burma on furlough Miss Smith and Miss Ebersole took charge of the Bible Training School and the girls' day school. The new building is certainly satisfying and increases the efficiency of every one in it. They have an increased enrollment.

PEGU—Miss Mabuse's marriage leaves the work at Pegu without much hope of a missionary this year. Mrs. Luella Rigby Jones gives part time to superintendence of Bible women and to visiting in homes. We are losing a wonderful opportunity by not being able to appoint a missionary to Pegu.

The Burmese are the most literate of all non-Christian people. They are often called the Americans of the Orient. A strong Christian church planted here means much for the future of the East. On the last night of the revival meetings recently held in our English church in Rangoon, there was a scene that could not, perhaps, be duplicated anywhere in the world. About the altar, praying for the needed presence of Christ, were English, Anglo-Indians, Indians, Burmese and Chinese.

"For East is East and West is West,"
 "And so the twain shall meet,
 In East still East and West still West
 Around the Mercy-seat."

ON FURLOUGH—Thirza E. Bunce, Olive Vail, Minnie B. Cliff, Luella R. Anderson, Ida G. Wescott.

UNDER APPOINTMENT—Ruth M. Harvey.

Educational Work

SINGAPORE—Nind Home—Miss Pike has given another year to Nind Home; her contract closes in October and she leaves the Home with its large and immature family. No successor has yet been appointed.

Fairfield School—The registration this year has been almost four hundred. Fifteen thousand dollars (Straits) has been raised locally and Miss Olson is planning to start the new addition as soon as the government grant is in hand. This will provide ample room to care for the present student body and a few others.

Methodist Girls' School—The greatly needed new building will have to be again deferred, yet one can scarcely see how the school can be kept going, much less advanced, in any way in its old cramped quarters. In August Miss Rank was ordered by Government to have the school building and the surrounding wall plastered and whitewashed and it must be done, although it will cost seventeen hundred dollars. Every seat is full and every available space has a seat. There is a good staff of loyal, qualified, local teachers. The school is popular.

KUALA LUMPUR—This school had last year the largest Cambridge class in its history. An imperative need is a strong Christian woman to take these Cambridge classes. Only a very few girls have failed to express a desire to become Christians. They have several religious organizations in the student body, and the effect upon the girls is evident; some will even lead chapel. There are fifty in the boarding school and only twenty-two scholarships are granted.

IPOH—The plan for purchasing a plot of land, which seemed so sure last year, failed of accomplishment. Forced to vacate the building which belonged to the boys' school, Miss Kenyon, as if by a special providence, was able to rent a large Chinese house, which is admirably suited for the school for the present and which we hoped might be purchased at the close of our lease. A very recent letter says that the government will not approve it as a permanent school building unless we do some extensive repairs, so probably that property will have to be given up. The school grows in favor and its every development calls for a good boarding school at Ipoh. Given a proper building it would almost at once be self-supporting. For the first time, this school has two missionaries.

TAIPING—"The day school building is one year older and more dilapidated and far more apt to fall down," but the teachers have been faithful and the girls have done good work. Last year there were three Junior Cambridge girls and this year there are some Senior Cambridge candidates. The boarding department has thirty-seven girls, and since the new dining-room was finished no one of them must eat outside; the addition gives also a new kitchen and four bathrooms.

PENANG—The addition to the Anglo-Chinese Girls' School building has brought gracious relief from the crowded conditions that prevailed for three years. This new building gives three new classrooms, a large assembly hall, a fine drill hall, new servants' quarters and a tiffin shed. The school has grown—there are now three hundred forty students. Good work has been done in all the classes; eleven out of fourteen passed their Cambridge examinations. All the teachers are earnest Christians and loyal to every interest of the school. The boarding department is more comfortable since Winchell Home has been repaired. There are seventy-eight girls here and every room in the building, except the bathroom, has been used for sleeping purposes.

MALACCA—We at last have a new site for the school, beautiful for situation, out by the seaside. The original cost has grown and grown; just now five thousand dollars has been added, because the municipal government required that new concrete drains be put all along one side and across the property, chiefly for sanitary reasons. These grounds are already being used for athletic and recreational purposes, although they are a long way from the present school. The new buildings must come and come soon.

SITIawan—Still they wait for the opening of a girls' school there. Everything is there except the missionary.

Evangelistic Work

SINGAPORE—Eveland Training School graduated seven women in 1923, five from Malacca, two from Singapore. These are picked girls from our own schools and graduates from the English department. It is difficult to find suitable women for the vernacular department. Miss Nelson has been trying an experiment in religious education in the Teluh Ayer church and will this year extend it to other churches. This gives the girls practice work and reaches the women and children of the church. The former graduates are doing good work in their several appointments.

MALACCA—The new life that came to Malacca a year or two ago is developing rapidly. The missionaries do much visiting after the day's work is over. Ah Cheng, our Bible woman, has been efficient and successful both at Malacca and in the outstations of which they name thirteen, from eleven to forty miles distant. Meetings have been held for the Tamil women on the estates and for the Chinese women in the outstations. A prayer meeting for the Malay women has an attendance of twelve to twenty. The great evangelistic event at Malacca was a Bible Woman's Conference under direction of Miss Martin. There were thirteen Bible women there; all got a real spiritual uplift, a new vision of their work and a new determination to serve God.

PENANG—Miss Martin, though stationed at Penang, takes an interest in all the conference. Many girls in the training school are sent or guided there by her. In Penang she both directs the Bible women and supplements their work. There is a Woman's Temperance Society, a woman's weekly prayer meeting and occasionally a joint Chinese and Tamil mothers' meeting.

There are eleven Bible women holding appointments from the bishop.

NETHERLANDS INDIES MISSION CONFERENCE MISSIONARIES AND THEIR STATIONS

BUITENZORG—"Baitani" Bible Training School—Freda P. Chadwick, Eleanna C. Rohde.

ON FURLOUGH—E. Naomi Ruth.

UNDER APPOINTMENT—Vera Edborg.

Evangelistic Work

BUITENZORG—Training School—Monday, July 16, they held a ground-breaking service, to make the real beginning of the new building for this school. Stone was then being broken and wood sawed for the building which Miss Chadwick hopes to occupy "sometime in 1924." They have graduated three classes and are besieged by requests for these trained women from all over the conference. At present it is only possible for the girls in the school to go to one of the outstations twice a month, while one of the teachers accompanied by one of the older woman students goes to another station once a week.

The openings for evangelistic work are beyond telling—and this is a Mohammedan country. Our oldest station, Batavia, where there are three city churches, and several villages where schools or preaching stations have long been open, has had no missionary of our Society for years. Mrs. Worthington, wife of the missionary in West Borneo, has for years had a girls' school hoping each year that our Society would take it over. We have been unable and this year it must be closed.

Miss Ruth is still on furlough, trying to get back her physical strength.

Educational Work

Since the return of Miss Holmberg in 1919 we have had no educational missionary in Java. The little school, started by Miss Holmberg, has been left to the care of the district superintendent, who has employed Miss Ary Holland to take charge of it. Now we have two young women who are trained teachers appointed to this conference and are asking the bishop to appoint them to this school. Miss Edborg will sail immediately after the Executive Meeting and Miss Ochlenschlager will go next summer. We shall be glad to have again our own women there and shall watch its development with prayer and interest. Mr. Mansell and Miss Holland have given it capable attention or we should now have the hard task of beginning all over again. We acknowledge our obligation to them.

Educational Work

The dormitories are our part of the educational work in these islands, where the American government has supplied such a system of free public schools as has never been known on any foreign field. Modeled after the best in our American school system, there is a high school in each province and a normal school and a university in Manila. The government has made some effort to supply dormitories for the students who must live away from home to attend these higher grade schools, but these government provisions are wholly inadequate and, feeling no obligation to "provide boarding houses," the school officials, almost without exception, welcome our dormitories. We now have well established dormitories in each province where the Methodist Episcopal Church works, except two. These are all caring for girls to the limit of their capacity, and could have twice as many if we had the room for them. Two, Manila and San Fernando, are in new, well-equipped concrete houses, which have been built for their use and planned and equipped to meet their needs. The others are housed in poor and often unsanitary rented buildings, the best that we can rent. We must erect good concrete buildings for each of the others before it will be possible to do our full share along educational lines in this "wonderland of colonization."

MANILA—Hugh Wilson Hall has kept its full quota all the year through, and as has been the case for two or three years, more have been turned away than have been taken in. The chapel service in the morning has come to be a real Bible study. In each room there is a "personal workers' group" with a strong Protestant as a key girl. The work of these groups has brought about many conversions and baptisms, which is the real object of our dormitory work; we have no desire to keep simply a high-class boarding house. Financially this dormitory has had a good year, meeting its running expenses and laying up a tidy sum for maintenance of the buildings and some future improvements.

SAN FERNANDO—Here we have the only well-built and well-equipped provincial dormitory. Cincinnati Branch built it as a memorial to their splendid Edna Thomas, who opened the dormitory work here and whose life, ended all too soon, left its distinct impress upon the district. Annette Finlay of the same Branch reports a good year, and a very full dormitory. Mary Klinefelter who, according to regular conference list of appointments, has three districts assigned to her care, lives in this dormitory. After several years in public school work in the Islands, Miss Klinefelter joined our mission and is a real blessing to its work.

VIGAN—The grant of five thousand dollars made last year to secure any possible chance for a dormitory site in this stronghold of Catholicism has not yet been used, chiefly because the place for the new high school at Vigan is still undecided. They remain in the old rented building. Miss Dudley writes, "We have as many girls as we can care for this year. Saturnia (her faithful Filipina helper) packed in more beds than I ever thought we could get into this house and all are full. I am having a 'double-decker' bed made to see if we can use them." Miss Scheidt was called home for family reasons early in the year. Fortunately Miss Dudley was able to have the invaluable service of a girl who had been in the dormitory for four years as a student. There are twenty-four girls in a Spanish house built for one family.

TUGUEGARAO—Miss Erbst did not, as we expected, come on furlough last year, but she and Miss Atkins have had a busy year caring for the forty-two girls reported as in their dormitory. This gave them an opportunity to do considerable cultivation of the district, which reacts on the dormitory by bringing in the best girls. The old native house grows less sanitary and more uncomfortable and inadequate each year.

Evangelistic Work

Our two Bible Training Schools have kept their high standards and their full enrollment and graduated each a splendid class of girls. One missionary, commenting on the scarcity of candidates here in America, says, "What a contrast the situation here makes! Never was there such a pouring in of life to the service. The training schools are flooded with requests for training from most desirably qualified young women and we are not equipped to receive them."

MANILA—Harris Memorial Training School—Interest has centered this year on the new buildings which are just about finished. One of the Board of Foreign Missions men writes, "We all agree that these buildings are a fitting home for what we all consider the most worthy enterprise being carried on in our field." There have been sixty girls in the old, uncomfortable building and Miss Decker does not plan to take many more in the new building, but she is planning to make the course four years instead of three as now, and to require for entrance at least one year of high school.

LINGAYEN—Training School—The registrations had to close this year at forty, but there were twice that many begging to come in. "The girls have grown one hundred per cent in ability over the girls of a few years ago and the teachers, too, are of large caliber—this speaks volumes for the Manila Training School and the Mary Johnston Hospital out of which we get most of our teaching force."

More than twenty institutes were held this year with an enrollment of five hundred forty-eight and the study of Christian Stewardship and of Missions has been added to the course of study for these institutes. We have sixty-five Bible women at work in the conference, some in each district. One thousand two hundred twenty women and girls were baptized last year. Not the least of the duties of the Bible women is the care of the children, and much of the instruction is given in the Junior Leagues. Last year ten new ones were organized.

MEDICAL WORK

The Mary J. Johnston Hospital—The statistical report for the half year only says three hundred ninety-six babies born, babies fed from the milk station one hundred thirty-eight, total patients nine thousand four hundred eighteen. Nowhere can figures tell the whole story and least of all in a hospital report. The dispensary is a place of blessing; physical ills of course are treated, but it is every day a "preaching place" where waiting crowds hear the gospel and receive portions of Scripture "each in his own tongue." Sunday evening vespers used to be held in the yard back of the hospital; now they have moved out to the plaza in front and many times there are three hundred to hear the gospel. The government relief ship which reached Japan from Manila in four days after the terrible earthquake carried, among its nurses, eight graduates of Mary Johnston Hospital. There are this year fifty girls in training. The greatest loss this year has been the splendid Filipina assistant physician, Dr. Esteban. Because of family responsibilities she had to have larger remuneration than the hospital can pay, so is now with the Red Cross in Manila.

EDUCATIONAL WORK Central China Conference

CHINKIANG—Olivet Memorial Girls' High School—The new residence was occupied September 1, 1922. The administration building, completed in October, has been used for both classrooms and housing while the new dormitory has been under construction. It is hoped that the dormitory will be finished by February. In the senior high school two parallel courses are now offered, one a general or college preparatory course, the other normal training. In connection with the normal department a model practice school will be opened. Twenty girls were baptized in December. The conversion of two men teachers makes the entire teaching staff Christian.

The Conference Board of Education is aiming to put all the lower primary work for both boys and girls under the supervision of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society as soon as possible. In many places the plan is already working well.

NANKING—Girls' School—At conference in December Miss Golisch was made principal, and Miss Youtsey was released to return to Wuhu. Over two hundred students applied for admission, and about twenty had to be refused, even after a makeshift dormitory had been opened on the third floor of the administration building. On Easter Sunday fifty-seven girls joined the church in full connection.

Miss Carncross, during her furlough, accepted an invitation to the English department of Ginling College, and in August returned to China for that work.

WUHU—Miss Ogborn, after furlough, reached Wuhu October 5, 1922, and took charge of the boarding school. She joyfully records that every girl in the school is a Christian. Only thirty can well be accommodated in the present quarters, but thirty-two were crowded in.

The "six-six-four" system (six years elementary school, six years middle school, four years college) is leading to an extension of the course in day schools that formerly gave only four years of primary work.

Foochow Conference

FOOCHOW—Hwa Nan (South China) Woman's College and High School—A class of thirty-three finished high school and six graduated from the college. Of the high school class nine go on into the college, the others return to their own home cities and villages to take up the work of teaching others. The temporary dormitory has been completed and at the beginning of this school year a class of eighty-two was enrolled. Now that the college has obtained its charter many are giving up going to a foreign country to obtain their degree.

The girls' boarding school, Tai Maiu, has been making progress in things physical as well as mental, all of which means so much to a Chinese girl. "No lessons are quite so delightful as basket ball and we doubt if any school can surpass our girls in eagerness with which they rush from their singing lessons to the drill court," writes Miss Plumb.

Last year a class of twenty-nine girls graduated, most of whom are now in high school, and the senior class again numbers twenty-nine. Miss Bonfield's birthday was a happy occasion; the gifts brought by the alumnae and friends will make a model home possible.

The Mary E. Crook Kindergarten had an enrollment of one hundred fifteen children. "It is beautiful to sit in the circle and face all the bright little faces." Miss Nevitt reports that four of the girls at the children's home are teaching and one is studying medicine. Woman's work at the Institutional Church, under the direction of Mary Sing Gieu Carleton, has had a busy year with its educational exhibit, girls' club, vacation Bible school and weekly baby bathing parties. During the time when Foochow was most upset by political conditions the church was a Red Cross center.

HAITANG—King's Herald Girls' Boarding School had a graduating class of eleven. Christmas was a happy day; packages from the homeland brought cheer into many homes. Sunday schools are conducted in adjoining villages by the students.

KUTIEN—Our girls' intermediate school is made up of pupils from the city and from thirty-six surrounding villages. Measles, smallpox, a plague scare and diphtheria have attacked the school but all have recovered. More than twenty girls teach in Sunday school or in the meetings conducted for children from heathen homes. The new electric lights are a joy.

FUTSING—The Margaret Stewart Girls' School has opened an industrial department. In addition to learning ordinary sewing for clothing and shoes the girls are taught to knit, crochet and hemstitch.

MINTSING—The girls in the boarding school are taking deep interest in their Time Investment Club. Miss Mace writes of visiting several of these classes, largely made up of children. Each student teacher proudly sat with her class during examination. Our primary Sunday school of one hundred fifty children is taught by seventh and eighth grade girls.

Hinghwa Conference

Hamilton Girls' School has an enrollment of one hundred fifty. In connection with this work there is a Sunday school of two hundred twenty-five children and a children's club of from ninety-five to one hundred who come from non-Christian homes. A junior church has also been organized with our teachers as leaders.

The new high school class numbers twelve. With the growth of the work the new "six, six" plan has been adopted.

Hinghwa City primary and district day schools have maintained their high standard of work. The new Rector Model Day School at Yellowstone has been opened.

Hankong City primary and kindergarten is crowded to its doors. Angtau has a population of one hundred thousand, and we are responsible for the education of these girls. They are grateful for the beautiful Christmas packages which have been sent.

The Juliet Turner Woman's School, Hinghwa, ministers to fifteen villages where our students go every Sunday.

Isabel Hart Girls' Boarding School, Sienyu, with its family of two hundred forty-six, graduated eight girls who have gone on to high school.

Kiangsi Conference

KIUKIANG—Rulison High School—With an enrollment of two hundred four the dormitories were crowded to the limit. The number of pupils paying full board and tuition is largely increased. About ninety-six per cent of the high school girls are Christians, and about eighty-eight per cent of the higher primary girls. When Miss Merrill, on account of family conditions, came home in January, Miss Bahrenburg was made acting principal, and Miss Grace Wu vice-principal. The Mary Dolliver Graham Memorial Dormitory, a four-story building of gray brick and reinforced concrete, is to be ready for use this year.

On November 29, 1922, a large company assembled in Knowles Training School to honor Miss Gertrude Howe at a service commemorating the completion of her fiftieth year of work in China.

On North Kiangsi district this was indeed children's year. Miss Fredericks writes: "Large numbers of the very tiny tots came to school last fall. Many of these were too small for the regular first grade work, and as we have no kindergartens on the district we had to start kindergarten methods in the first grade; and as we have no trained teachers for that and no material to work with, it was a case of 'doing what you can't.' But the teachers have all adapted themselves, as well as the schools, to the needs as far as possible, and it has been a good year. Each summer some of the teachers go to the University of Nanking summer school for special training, and others have taken special work in normal and Bible and returned to the work of the district. Others are away now for special training for places of leadership."

NANCHANG—Baldwin School—The enrollment has been steadily growing and this year reached one hundred ninety-two. What was thought at first to be a leaky roof over the chapel proved to be a more serious trouble. The supporting pillars began to crack, and thorough reconstruction became necessary. An emergency grant was authorized, and in order that some advantage might be gained, plans were made to include below the chapel the much-needed gymnasium.

The day school building at Fuchow was burned in the spring. As this was the only property owned by the Society in Kienchang district and was much used as a center, the loss is considerable.

North China Conference

Space forbids reporting the part that many of our women are contributing to the educational work of the conference. The foundation work—that done in the day schools—is constantly improving in its character, as this story just fresh from the field will indicate. "Our school way up over the border in Manchuria is the best organized and doing the best work of any school I have ever seen that was entirely apart from foreigners. The two young girls who are up there on their first job of teaching are so anxious to follow every suggestion made at their teachers' institute last summer, and have such a nice spirit in their little school room, that we do not hesitate to think of this as one of our model schools." The normal work being introduced into our boarding schools, and the annual day school teachers' institutes being conducted for several of our districts, are both large factors in the improved day school work.

Gamewell School, Peking, celebrated its Jubilee on October twenty-sixth, the birthday of Mrs. Mary Porter Gamewell, the founder. It was a great occasion. The celebration and the campaign to follow through the years until their goals are met were planned and executed entirely by Chinese. Miss Pong, dean of the school and president of the alumnae association, was a splendid leader. Mrs. Maria Brown Davis, one of the founders of the school, was present and many who were students in the early days. Mrs. P'an of Shanghai, who was a student forty-seven years ago, was one of the speakers. Representatives of the President of China and of the government Board of Education, Bishop Birney and Sherwood Eddy were present and spoke to an audience of fifteen hundred in Asbury Church.

The alumnae, recognizing the imperative need of a new building for Gamewell High School on a new site, decided that day to raise forty thousand dollars (Mexican) for the land. They are depending upon us to put the building on it. The preachers of the conference took as their Jubilee object last year ten thousand dollars (Mexican) toward this land. It meant getting an average of fifty cents from each church member. They did it, and the interest drawn on the money before it was turned over to Gamewell paid all the expenses of their campaign.

The faculty of Keen School, Tientsin, has been so depleted this year on account of furloughs that it was with difficulty that the year's work was completed. Three full time teachers left in the middle of the year, and another doing part time work. In June Miss Luce terminated her contract and no one has gone to take her place. Dr. Ida Belle Lewis was sent by Bishop Birney to help out through the spring term.

A late survey has brought to light some interesting facts concerning this school. It is found to receive less support per student from home appropriations than any other Methodist school in China, save one. That one is a primary school of four grades, whereas Keen covers twelve years of work. It also has been found to have had a larger growth in the past five years than any other school in China. It has tripled its enrollment within three years. It has a waiting list and continually turns away applicants. We believe that this school, kept thoroughly permeated with the spirit of Christ as it is, will be an increasing factor in building a Christian foundation for the new China.

The Keen girls have for four or five years entirely supported a day school in a village nearby; they give an annual Christmas treat to poor children of the community, and this year have put definite sums in their budget for home missions, foreign missions and a daily vacation Bible school.

At the session of the annual conference last month a resolution was passed to memorialize General Conference for an enabling act to set off our work in Shantung, centering in Taian, as a separate conference. We must be equipped to furnish leaders as the work develops. The strengthening of our high school is imperative. Miss Dillenbeck says of her department, "My normal class last year was the best ever, and did such fine work that we hardly missed our teachers in the primary grades. (There was some disaffection and some of them had to be allowed to go.) It is easier to get student teachers to follow plans than it is teachers who have graduated from Peking, and the result was a splendid record in the final examinations."

We have no high school work at Chang'li, but Alderman School is a fine strong higher primary school. As the "6-6-4" plan becomes operative doubtless all the primary work will be done in the country schools, viz., the first six years. Alderman should then be advanced to junior high school grade.

West China Conference

The rapid growth of educational work in West China compels constant advance and repeated readjustment. The call of our high school graduates, for the same opportunities for college education that their brothers already enjoy, became so insistent that the Educational Committee of the Foreign Department allocated $5,000 for purchasing land and providing a temporary dormitory for women students at Chengtu Union University. This means that the university will become co-educational, the first open to women in this whole province of nearly 60,000,000 people.

For years the Chengtu high school dormitories have been overflowing, so we are glad to report that $5,000 has just been assigned to this school to purchase land adjoining the present property where new dormitories will be erected when funds can be secured. Miss Dzail, the only Chinese woman of West China who has been trained in America, is daily exerting a most beneficial influence over the whole student body.

Repairs have been made during the year on the union normal buildings and the new building project deferred. The money raised for this purpose is now being re-distributed to the college and high school projects mentioned above, and to repay money borrowed several years ago from the Suining building fund for the Chungking school buildings. Our representative in the union normal, Miss Hansing, says: "We had a most successful and happy year at the normal. It was a transition year, as we were changing to the new standard which takes effect this year. It was the last year for admitting students who have had no more than higher primary education. This fall we are requiring two years of high school as a prerequisite for entering normal. Then we will give them a year of intensive training and if they wish to go back to high school later (after teaching a year or two) they may finish in one year and receive a vocational high school diploma. Our class may be smaller, but I am looking forward with eagerness to teaching a better prepared class."

The property we hoped to secure last year for the Chungking high school is still in the hands of the Chinese owner, although the missionaries are daily hoping to complete the transfer. Purchasing property in the Orient is proverbially slow.

Last year we reported just one high school, the one at Chengtu. We are glad now to report that high school classes have been opened during the year at Suining, Tzechow and Chungking. This was necessary because the Chengtu school could take no more pupils until more dormitories are provided, and because of the dangers to travelers, through the political unrest in the whole province.

All four of the boarding schools are now full and the missionaries are wondering where to place the girls who will be ready to enter in the fall of 1924.

At Suining the industrial course added to the curriculum last fall has proved most successful. The girls in the graduating classes felt very proud when they completed the making of their new suits and shoes for commencement. Two of our teachers are graduates from the Chengtu high school and two others have had about two years of high school training. We find that the influence of these, our very own girls, is most helpful, not only in the class room but among the women of the church and community.

The Bible training school and boarding school at Tzechow have had more students than in the previous year, thus confirming the wisdom of the builders in providing for the rapid growth of the work done there.

At Chungking, because of the political unrest, the outlook for the school girls' return from over the district was uncertain in September, and because of this the school may not be so crowded this year. However, it will undoubtedly be full for they now have the firstand second year of high school in addition to the higher primary grades.

Yenping Conference

The Emma Fuller Memorial School has closed a most successful year; seven graduated from the lower primary and nine from the higher. "One cannot forget how nice they looked in their school uniforms of light blue cotton with the narrow red bands on the sleeves that showed to what section of the school they belonged."

The high school had an enrollment of eighteen. There are sixteen girls in the higher primary and we are expecting a new class of twenty. With all these and only the Fuller School building to house them we must stress the necessity for a new building.

The Francesca Nast Gamble School had a graduating class of twenty-five beautiful girls. Forty girls from all over the conference are boarding pupils: in all over a hundred girls are enrolled. Twenty-five are in the kindergarten. Eight of these belong to the official class.

The day schools in Yuki and Yenping have been much interfered with by the bandit troubles and political unrest but the schools are to-day better fitted to serve the kingdom of God. Uniform examinations are now well established and the comparative charts made by the Secretary of Education show that many a girls' school outranks the average of the boys' schools.

EVANGELISTIC WORK

At the first annual meeting of the National Christian Council the Chinese and foreign elements were fused into essential unity, and the days became "a great spiritual experience." The Council hopes to serve its constituency by deepening spiritual fellowship, promoting the indigenous church, and furnishing a center for information, plans and unified expression on public questions. The immediate task of the Council was defined under four heads, for each of which a standing committee was appointed: retreats and evangelism, international relations, social and industrial relations, rural problems and the country church.

The Christian Literature Society for China is doing valuable work. Miss Laura M. White, our representative, writes that the circulation of the women's magazine has greatly increased. New books and new editions of former publications are constantly appearing. "Our songs go like hot cakes, and I have two books of songs ready for publication. One is a series of twelve hygiene songs for day schools, and the other is a book of about twenty-five or thirty really beautiful songs or anthems for girls' high schools."

Central China Conference

CHINKIANG—During the first week in May special evangelistic meetings were held. The largest theater was rented for the week and was filled three times a day. Benefit came not only to those who heard the gospel for the first time, but to the church members who renewed their zeal in personal work. Country trips with medical clinics as well as religious meetings, work with women prisoners, special services at New Year's and on other occasions have brought the spirit of Christ to many in need.

NANKING—Hitt Training School—In December the thirteenth anniversary of the school was celebrated, and special honors were paid to the principal, Miss Sarah Peters, and her loyal helper, Miss Ren Ching I. Hitt students have charge of three Sunday schools meeting Sunday afternoons. On Thursday afternoons there is practical field work, calling in homes, teaching women to read, and conducting meetings for women and children. Occasionally gospel teams go to the country for intensive work at some station. During the summer a number of daily vacation Bible schools are conducted by the students.

Misses Chen and Yuen have given their best in inspiration and comfort to the workers in the different stations as well as to the women of the churches and to those outside. In the winter Miss Riechers was transferred from Wuhu to Nanking and supervised the city and country work.

Union Bible Teachers Training School—Steady growth and intensive improvement are reported for the year. The enrollment reached eighty-four. Miss Shaw, abbreviating her furlough, returned to the principalship in April. Some enlargement of the dormitory, provision for an out-kitchen, and the erection of an inexpensive music building with nine practice-rooms, have added much to the orderliness and comfort of the school routine. A change in the constitution provides for participation (a) as a major unit, i. e., furnishing one member of the faculty, fifteen thousand dollars Mex. for buildings and equipment, and eight hundred dollars Mex. annually for current expenses; and (b) as a minor unit, i. e., furnishing one member of the faculty, five thousand dollars Mex. for buildings and equipment, and four hundred dollars Mex. annually for current expenses. Each board participating as a major unit may have two representatives and two alternates on the Board of Managers; each board participating as a minor unit, one representative and one alternate.

WUHU—Miss Youtsey, relieved of her temporary duties at the Nanking Girls' School, returned to Wuhu at New Year's, and during the spring made several country trips. Under the able leadership of Miss Ogborn a thoroughly helpful institute was held in June for all the Bible women of the conference. Social evangelistic work is developing at the Second Street center.

Foochow Conference

Three plans for evangelistic work have been carried on throughout the conference, Bible institutes, station classes and evangelistic meetings for Christian and non-Christian women. The aim is to have a Bible reading church through a course of study in the Romanized or phonetic script.

Because of the unsettled conditions of the country politically, services for the people who have fled from the city of Foochow out to the Island have been held, the first in the Foochow Girls' School chapel. While the women attended the meetings the little tots whom they brought with them were cared for by the kindergarten training school students.

The average age of the thirty-two women attending the Foochow Woman's Training School is twenty-two. The old type of elderly Christian women students who could not learn to read is passing away. The last graduating class of six received two diplomas, one from the school and one from the Board of Education, an especial honor.

In Haitang nearly every Bible woman in the district has a group learning to read the Bible by the Romanized script. At conference, sixteen were given exhorters' licenses.

Our Bible Woman's School at Kutien enrolls fifty-five students, thirty-three in the training school and twenty-two in the Romanized school. Two graduated in the teachers' course, one of whom is teaching and the other taking normal work in Foochow.

At Mintsing eight station classes with an enrollment of one hundred fifty have been held. One of these women comes from a family where only her mother-in-law and herself are left, the husband having been killed by bandits.

Eleven Bible women were granted exhorters' licenses at Futsing and Miss Pearl Ho was made a local preacher. Evangelistic services in the villages, followed by demonstrations in baby bathing and talk on sanitation by a trained nurse, have been given.

Hinghwa Conference

HINGHWA—The middle of October, Fukien province was taken by southern forces; hundreds of bandits took the opportunity to enter Hinghwa City. Schools were closed and the mission property was carefully guarded. Many of the wealthy class took refuge in the Mission compound. A splendid opportunity was given to reach these women of the official class and a special station class was organized in Jubilee Hall.

The village Sunday school work has been interfered with because of civil conditions, but notwithstanding all this fifteen villages have been visited regularly and between five and six hundred children are under instruction. Food and fuel supplies have been very expensive and the Christmas gifts sent have been gladly received.

Evangelistic work in Sienyu on the districts and in the Bible Woman's Training School has been successfully carried on. There are fifty students enrolled in the training school. Miss Thomas writes of the happy Christmas celebration, many never knowing before what the day was. Six Bible women graduated in the last class.

Miss Scheirich has already won the hearts of the Bible women on the districts. Many of our women can read Romanized and follow the conference reading course. Miss Todd tells us of a Bible woman living in a rented room who took in sixteen women and children to live with her during an epidemic of plague. The reading rooms that are being established are invaluable as the women can come at dusk and study, then after evening prayers the Bible woman leads them safely home by the light of her lantern.

Kiangsi Conference

KIUKIANG—Knowles Training School—Miss Fredericks served as principal until November 23, 1922, when Miss May Bel Thompson was able to take up the work. The student body numbered one hundred twenty-five. Much attention has been given to a revision of the curriculum. The training school proper now has a six-year course, and the preparatory department has also six years, in accordance with the new system that China is adopting. Opportunities for broader vision and for practical application came to the students through the district conference, a Sunday school institute and the annual evangelistic campaign, in all of which they took an active part. An earnest group gathers each day just after dinner to pray for special interests.

Miss Stone sends this description of typical district work. "Last week Saturday Miss Smith, Miss Thompson and I went on a trip with Mabel Woodruff, who was going to look over the work at Hukow. We had planned to go by launch, but upon reaching the dock we found the launch had departed, so we took a sampan. Hukow is a beautiful spot at the mouth of Poyang Lake. There are no foreigners living there. We have in Hukow a force of four workers—a day school teacher, a trained kindergartner and two Bible women. The pastor with his family lives in the same compound. There are thirty or more day school pupils. At present one of the Bible women, a Knowles graduate, helps in the school in the morning, but goes out to work among the women in the afternoon. She and the other Bible woman, a fine, sincere, energetic older woman, are very busy these days trying to help stem the tide of fear and superstition which is rising especially high at this time. Some one, I believe it was a Buddhist, started the rumor that beginning with the eighth month feast day terrible calamities are going to come upon the people of this earth. The people are all excited about it and are contributing money to provide means for propitiating the spirits."

NANCHANG—Miss Ethel Thompson is studying with care and patience the development of social evangelistic work in Nanchang. She is already reaching some of the "needy rich," and hopes by winning leaders from the influential classes to make the acceptance of Christianity easier for many.

A district conference, attended by all the pastors and Bible women of the three lower Kiangsi districts except those from Kienchang and Nanfeng, proved of great value.

North China Conference

We are now organized for the training of women for religious work from the station class in the country up to the Union Bible Training School in Peking. Two of our schools, one at Peking and one at Taian, are organized to meet a special need in this conference, that of giving training to the wives of our preachers, though they both also give training to other women. Thompson Memorial at Changli, an old well-established school, grades between these two and the union school. All of these schools have as many students as they can care for and some of them more. At Changli we shall begin in the spring to use the money provided during evangelistic year to enlarge and improve the school.

At Taian the hospital has been remodeled and adapted for training school use. They are very proud and happy over the result. An incident drawn from one of our letters will illustrate something of what is happening to these women. "Two weeks ago to-day we had an addition in the way of a sweet baby girl. There was a big snow on the ground when I was called out of bed early that morning. So when the little girl landed the teachers insisted on calling her Snow-Flower. She came before the doctor got there. The mother is the wife of one of our preachers who will graduate this year. I bathe the baby over here each morning, and shall continue to do so until it warms up a bit. When I took the baby over the second morning the mother said, 'I already have one girl so I do not want this one. Will you not take it off my hands?' We cannot blame the little woman; rather we must blame the conditions in China that made her feel that way—the conditions she would go out to make no better, as a preacher's wife, unless she had this chance at training. I have done everything I could. The foreign ladies have called. I paid special attention to the baby in every way. We have been working on her pride and at last she has responded. You will not find a prouder mother now, anywhere, than she is.

"When we came to the discussion of the baby's bath in my class in mothers' methods, in our dining room, with the women seated around the table, they saw the first baby's bath any of them had ever seen."

West China Conference

The land for the new day and woman's school in Chungking has at last been bought, and the deed is in the hands of the United States consul. But owing to the exceedingly disturbed political conditions, the actual building operations are still delayed and the schools must as yet be held in the old property. Of these schools Miss Allen writes: "They are doing the finest business they have ever done. Surely the day for the education of girls has come in this locality. During the last month our enrollment has doubled that of last year and the tuition paid has more than doubled. Within the last thirty days I have taken in over three hundred dollars, Mexican, in tuition, and still they come. I am having to move people out of the Foreign Missions property where we now hold school and tear partitions to expand enough to accommodate the crowds."

On account of the prevalence of bandits over the district Miss Wells has been unable to hold her station classes or visit the day schools, and yet she writes that there is almost the usual enrollment. Any balances she may have from inability to hold station classes, she plans to apply on equipment for the schools. She writes: "On our last trip one of our preachers had a unique way of announcing our women's meetings. I heard someone on the street beating a gong and making an announcement. I thought it must be the town crier seeking a lost child, telling that robbers were coming, or some other important affair. Instead, he was announcing our meeting. It is needless to say that when I stepped into the chapel it was crowded. The women were unusually quiet and listened while Mrs. Ho, the Bible woman, talked to them for fully two hours, only climbing up on the seats to get a good look at me when I came in. The school girls sang and we gave out tracts. Our evangelistic work this year has been mostly confined to fourteen stations, because of travel conditions, but this large circuit would satisfy most of our preachers at home, especially if few of their congregations could read and the speed limit was three miles an hour. The nearest station takes half a day to reach and the farthest two and a half days of constant travel."

On Chengtu District the work is steadily growing in a section where there are about two hundred towns and cities and two million people for which Methodism is responsible. Miss Cowan pleads for three missionaries to help her adequately to supervise the schools and station classes now organized. With missionaries and partial support from America the Chinese will, so far as they are able, provide teachers and buildings. In one place the people of the church have moved the boys' school into a temple and have opened a girls' school back of the chapel. The wife of the teacher of the boys' school teaches the girls, and all she received for this last half-year's work was the tuition paid by the girls, five dollars in gold. The people of this place want to do things on a larger scale and some wealthy people have offered their ancestral hall and a group of them will pay a man teacher if we will put in a woman teacher. Many other places are offering as much. What are we to do?

In the city the Crossett School is full with its one hundred thirty pupils and the kindergarten has its full sixty, with applicants turned away from each almost daily. The other day schools are likewise full and the woman's school has every corner in which a woman can sleep full, and more wanting to come.

In Suining the growth of the junior church is one of the outstanding reasons for joy in the lives of the missionaries. The membership numbers two hundred fifty children, all of whom are day school pupils. Their Sunday service is the most precious of the week. Each Sunday some of the older children give a synopsis of the sermon of the previous week and the children's choir gives a special selection learned during the week. Another new feature is the "Win-a-Handful-for-Christ Band." The aim is that each member shall lead five persons into the Kingdom. The pledge card has on it the form of a hand printed in red, the names of those won for Christ are written on the fingers of the member's pledge card and are by that member continually held up in prayer. As soon as one handful is won another card is begun, and thus through personal touch and prayer many souls are brought into the Kingdom.

Of Suining District Miss Brethorst writes: "The work has grown this year more than last and we had forty-five graduates from our schools. The school building for which the money was sent this year is fast nearing completion. I hope to build at Hochow this fall and also be able to remodel one or two other buildings. At Ngan Yoh all the repairs were given locally. We have gifts of five beautiful locations and buildings are most urgently needed. In each place the Chinese will contribute toward the erection of the buildings, for they are so eager for better schools and better buildings."

Of the Tzechow school and evangelistic work Miss Cowan writes: "As I went around giving examinations after Christmas I felt that these schools were really the best all-around schools in the district. That the teachers are older women and married gives them prestige with the people in these country districts and they are more willing to send their girls to the day schools. Our girl teachers often cannot go on the streets, but these women can and are thus able to visit the homes of the pupils and make a closer tie between the school and the home."

At Chien Si Chang, a good sized city, the men of the church gathered with Miss Proctor to present their pleas for a school. "They were laboring men, not a rich one among them, but they had already bought a place on the installment plan and would put it in shape for a school. All they asked was that the mission furnish the staff. After this meeting the men went out and brought their wives in to hear the Bible woman tell the wonderful story. How they listened! The message was new, for it is true here as it is in almost all places where there is no girls' school, that the women are not touched."

Yenping Conference

A class of forty women has done good work in the Yenping Bible Woman's Training School. The graduating class of four has gone out to do Bible women's work on the districts.

Teacher training diplomas were presented to a class of five women. Ten days' evangelistic meetings were held for the women in Yenping at the close of the school. A morning visit to the kindergarten would convince one of the importance of this work.

The Christian Woman's Institute, first held in connection with the Bible Training School, now holds its sessions in four divisions at Yenping, Yungan, Sungchan and Sahsien. At the close of the school sessions Miss Glassburner made the rounds of these districts, and found in many places that the women had returned to their village homes able to teach the women and to tell them the Bible stories.

The Sahsien Institute was turned over entirely to Chinese leadership with fine results. One of the most earnest and helpful workers was one who had given her heart to Christ only a year before.

MEDICAL WORK Central China Conference

CHINKIANG—Letitia Mason Quine Hospital—Many improvements have been made during the year. A steam heating system has been installed. A well, after eight months of drilling, mostly through rock, now gives a good supply of water. Dr. Chao Hsu Lan, a graduate of the North China Medical School, is proving a valuable helper. Fourteen nurses have been enrolled in the training school. In the residence section of Chinkiang a tiny building formerly used as a kitchen has been repaired and fitted up as a dispensary by Dr. Taft. She has held clinics also at Sang Tang and Ben Tu. During the summer Dr. Robbins was called home by the illness of her mother.

Foochow Conference

Magaw Hospital has had a most successful year, a large number of inpatients and crowded clinics. The nurses enjoy their new home and especially the big, bright supply room. Six successfully passed the national examination. The Lyon Memorial Chapel, recently dedicated, not only contains a fine audience room but in the rear there are dispensary rooms and apartments for isolation cases. The leper work in connection with the hospital has ministered to over a thousand cases. A beautiful communion service for the leper colony has been received.

Woolston Memorial Hospital has also had a strenuous year. From morning until night the phone has rung and Dr. Hu King Eng and her assistants have ministered to the sick and dying. A happy Christmas entertainment was given students and helpers.

The Lucie F. Harrison Hospital at Futsing reports over thirteen thousand patients treated in the hospital. The dispensary at Ngucheng in charge of two nurses has also ministered to over two thousand cases. Dr. Li Bi Cu's furlough was long overdue but such was her interest in the new hospital now under construction that she would not leave her post. A fine site has been secured and we soon expect to have a well-equipped plant. The temporary building has been overtaxed in capacity the entire year. The Christmas celebration was a memorable one.

Haitang, cut off from other hospitals because the sea is between it and the mainland, is in desperate need of a hospital. The building now in use is ill-fitted for the purpose but Dr. Hung has treated over four thousand persons and performed twelve operations.

The Good Shepherd Hospital of Lek Du, Mintsing, has not only cared for many cases in the hospital but Dr. Carleton and her assistants have been itinerating, seeing from eighty to one hundred cases a day. The hospital matron has been most faithful, teaching the hospital patients about Christ. Splendid packages from America have been received.

The Nurses' Association of China, Cora M. Simpson, national secretary, sends a fine report of work done, visiting hospitals, schools and conventions for the purpose of interesting Chinese students and others in the profession of nursing and opportunities for service.

Hinghwa Conference

The Margaret Eliza Nast Hospital, Sienyu, has installed a greatly needed improvement, a water system. The past year has been one of great unrest; because of the passing of the soldiers through the country many were afraid to come to the hospital. Notwithstanding these conditions nine hundred eleven inpatients have been cared for.

Kiangsi Conference

KIUKIANG—Danforth Hospital—Dr. Tseo and Dr. Chen with the help of the nurses have carried on the usual work of the hospital. In addition two dispensaries have been opened, one at Heo Kai in the city, the other in the country across the river. Since the nurses' training school has been registered with the Nurses' Association of China, the students will have the privilege of becoming registered nurses when they have completed their course. The school conforms to the association standards in admission, educational requirements, curriculum and textbooks. Miss Kellogg writes: "Even more precious to me than the degree of professional skill the girls are attaining are the spiritual victories that some of them are having. My little office has become a sacred place to me since I have seen there the Spirit moving with transforming and life-giving grace in the lives of one and another of my girls." Twenty-eight are in training. A new nurses' home is a pressing need.

NANCHANG—Women's and Children's Hospital—Dr. Kahn finds the people more willing to undergo operations as they see the beneficial results. Along with the record of cases goes the story of conversions to Christianity. Letters have been received from soldiers who were treated in the hospital last year and who are keeping up their Christian life. The gentry invited Dr. Kahn to help in reorganizing the city orphanage where the death rate among the babies had been alarming. She writes: "This is certainly a new departure in China, to have women come in to discuss public affairs with these grave city fathers." Every Friday afternoon Dr. Kahn has had a Bible class for women of the gentry, who have attended regularly, often coming long distances. Every one of the regular members has become a Christian.

North China Conference

Despite the small staff, work at Sleeper-Davis Hospital, Peking, has gone well. They have had over a thousand patients, forty-five of whom have been women of the Society who have come from every part of China. The doctors have made eleven hundred out-calls. They have given sixteen thousand treatments in the dispensary and two thousand more in homes. They are in desperate need of a surgeon, since Dr. Manderson is married and Dr. Heath goes to Tsinan. They are in extreme need, also, of a medical woman.

They are doing high grade work in the Nurses' Training School. The freshman class of nurses from Tientsin has spent the year at Sleeper-Davis, concentrating on the academic part of their course. The school has been ambitious to adopt this plan, and our women at Isabella Fisher Hospital have been glad to avail themselves of this help, especially as three members of the staff have been on furlough the past year.

Dr. Lantz at Tientsin has had a very able assistant, Dr. Yang. Miss P'an, an unusually bright and promising nurse who has been sharing responsibility with Miss Gregg and Miss Battin since her graduation from the school, arrived in America this fall for graduate work.

Our hospital has furnished a doctor and one or two nurses on a team for village work at week ends under the leadership of Miss Halfpenny. They saw hundreds of sick folks and helped many. Health talks with the aid of charts were given and received eagerly. They found it difficult to leave these villages where there is no doctor, no nurse, nor medical help of any kind. Many of the nurses got a new vision of service which will have its influence in determining their life work.

West China Conference

The rebuilding of the Gamble Hospital at Chungking goes on surely, though slowly. Thirty inpatients can be accommodated in the portion already finished. Dr. Chen, after spending the summer in Shanghai, returned with renewed strength and interest. With the beginning of Dr. Jones's furlough, next June, Dr. Chen will again need to resume the heavy responsibilities of physician-in-charge. This is far too much for one little Chinese doctor, even though she is willing and most efficient.

This year and last saw the graduation of our first classes of Chinese nurses, the first to complete the course in all of West China. Though we have had medical work here for a number of years, we needed at first to take girls with no education, for the educated Chinese considered nursing a menial occupation. Now all is changed and several of those in training are high school graduates, and all have had some preparatory school work.

On Hospital Day in the church, Dr. Chen played the organ and the nurses dressed in uniform marched in and took their places in the front of the church. There were speeches by the doctors and nurses and a song, composed by Miss Miller, by the graduates. The boys' school helped by furnishing the band and at the close everyone had refreshments and a social time and went away happy.

The year's statistics give 492 hospital patients, 13,216 dispensary patients, with 572 operations. The local receipts from the patients cover nearly half the total expense.

The hospital building at Tzechow has also been under construction during the year and is already occupied by many grateful patients under the efficient care of Dr. and Mrs. Hill of the Board of Foreign Missions. Dr. Hill has also had a dispensary in the city.

The northern part of Korea has witnessed the worst flood of the present generation. In Pyengyang two-thirds of the city was under water. "Our compound walls crashed down with the rest of the destruction. The sights made one heartsick—poor people trying to save their possessions, boats being hurried through the streets to the rescue and the river one raging torrent, carrying everything before it! All during that night and the next day the crash, crash, of the falling houses could be heard, as they went down before the mad rush of waters."

"Then, to add to this endless amount of suffering, for the destruction was not limited to our city, a few days later a tidal wave swept the west coast of this little peninsula, carrying death and destruction in its wake. For awhile every available school, dormitory, our church and the town hall were filled with refugees. Poor people, I do not know how they will live through the winter! Just at the time when the people seem to be prospering a little, something comes to take away everything!" Korea does seem to have more than her share of suffering, but it surely does not "just happen" that before each calamity the people have been strengthened by a revival.

In December, and continuing through the winter, another Pentecost came to Korea, beginning with our four days of retreat in the Pierson Memorial Bible Institute for the pastors and Bible women. Dr. Noble writes: "A wonderful time of the outpouring of the Holy Spirit was experienced. Every person present came into new power, a power that has been felt in all the churches since. At New Year the foreign Week of Prayer was different from any we had before experienced. There was a deep longing on the part of all present for a new infilling with the Holy Spirit for new power for service. Then special meetings were held at the theological seminary. These meetings lasted four days. From the announcement of the meeting the burden of the students' prayer was, 'O God, we pray for a baptism of thy Holy Spirit.' There seemed to be an expectation and preparation. The very atmosphere seemed to be surcharged with an unseen power. Every student in the seminary received the blessing he was seeking. The Presbyterian Girls' School had a wonderful revival. Then the revival swept to Ewha. The teachers all marvel and rejoice at the changed lives, for it extended to every student. The revival came to all the churches, for we have a new ministry."

EDUCATIONAL WORK

SEOUL—Ewha Haktang—Korea's social life and national spirit are changing very rapidly. Multitudes of girls are crowding our schools, but only a limited number can be received for want of room and teaching force. We are happy to report conditions much better at Ewha. With the new home for the missionaries, the addition to the class building, Frey Hall—the new dormitory—finished and the Framton house changed into the Ewha music building, both missionaries and students are much more comfortable, but they need more furniture. "The new central heating plant is splendid! There is no place in the building that can not be made comfortable," writes Miss Appenzeller, "but the practical difficulty we are facing now is that we can not afford to keep warm. We have not the money to buy fuel!" The Koreans are doing all they can to help. "They have divided the school into three sections and each section is to see which can raise the most money for equipment. The primary section is to try to furnish slides, teeters, swings, and equip the gymnasium. The H. C. S. is to equip the sewing and cooking rooms and their little library. The Ewha section is to equip the laboratory; the alumnae, the library. Educationally we are far ahead of what we have ever been. There are five hundred ninety-eight girls enrolled for the new year." The Ewha girls, as soon as they heard of the suffering Russian refugees on their eastern coast, decided to have a "White Christmas" and all began to think what they could do for others who had less than they, with the result that every girl, as she marched past the platform that day, left a package, until there was room for no more. Their hearts were filled with joy because the gifts meant not only sacrifice, but that treasures, long dear to their owners, were brought out for love of the Christ Child that others might be glad. No wonder that one missionary exclaimed, "I never saw any people give as the Koreans give, when they hear a call of distress. Most people give from their plenty, but the Koreans give their all."

PYENGYANG—Only two other high schools besides the one in Seoul are we attempting to finance. In Pyengyang, the second city in size, the fastest growing city, the greatest educational center in Korea, our situation is very critical. The government has granted the permit for the five-year course, with the understanding that in 1924 we will have better teachers. They are most friendly now. Plans for the reconstruction of the entire Methodist work have been submitted and approved by both Boards, and we are waiting for the fifty-three thousand dollars necessary for the three buildings (and site) which must go up at the same time. No greater opportunity has ever confronted us. Where is God's steward who will make this great investment for the Kingdom? The dissolving of the Union Seminary made it necessary for us to start an entire new school which, though only three years old, enrolls one hundred fifty-three and could soon have three hundred had we any place for them. They have had a good year, with a revival in the school after the opening of the new term in January. They had no commencement this year, due to adding the fourth grade, which has twenty-one girls in it. They are bright girls, the brightest being the blind girl, Kim Seng Sel, sweet in spirit and attractive in every way.

KONGJU—In Kongju our school, the only one of high school grade among one million people, is in just as great need, but not quite so critical a condition. The enrollment is one hundred seventy-six. "The problems facing us are buildings, and teachers' salaries. One small room, 5 x 12, is being used for a classroom. Two classes are held in a dark basement, but we are thankful that we can take so many and have watched with great joy the change in the girls in this short time. Most of the girls do not have an opportunity of attending a Christian common school; if they have such an opportunity above the common school, we must give it to them. Our dormitory problem is very serious. As not all could be taken, the high school girls were given preference. Five girls, with their suit cases and boxes are living in a room, 6 x 10. Three girls, who had graduated from a government common school, walked two hundred li (sixty-six miles) to come to school. Two other little girls came one hundred and fifty li from another direction, their mother walking with them and carrying their baggage."

Primary Schools—In accordance with the new government permit many schools have added two years to the elementary and secondary departments. Everywhere schools are overcrowded and children turned away. Pyengyang has the largest attendance of any Christian primary school in Korea. Money has been granted for a new school and we trust by next year this school will be comfortably housed. In Yungbyen District Miss Estey was obliged to close all but four schools because of lack of money. Only four schools in this large district of several hundred miles. Large towns without a school of any description and everywhere they are pleading for them. A girl from the government school determined to be a Christian and in spite of all manner of persecution from her heathen parents followed some of our dormitory girls and presented herself for admission in the dormitory, promising to pay her way. Her mother paid the first two months and then the money stopped. "At Christmas time I told her she must not return without the money. She came back with only half, and I told her to leave. I was very busy with the Bible class and after it closed I found her still here! It is dreadful to turn such girls away from the only Christian school in all this great district, but only about half enough money comes to run the school. What can I do? I emptied the woodshed and put a class there, and another in the hall. We have not enough teachers, room, nor anything but children." In Chemulpo, the sixth grade has been added and they have a full six-year primary school the average attendance of which is nearly four hundred. Nineteen girls are in the little dormitory with many others begging to be taken in.

In Haiju they have added four large rooms and two small ones.

Suwon has made extensive repairs and put on an addition. The new hostel at Wonju, where we have only a kindergarten, furnishes a Christian home for twenty girls attending the government school.

In the Seoul day schools over four hundred new pupils entered the first grades. The tuition has been more than doubled. "This spring we closed our old year and opened our new term with a three days' prayer meeting led by Ye Pil Chu Moksa, which resulted in great blessing to all. These schools give us access to non-Christian homes. Girls hear the wonderful story at school and beg their parents to become Christians. Many also come into the Church through the visits of school-workers in the homes of the children. Students go out to help in the weaker churches."

In Wonju they have started a preparatory school for young women, where any young woman over fifteen years of age may study for six months in order to prepare to enter some higher school. They did this to train workers for their own district.

Kindergartens—"How we wish we could answer the calls for kindergartens! People are wanting them everywhere. Most of those in existence should be called 'Faith Kindergartens,' for they are conducted on little else than faith!"

In Pyengyang, Miss Dicken graduated in March two hundred sixty children from her kindergartens and still has over eight hundred children in her ten kindergartens. Three places have purchased sites and raised five hundred dollars towards the building and beg that we give them another five hundred dollars to complete the building. So constant are such demands that Miss Dicken's continued plea is for buildings. We rejoice that the Chinnampo building is being erected and that she will have one building in which to house a kindergarten! She needs just as much a building for the big city kindergarten, where she has one hundred twenty children in a room 19 x 30. "We are having very interesting times in the country places as well as in the cities. I have been seventy-eight miles out to a little place where one teacher is struggling along with a little group of bright children in a bare Korean house. You should have heard the children sing 'Precious Jewels' and 'Love Him, Love Him.' In a very bad and dirty part of the city, where we have a kindergarten, every family has become Christian, the children leading them to Christ." It would seem that "every family brought to Christ" was very profitable returns on the money expended.

In Seoul Miss Van Fleet has built a circle room and two classrooms onto our Aogi school. And thus early there are so many children that they will have to have one group in the morning and one group in the afternoon. At no place have we a better conducted and more worthwhile kindergarten than in Wonju. The teacher, Miss Hann, is unusual in her ability to handle small children.

The Bible training school is a sort of link between evangelistic and educational work. Workers there report the best year in the school's history, and find much joy in leading the girls and women into a deeper spiritual life and closer, often new-found, friendship with the Master, and then sending them out to teach others. Every student has an interesting story of how she came into the light.

EVANGELISTIC WORK

"The people are eager, and awake and going forward as never before. If we can only throw ourselves in now on the side of the Kingdom they will go the right way. There never has been a time when effort put forth in the name of the Lord would bring such sure results as to-day. The Bible classes in every district have been the largest for years, and were marked by a spirit of good fellowship and co-operation. Two new class buildings in Yungbyen and Pyengyang have added to the efficiency of the classes. In many centers night schools are carried on, and from these a number have decided for Christ. No one is doing more to bring in his kingdom than our earnest Bible women. They have helped in the night schools and classes for teaching the native script; have taken part in special campaigns of preaching to unbelievers, and as a result have seen great awakening among the women and men, many new believers being added to the churches.

"In Pyengyang a gospel team went out from the Bible School, traveling twenty-two days, holding at least one meeting each day. In the band there were four young women who sang, two teachers who played the cornet and violin, and two Bible women. The Bible women would go into every home in the village telling about the evening service. The cornet playing one hour before time for the service would bring the children, who were sent home to bring the parents. During the three weeks the band visited fifteen villages, walked three hundred ninety li, waded through streams up to their waists again and again, traveled over high mountain passes and long dusty roads. Over four hundred people attended the services. No figures can estimate the good accomplished. They returned weary but happy in the privilege of service. The story of one Bible woman will illustrate the faithfulness of all. Abbie, away out on the east coast, has given up her comfortable home in Sam Chuck, a thriving village, and has moved out to a place about fifteen miles from there, where she has started a church. Think of that! One little Bible woman, all alone, beginning a church!"

MEDICAL WORK

PYENGYANG—Hall Memorial Hospital—Our hospital is now a part of the union medical work, with all the woman's work in our building. The woman's building is full of women patients, and the men's building well-filled with men patients. The four Korean doctors attend to the dispensary and in this way they are unable to reach thousands of Koreans.

SEOUL—Lillian Harris Memorial Hospital—Dr. Stewart reports a prosperous, helpful year. She says: "One of the most important departments of medical service is the training school. To bring about system and exact training and to instil into the Korean girl student what it means to be a real nurse is no small task, yet it can be done and is being done here in our hospital."

Miss Rogers is in charge this year, while Miss Rosenberger studies the language. Dr. Stewart returns next April, leaving the hospital without a doctor. There is no greater need in our work than two up-to-date, wide-awake physicians for these hospitals.

East Gate—Dr. Hall has charge of the dispensary and the extension work in Chemulpo, both of which minister to the needs of many Korean women.

In beginning a review of our work in Japan there is an inescapable feeling that the year began and ended at five minutes before twelve on Saturday, September first. Certainly no calamity has overtaken mankind with more swift and terrible devastation than did the earthquake in Yokohama and Tokyo followed by tidal wave and holocaust.

There were hours and days of anguish for us who had commissioned and sent to Japan forty-three beloved missionaries. Then the cable came from Bishop Welch, "All missionaries safe." If the catastrophe had come three days later there might have been a different report. During the unbearably humid heat of midsummer our missionaries usually go to Karuizawa, ninety miles from Tokyo in the mountains. Interdenominational conferences and other meetings are planned for this time and continue till after the first Sunday in September. Then the missionaries return, as preparations begin for opening schools the second week in September and for renewing all lines of work.

In our great thanksgiving for the saved lives of our missionaries and of their Japanese co-workers in the destruction that wasted three hundred thousand lives that noonday, we scarcely realized the property loss of more than a quarter million dollars which had come to our Society, the greatest loss in our history.

In Yokohama the Higgins Bible Training School, for which we had during the year expended over two thousand dollars in repairs and which we had reorganized in union with the Canadian Methodists as The Training School for Christian Workers, was wrecked and much of the lumber and other material was used by poor people in building their little shacks for homes. The piano was found in the debris but slightly injured, and other pieces of furniture, books, etc., have been salvaged.

The Aizawa Creche and four day schools are in ruins. Of Simons Memorial and Yamabukicho nothing remains but broken tiles and ashes. All the pupils of Yamabukicho lost their homes by fire. The janitor had a very narrow escape. His house collapsed, pinning him in, but soon the water from some source, possibly a broken water main, flooded the place, lifting the debris enough so that he could crawl out.

All the pupils of the blind school were in their home when the dormitory collapsed, and all are reported safe. The school building is largely standing. The officials of the government Bureau of Education called our teacher, Mr. Imamura, to the Tokyo offices on September twenty-second and told him not to be discouraged but to go on with his work for the blind, and made him a gift of Y600 from the Imperial Emergency Fund. He and his family cared for one hundred forty refugees in the yard of the school, feeding them till relief came from the city.

Mrs. Ninomiya, supervisor of day schools and more than forty years in our service, has been a real Dorcas in this time of calamity. At first she cared for many refugees in the Kanagawa kindergarten and in her own home, which escaped serious damage, Japanese ministers and others finding shelter there. This kindergarten building is the one meeting place left for Methodist Christians in Yokohama.

The teachers in the schools, almost without exception, suffered loss. In many cases homes were burned with all furnishings and clothing. Mrs. Ninomiya walked through the devastated area from Yokohama to Tokyo when the tremors had subsided, to find our treasurer and ask for advance of salaries to relieve their distress. One creche is being carried on—the Kanagawa kindergarten—the lumber for a temporary building having been contributed for the latter by the city of Osaka. Miss Marion Draper is living in Yokohama co-operating with Mrs. Ninomiya.

The experiences of Misses Baucus and Dickinson, who for twenty-five years have carried on self-supporting literary work in Yokohama, read like a romance. Miss Baucus escaped from the wreck of their home and thought Miss Dickinson killed. Four hours later she was dug out by the faithful servants, the heavy, fallen roof, which would have otherwise crushed her, having rested on the desk and chair. The next Sunday one pupil appeared for Sunday school which has since been continued, the fallen roof serving as a blackboard. Building a temporary shack, they have remained to salvage their stock of Christian literature, now as never before in demand, since the supply houses in Tokyo were burned. Such was the celebration of their twenty-fifth anniversary. Shall we call it strange that the anniversary leaflet published a year ago bore the text Isaiah 63:9, "The Angel of His Presence saved them?" May their remaining years bring abundant harvest.

Miss Matilda Spencer, retired from our active ranks, bedfast in St. Luke's Hospital, Yokohama, was carried out by the heroic Japanese nurses and laid on the ground of a nearby convent. The steamer "Empress of Austria," detained by the catastrophe, took her aboard with other patients. The next morning she was transferred to the incoming "Empress of Canada," on which Dora Wagner, returning from America for her appointment in the Women's Christian College, found her, and taking her to Kobe College, cared for her until she with Miss Hampton could find passage home.

Six of our missionaries were in Tokyo when the earthquake occurred. Miss Pider at the government educational offices, Miss Gard and Miss Thurston at the Ueno railway station, about to take train for their stations, and Miss Seeds at the Social Center adjoining the Imperial Palace moat, all in the zone of conflagration, but all permitted, through God's mercy, to escape to our Aoyama compound in the suburbs. Miss Seeds walked the seven miles accompanied by her faithful Japanese maid who had secured a push cart and brought a few of their possessions. A suitcase containing valuables was lost on the way and was found by a Japanese who identified it by the bank book and returned it promptly to Miss Seeds at Aoyama. Such instances of unselfish faithfulness—even to risking life—of Japanese servants and strangers might be multiplied did space permit.

Miss Sprowles had just stepped outside the beautiful new domestic science building, our young people's thank-offering given last year to Japan, when she turned to see it swaying and the walls cracking in irreparable injury. At the dormitories and other school buildings on the Aoyama grounds, chimneys crashed through the roofs, plastering fell and walls were damaged so as to necessitate rebuilding the entire plant. On October twentieth, however, the school reopened to five hundred sixty-one girls, enough temporary repairs having been made to enable Miss Chase, acting principal during Miss Sprowles's journey to the General Executive meeting at Des Moines, to conduct the school in two shifts.

Between September first and the reopening of the school many refugees were received at Aoyama. At one time the Empress came to our Christian school to visit the one hundred forty orphans being cared for in the gymnasium. Later, many of the children were claimed by relatives.

The Social-Evangelistic Center has been transferred to a tent and a portable house "for if ever Tokyo needed the evangelistic center it does now," writes Miss Seeds. "The Japanese are urging the special demand and need of affliction and suffering. It is a wonderful privilege to be here at this time to serve the Master. We are both very well—our nerves are in good condition and we feel ready for service as day by day it comes to us, oh, so heavy at times!"

The calamity at the capital, so truly the heart of the Japanese nation, has extended to every part of the empire. Our schools and churches in Korea have been making collections of money and clothing. "We cannot think and talk about anything but the poor earthquake sufferers in Japan." From Hakodate on the extreme north, Lora Goodwin writes of baking bread for refugees there, and helping the kindergarten mothers make packages containing soap, towels and other necessities. The girls' school saved thirty dollars on their food in one week.

From Hirosaki school we hear of the knitting of sweaters for nurses in the hospital; from Fukuoka and Nagasaki of wardrobes stripped to clothe the needy. School supplies that should have come from Tokyo are lacking. Kwassui teachers detained by earthquake conditions were unable to reach Nagasaki for the beginning of school.

"Like warp and woof all destinies
Are woven fast,
Linked in sympathy like the keys
Of an organ vast."

Never before has there been in Japan such trust and confidence in the friendship of America. The Emperor's birthday celebration in Tokyo became a parting ovation for the ambassador returning to his country. "Tell them," said the Japanese ambassador in Washington to Mr. Saito, national Y. M. C. A. secretary of Japan, who was starting back to Japan in September, 'that the friendship of America is genuine. Tell the young men that spiritual values are real values. We have striven for material prosperity, but we must strive for that which is above all material things." The consciousness of spiritual need which has been growing the past four years in Japan is now intensified and deepened and herein is our great responsibility. There are thousands who need such comfort and strength to start life anew as only the Christian religion can give them. We must strengthen our schools, we must increase their spiritual dynamic. We must pray and give for our Training School for Christian Workers. We must send out more evangelistic missionaries.

Conditions at Nagasaki

In the middle of December, 1922, Nagasaki was visited by two prolonged and serious earthquakes in one night followed by quaking of varying severity for two days. An architect was called in to see whether serious damage had come to the buildings of our Kwassui high school and college. Some of these buildings have been standing for nearly forty years. Beams had been sawed and mended, because of the ravage of white ants, and the tremors of earthquakes had left great cracks in the walls. The architect pronounced the main building safe for three years under ordinary conditions (earthquakes are rated extraordinary conditions) provided new pillars were put in the big colonial porch which helps hold up the main roof. The roof of the chapel also needed reinforcement. These repairs were made, yet Bishop Welch writes after the earthquake at Tokyo, "I think the condition of the buildings at Kwassui, after the work of white ants and the earthquake there, is not much better than the present condition of these buildings at Aoyama." This need was further emphasized by a letter from the mayor of Nagasaki and a gift of five thousand dollars, "as a token of our appreciation and encouragement of this noble enterprise. I and the citizens of Nagasaki have the honor to thank you for the earnest and untiring endeavor which your school has rendered for forty years since its establishment, to the cause of female education."

Two new junior colleges were opened last year in Fukuoka and Nagasaki, where Kwassui had been the only one, and yet the new enrollment for college classes was larger than ever in the history of the school and for the first time applicants for college work were turned away.

Among all the schools of the Society in any country, Kwassui holds the record for sending out Christian teachers and evangelists. We pray that new buildings may soon replace these, the unsafe condition of which jeopardizes this beacon for Christianity in the southern island.

The Year's Record

Were space given to tell in detail the story of the year in our Japan institutions, it would form one of the most victorious annals of our mission history. Remarkable conversions in our schools come as a result of the Christian environment. New classes and new and encouraging lines of evangelistic work have opened. In Kumamoto and Kagoshima the kindergartens have extended their influence among intellectual leaders. Alumnae organizations have been zealous in promoting the financial interests of our schools. At Fukuoka domestic science quarters have been provided. The Lee Memorial Kindergarten has been rebuilt in Sendai and the Neighborly Love Hostel there is a Christian home to business girls and students.

As the principal of Aoyama Jo Gakuin so truly said of the fifty years almost completed by that beautiful school, so we may say of the year in Japan: "Always God has been the Leader!"

EDUCATIONAL WORK

MEXICO CITY—The school motto of the Sarah Keen Colegio, "Not to be ministered unto, but to minister," has been constantly before the missionaries and Mexican teachers this year, and the students have caught the spirit of the school as never before. The girls were asked what they had done during the last vacation and one of them replied for many, "I've been trying to carry the spirit of my school into my home and village." Four "Blue Triangle" or "Girl Reserve" corps have been started under the direction of Miss Landazari, the general secretary of the Y. W. C. A., and they have put new enthusiasm into the social and religious life of the students. The twenty student volunteers under Miss Perez are eagerly looking forward to the time when they can go out to do definite Christian work among their own people. Twelve probationers from the school, after months of careful training, were taken into full membership in the church. One of the most noticeable things in the school is the fine spirit of comradeship between the poor and rich girls. One of the most popular girls in the preparatory department is helping to earn her way by being assistant matron. Her natural dignity and high moral and intellectual standards are deeply respected by all the students. Another scholarship girl gets up at four o'clock every morning to help sweep the classrooms, yet she is loved by everyone. It has been very hard for Miss Purdy to turn away from two to five boarding pupils a week because of lack of room. High government officials have recommended the school to their friends, one leading man saying that his daughter had made more advancement in six months in the Sarah Keen Colegio than in three years in other schools. Some of the graduates have secured important positions and are making good. One is private secretary for the Minister of Education, while two others have excellent positions in department stores.

The Industrial School has added the seventh grade to its curriculum, making it possible to keep the girls for another year. Again the school has been crowded to the limit with eighty-two boarding students and ten day pupils. More of the boarding students have come from the villages than ever before, a fact which has given the greatest satisfaction to the missionaries as it is the village girl who will have more abundant opportunity to better the life of her community. The arrival of Miss Mary Lunn, a trained domestic science teacher, last fall, made possible the introduction of better industrial classes and now that Miss Maltby, a second domestic science teacher, has been added to the force, full domestic science and domestic arts courses can be given. The outside or farm work, under Miss Thomas, has not only supplied the vegetables and milk for the school but has netted a profit of sixty-five dollars a month.

Miss Dora Gladden, who has been a most efficient missionary of our Society in Mexico since 1910, was married in January, 1923, to Mr. Carhart, a missionary of the Board of Foreign Missions in Mexico.

Miss Carrie Purdy and Miss Helen Murray have been loaned to South America for a short term of service. Miss Purdy has gone to Crandon Institute in Montevideo and Miss Murray to the new Bible Training School in Buenos Aires.

PUEBLA—The Normal School has had the largest number of pupils in the last five years—four hundred seventy-five, of whom one hundred five have been boarders. Amo'ng the boarding girls, sixty-one are preparing to teach in our mission schools when they have finished their work.

The whole student body has been getting the best preparation possible, both spiritual and intellectual, to prepare them for future leadership. The students have attended the Sunday school, the Epworth League, church and prayer services. The advance normal girls have taught in the Sunday school, helped in the children's church, Centenary classes and done hospital visiting. The Morning Watch was organized last year and has been well attended.

The Puebla faculty has tried for many years to keep the alumnae in as close touch as possible with the school. An association was formed which meets periodically in Puebla. This year in September over sixty women returned for the meeting which was held for three days in the school. A morning of recreation at the boys' school, a tamalada, and inspiring conferences made a program long to be remembered by those who were fortunate enough to be present.

Missionaries and students alike have mourned the sudden death the last of October of Miss Esther Russell, a domestic science teacher who went down to Puebla in the fall of 1922. Although she had been in the school less than a year, her work had been so satisfactory and her personality so winning that she was deeply loved by everyone who knew her.

GUANAJUATO—Guanajuato is one of the most bigoted states in Mexico, and even to-day, after its long contact with Protestantism, the teachers and students of our school are sometimes hissed at on the streets. Notwithstanding this opposition and the poverty of the people—due to the fact that the silver mines have been practically exhausted—the school has had an enrollment of one hundred sixty, twenty-six of whom were boarders. The curriculum has been the same as that prescribed by the government with the addition of English and domestic science. This latter department is one of the most popular in the school and a trained teacher is urgently needed for it. Not a day passes but someone has said, "Please can't we have cooking to-day?" Some of the girls have started to bring things from their homes to cook, and when the school cook was absent for a week on account of illness, each class made something for the meals, anxiously inquiring afterwards, "Did it taste all right?"

A Student Volunteer Band of twelve members was organized during the year by Miss Perez. The girls have been deeply interested in spiritual things, staying gladly after school hours for prayers, the Epworth League service and Bible classes though they are all voluntary.

PACHUCA—One of the most encouraging things about this year's registration at the Pachuca school has been the larger number of students in the higher grades. The total enrollment has been over three hundred. In addition to the regular branches prescribed by the government, English and sewing have been taught. For the last two years instead of making only fancy work, the graduates have made by hand all their own clothes for graduation. This school also has a fine group of Student Volunteers preparing for Christian work among their own people.

Day Schools—Our Society has supported six day schools in Mexico—Tezontepec, Atlixco, Tlaxcala, San Vicente, Amecameca, and La Luz in Puebla. The schools have all been taught by women trained in our larger schools and in every case have been centers of evangelical influence in the towns where they are situated. Miss Garcia at Tezontepec has still had classes for men at night, though not so many have attended as last year. Most of the men are farmers and have heavy work to do during the day.

EVANGELISTIC WORK

MEXICO CITY—No more useful or practical program could be given in any Bible school than that given to the seventeen girls in the Mexico City Bible Training School. On the theory side there have been courses in sociology, child psychology, religious education, Bible study, etc.; on the practical side there have been classes in cooking, sewing, nursing, story telling, etc. A new course has been introduced this year on "How to Use the Bible," and in it the students have been taught what parts of the Bible to use in teaching internationalism; what to use in teaching obedience to a group of boys; what to read to a sick person, etc. For their practical work the students have taken entire charge of one church in the city and helped in three others; they have told stories to the first two grades at Sarah Keen three days a week, and have conducted chapel for all the primary students; they have had a model Sunday school in co-operation with the theological students, and have done a great deal of friendly visiting. Some of the students have come from country villages where such training as this will have an influence that cannot be estimated. The number of preachers is so small that in many cases the graduates of our school will be the greatest evangelical force in the town.

The Social Center which was started last year by Miss Person at the Aztecas Street Church, has been most successful and has contributed greatly to the growth of the church. The day nursery and kindergarten have been gladly patronized by many poor mothers who go out to work by the day. Almost half of the children have their noonday meal at the church, the mothers paying a small amount for the food. More kindergarten supplies and games are very badly needed as most of these children come from homes where they have never had an opportunity to play with toys.

GUANAJUATO—Miss Alarcon, the Bible woman in this city, has done a splendid piece of work visiting in the homes of the school children, distributing leaflets and portions of the scriptures and ministering to the sick, the poor and neglected. She has brought consolation and help wherever she has gone.

EDUCATIONAL WORK

LIMA—Despite the fact that a Catholic school for girls, under the supervision of American nuns, was opened in Lima, the enrollment at the high school was as large as usual and quite a few had to be turned away. It has always been a great regret to our missionaries that on account of limited space they have not been able to take more boarding pupils. The need for a modern, well-equipped building is more urgent than ever as the opportunity to influence the young women of Peru for Christ grows yearly. Eight of the twelve boarding pupils, at the request of their parents, have been attending the Methodist Church, and on Decision Day in the Sunday school, five of the eight, in company with a number of the day students, made a public decision for Christ. There has been a very noticeable growth in character building among the girls due to the introduction of organized games. Volley ball has been the popular sport this year. "At first," writes

Miss Hartman, "the game produced intense anger, loud and unseemly language, remarkable methods of cheating and the poorest type of sportsmanship, but now the day pupils and the boarding pupils can play in the greatest good comradship and the losing team will cheer lustily for the conquerors."

Miss Helen Benard, who returned to this country from Lima last year on account of illness, was killed suddenly the last of October, at a railroad crossing.

BUENOS AIRES—Two additional buildings are still being rented for the large number of girls who attend the school. The number of boarding students has not been quite so large as last year as times have been very hard for the farmers of Argentine on whom the prosperity of the country depends. One of the missionaries has written that what they have lacked in quantity they have made up in quality as there have been some splendid girls among the twenty-seven boarders. Before Miss Hartung left for her furlough she held evangelistic meetings for the boarding students and fifteen decided to live the Christian life. They met weekly for prayer after their decisions. The Camp Fire group with its ideals of manual labor, exercise and service has been of great value in the school.

MONTEVIDEO—Another year in the new building has brought Crandon increased enrollment in both the day school and boarding departments. Among the students were the nieces and nephew of the President of Uruguay, daughters of senators, leading professors and business men. Twenty-five free scholarships have been given to the children of the less well-to-do classes, but rich and poor alike work and play together in the greatest friendliness. With added gifts from America the building has been practically completed. Could all the friends who have contributed so generously to make this school possibly see the development of character among the pupils, they would be amply repaid. Twelve of the girls have joined the church this year. A "Purity League" has been organized among the older girls who have pledged themselves not to tell unclean stories and to live pure lives. One girl from the Cerro who graduated this year expects to take normal training with the idea of going to Chili as a missionary. Many girls who have had the privilege of attending Crandon would echo the testimony of Maruja, "My life is so different from what it would have been had I not come to Crandon."

The domestic science department, which was started at the beginning of this year by Miss Murphy, has been a great success. In addition to the classes in the school Miss Murphy has had a class for married women outside school hours, and also a class at the Cerro for the poor women in that section of the city.

ROSARIO—Both schools in Rosario—the Colegio Norte Americano and Gleason Institute—became incorporated in the provincial school system in 1922. This incorporation in no way hinders the religious work done in the schools but gives them a recognition they did not have before. Gleason is only a day school with kindergarten and the first three grades but it has been full to capacity with one hundred forty-eight girls. The problem of space has been a very serious one at the Colegio Norte Americano this year. The missionaries themselves have doubled up as much as possible to make room for more boarders and to provide room for an infirmary. Permission has been given to build a small addition with some funds that were raised a few years ago in this country for repairs. In order to hold the girls after they have finished the grade work, a commercial course has been added to the curriculum. It has been received most enthusiastically but there is no room for it to grow.

In June Mr. Wesley of Montevideo had a series of evangelistic meetings at the school at the close of which fourteen girls pledged themselves to live the Christian life. Meetings were held at Gleason Institute during this same week, and there was good attendance and much interest there also.

EVANGELISTIC WORK

BUENOS AIRES—Eight young women, three of them boarders, have been enrolled in the Bible Training School this year, the second of its history. A larger building has been rented so material conditions have been much more favorable. The school has met with a most cordial reception from the evangelical church membership in Argentina and undoubtedly has a great future. Our Society is co-operating in this institution with the Disciples Board. The curriculum is very similar to that in the Bible training school in Mexico though not so diverse as yet.

ROSARIO—Under Miss Cornelison, Gleason Institute has developed into a Social Center. Bible study and industrial classes have proved very popular and have made it possible for our workers to reach many more people in this needy section of the city. "A Sunday school for boys as well as girls has furnished a channel for evangelistic effort," writes Miss Cornelison. "Object lessons, accompanied by the distribution of suitable representative symbols bearing the scripture text for each child to carry home; the distribution of picture cards and Sunday school papers and a bit of temperance literature as well; a Christmas fiesta with candy for all and gifts (mostly supplied by good friends in the States) for the one hundred fifty who had a sufficiently good attendance record have all proven means of arousing and holding interest."

MEDICAL WORK

In sending Miss Josephine Packer, a public health trained nurse, to Rosario last fall our Society opened a new type of work in South America. Miss Packer has taken care of the children of both schools who have been ill with various diseases; she has tended to chilblains, burns, cuts, sprains, etc.; watched the noses and ears of the children to keep colds from spreading. In October she started a most successful dental clinic at Gleason Institute with the help of Dr. Welby, an Argentinian-trained dentist. Printed statements were sent out to the parents of the children telling about the clinic and many of them gladly took advantage of the low cost of the treatments. Miss Packer had examined the teeth of the children and found most of them in very bad condition. Such work as this is another entering wedge for Protestant work, and will do much to break down prejudice.

BULGARIA

SOFIA—We regret the death of Dr. Sarafoff, who was carrying on a Christian ministry of healing in his sanitarium in our Sofia property. Dr. Dimitrakov will continue this work until we are ready to use this property.

LOVETCH—For the first time since the late war our Lovetch school presented a class of students for graduation—the first class since 1919–20, when the school curriculum was raised to present government requirements. Commencement exercises were held in the largest town hall, Bishop Blake giving the address.

The Red Letter Day of this year was the occasion of the celebration on December nineteenth of the thirtieth anniversary of Miss Blackburn's arrival at Lovetch. The crowning feature of the services was the announcement of the creation of an endowment to be known as the "Kate B. Blackburn Fund" whose annual income is to be used for the assistance of poor pupils in the school. The Municipal Council of Lovetch voted twenty thousand Bulgarian francs towards this fund, and the rest in big and little sums came from all over Bulgaria.

Miss Davis writes, "This summer it has been harder than ever to keep the lists down to what we can receive. We've returned 'scads' of money (applicants sending by mail and by wire to hold a place). After what seems to us endless telegraphing and writing that we can receive no more students for lack of room, fathers and brothers come the length of the land to appeal in person. We must give hours to complete the job of convincing them that they must wait a year more! And I am speaking now of full-pay boarding pupils. But there is a cheering feature; we have bought, paid for, graded and walled enough adjoining land so that there is an ample site for a plant as large as the Society can provide. God knows where the money is that will be needed for buildings, and he knows how to get the work done."

A petition comes from the teachers, pupils and friends requesting that the new study hall in the enlarged school plant, which we hope to have some day soon, may bear the name of "Dora Davis." Subscriptions were made the nucleus of a "Fund to Assist in the Erection of Said Hall—in gratitude to Miss Davis, who for twenty-three years has most worthily fulfilled her duties as Missionary and Teacher in Bulgaria." We join with these Bulgarian friends in expressing our sincere appreciation of the beautiful devotion of Miss Blackburn and Miss Davis to our school during these many years, and especially because of their strenuous labors in reorganizing the school in the period just after the late war. Three new missionaries sailed in August to carry on the work so ably developed by Miss Blackburn and Miss Davis.

FRANCE

GRENOBLE—A Scotch gentleman and his wife who were guests at "Le Foyer" for some days wrote, "Your wee girlies are delightful. I never saw such good and well-behaved bairns anywhere, and some of them so refined in their manners."

Miss Currier says, "The chief purpose of our mission is to bring people to our Lord Jesus Christ. A special effort in this direction was made this year and thanks to the united efforts of faithful workers all of our older girls were led to a definite decision for Christ. Would it interest you to hear something of the aftermath of our meetings? We had hoped that many of the girls would be willing to take the evening prayers, but they were very timid about praying before the others and only three were willing to begin. But when five of the younger girls, about thirteen and fourteen years of age, received their religious instruction, were taken into the church and underwent a deeper religious experience, they offered to lead. More of the older girls were than encouraged, and many of the still younger girls offered. Besides the members of our staff, different children lead in our daily prayer service which makes it more vital and helpful to them all. Several of the girls teach Sunday school classes, one is secretary of the Sunday school and many sing in the choir.

"We have had visits from passing missionaries and from people in the local church who have conducted helpful services. An 'Amicale,' or friendship society, has been organized among the girls. The purpose is to bind them together—those who have left and those who are still with us—that the girls who have left us may continue to attach themselves to the Foyer and feel our continued interest in their welfare, and that we may help them to live upright lives. At each meeting a message is sent to those who are far away. Subjects of interest, information and spiritual help are discussed, for example: 'The Reform in France,' 'The Main Points of Difference between Protestantism and Catholicism,' etc. These are vital questions to our girls who have not been long out of Catholicism, and questions on which it is very necessary that they be informed, as they will probably have many serious discussions upon returning to their former surroundings."

Some of our older girls are leaving. Two are training in a Strasburg hospital as medical nurses for children. One enters the Protestant normal school near Paris to study to become a teacher, and she wishes to be a missionary. She is a true Christian girl. Another is soon to be married to a fine young Swiss who is an earnest Christian. Please pray for all these girls, that they may prove real witnesses for Jesus Christ.

ITALY

ROME—From Miss Eaton comes this message regarding the service that our Society can render the womanhood of Italy. "The past year in Crandon Hall indicates that perhaps one phase of the life of this school has come to a close—that uncertain stage when she was feeling about and trying to find her own particular niche. There were years when it seemed sufficient reason for being if we offered to Italian girls, as well as to those from other countries who were living temporarily in Italy, an opportunity for an education in a Protestant atmosphere. This made for frequent changes in the student body and as a school we cannot point here and there to women in high places who owe their all to the care and inspiration of Crandon. But we do have in every European country, as well as in the Americas, gracious women in homes and public life whose warm love turns toward months spent in a Christian home-school while they were living outside their own countries, women who are constantly sending their friends to us in the confidence that their children will have the best of care for their physical needs, that their educational life will be wisely directed and that their spiritual lives will be sanely stimulated.

"This twenty years or so of 'transit guests,' rich as it has been in influence, is a thing of the past and the majority of those now in the school will stay with us through the greater part of their school life. If we provide teachers and equipment the opportunity will be ours to educate as many as we can take care of through the formative and consecrational period of their lives."

Twenty or more nationalities are living together in our school at present. Their complete understanding in the classroom and on the playground often brings from them the wondering question, "Why must there be discord among the governments of our countries?" The spiritual messages brought to them through church, Sunday school and evening prayer service makes Christian, Mohammedan, Greek Orthodox, acknowledge the Oneness of the Father through Christ's message, and so this group of four hundred girls is preparing to go out to the several nations, lighted with the gospel of the new day of 'Peace among Nations,' of 'Unity through Christ.' "

During the year our Crandon students contributed almost three thousand lire to charity. We try as far as possible to train our students to give and the way they respond from the kindergarten up is beautiful.

ALGIERS—Home and Evangelistic Work—A. Dora Welch, Emily Smith, Mary Anderson, E. Gwendoline Narbeth, Martha Robinson.
 CONSTANTINE—Home and Evangelistic Work—Emilie R. Loveless, Nora Webb.

ALGIERS—Miss Smith writes, "At the Easter Communion we were all together, a wonderful party. Our three married girls and their husbands and children, and our six baptized older girls gave us cause for great thanksgiving.

"Education is advancing among the women in Algiers, so we are praying and thinking of new adventures. A winderful new piece of work was started during Easter week. This was the outcome of the efforts of our Anita, who, in a school of one thousand girls, has been known as an earnest Christian. She decided that something had to be done among the Lycee and University girls and this first student camp was a great success. Girls who pride themselves on living 'outside of all religion' came together to discuss such question as, 'What is the most universal longing of mankind?', 'How have the various religions of the world sought to meet this longing?', and 'How and why does the gospel of Christ alone satisfy?'

"A number of our children have proved the blessing of the tiny cottage rented for our infirmary—'Sunshine Cottage' is our greatest comfort. And how thankful we are for the car no words can show. It is another great blessing and is doing much to forward the work."

Of the French work Miss Anderson writes, "Scarcely a class do we have but some ask for a gospel, that they may read and see for themselves the claims of that which we try to present. We are having good times in the women's classes. Though the young girls and children are more difficult to hold, we are much encouraged, for that which counts most in a child's life is the home influence. If we win the mothers, half the battle will be won."

From Miss Welch we quote, "Another dream has been fulfilled in the 'Four Quiet Days' for the deepening of spiritual life, which saw gathered together some thirty-five women missionaries at the 'House of Peace' at Sidi Ferruch. His presence was so manifested that not one guest left without having met with Him."

A dying Kabyle lad said to our missionaries, "Yes, yes, it is only my people, the Kabyles, who know it not, who have never heard!" We thank God for the Kabyle girls who have heard and are being taught in our Algiers home. We rejoice that two new missionaries joined the ranks this past year, and we give thanks for the "Quiet Days" of spiritual uplift and baptism for greater works.

CONSTANTINE—Miss Loveless and Miss Webb report, "There are twenty-four girls with us now—some of them have been with us five or six years and it is a great victory that we have been able to keep them so long. But for this home the elder ones would all be little girl wives, possibly with husbands old enough to be grandfathers to them—shut away in Moslem life with no chance of liberty, no hope of ever being able to attend Christian services, no chance of keeping or reading the gospel.

"We have classes in needlework, rafia work, physical exercises and Bible study, though the time for these classes is very limited, the girls being at school all day.

"The classes for women and girls have been well and regularly attended, our average being twenty-five women and thirty-five girls. Then, too, we have a class for the Christians with an attendance of six. Some of these are learning to read, with the hope of becoming Bible women. The giving out of native embroidery to be done by the shut-up women and girls is always a great help in visiting, enabling us to follow up girls who once were in the classes but who now are not allowed to go out. It is not possible to tabulate all the work, but day by day by varied agencies the gospel message is being brought to the women and girls of Constantine."

FOREWORD

“Prone in the road he lay
Wounded and sore bestead;
Priests, Levites passed that way,
And turned aside the head.
They were not hardened men
In human service slack;
His need was great; but then
His face, you see, was black.”

While we who claim to be Christian retain race pride and race prejudice, the kingdom of our Lord Jesus Christ makes slow advance in Africa. In late years the glint of the sunshine of His love is clearing the fog from the thinking of His disciples here and, as we follow the gleam, more consecrated, broad-visioned young people prepare for service in far away, much misunderstood Africa. So far as our share in this service is concerned there is real advance to report.

EDUCATIONAL WORK

Angola Conference

QUESSUA—Miss Cross reports a happy, busy year. She writes: “Where fifteen months ago our present site was a dead rubber tree plantation, to-day our buildings show up in every direction and all who pass through this way are pleasantly surprised. We expect that our group of seven buildings will be finished so that we may have the ‘grand opening’ about Christmas. The dormitories will care for two hundred girls. The assembly room, seating three hundred and fifty people, is already being used for church services. The nine-room residence for missionaries is finished and greatly enjoyed. There are lawns, playgrounds, gardens already planted and an orchard in which five hundred fruit trees have been set out. A herd of cattle has been bought, promising food in the future. Best of all is the well, a wonder to the natives, who have previously carried all the water up hill for half a mile on their heads.”

"Not the least of the activities of this station has been the evangelistic work among the two hundred fifty men who have been working on the buildings, most of whom have heard of Jesus for the first time. Thirty came to the altar at one time and found peace; at another time fourteen. Among the converts is an influential witch doctor—so seldom do these listen to the gospel message, this is considered a real victory. Many have united with the church and are proving their sincerity by breaking with their old sins and superstitions."

Southeast Africa Conference (Imhambane)

GIKUKI—The work here is constantly growing. Quarters for a hundred girls are more than full and many are refused admission; twenty-five in one day were obliged to turn sadly away. The temporary home for the missionaries is also entirely inadequate, so that it is a joy to record that the Junior Thank Offering for 1925 will be used to erect a home for the missionaries and a building for the school, thus relieving the congestion.

Miss Thomas, at home on furlough, has been raising funds to relieve suffering from famine conditions caused by floods. The past year the school girls have planted a thousand cocoanut trees, which in time may be depended upon to furnish a large part of the food, as drought and flood have little effect on this type of food supply.

Miss Roush writes that part of the year she has been practically carrying four women's work, teaching at night; still she was able to go to the Governor's dinner party where she took her hymn book, reporting that their favorite song was "In a Garden."

The two newly appointed missionaries, Miss Northcott and Miss Phillips, are surely answer to prayer. They will probably spend a few months en route in Lisbon for language study.

Rhodesia Conference

OLD UMTALI—Miss McMann, conference treasurer, reports that the outlook there is most promising. The limit of the school quarters has long ago been reached and the enrollment could easily be doubled if more room and food were available. The missionaries home on furlough have been raising funds to buy a farm at fifteen dollars an acre, which adjoins the mission property. This is necessary, not only to give the girls experience in agriculture which they must learn, but for the value of food raised. New farm implements are needed. As soon as possible a new school house and dormitory should be built.

Miss Beven writes: "Miss Moore, Miss Fuller and I took a little vacation and saw a wonderful country with great, great need. The best part was getting back to work. Love for these black girls grows, and prevents the task from being wearisome. We are taking our tithe money to put up two small brick buildings, one for babies and one for the sick girls." Miss Hess writes that a number of girls, "towers of strength," want to go out as Bible women and are a splendid working force.

MUTAMBARA—The morning school enrollment is one hundred forty. The pupils are enthusiastic over the English work and they need suitable English books to read. The afternoons are spent in industrial and garden work. The attendance at the "picanin" school, held in the afternoon and taught by some of the morning school girls, is one hundred twenty-five. A new Zulu teacher has been a valuable addition to this work.

All are rejoicing that the new school building is finished, also the residence, which is now occupied by the four missionaries stationed there, leaving the four-roomed house to be used as a dispensary, which was its original purpose. Two teachers of high qualifications are asked for. The coming of Miss King was providential, as she is prepared to take over the farm work as well as school activities. Miss Fuller, the principal writes: "When I remember that only four out of seventy-five of our girls come from Christian homes, that all of the others have deliberately broken away from heathenism, I bow my head before the Lord and pray to be made equal to the work he has put into my hands."

MREWA—The boarding school, temporarily closed for lack of teachers, was reopened with the help of Miss Mulliken of the Board of Foreign Missions. As land could not be secured here, this work has now been transferred to Nyadiri, with Miss Clark and Miss Quinton in charge and Miss Ramsey, a new missionary, to help them. A home for these workers is being erected. Over two hundred acres of land, with some farming implements, have been provided and soon the boarding school will be opened. The girls have prepared seed beds and large numbers of trees will be planted. This is the largest center of population in Rhodesia, and the work there has every prospect of great success.

EVANGELISTIC AND MEDICAL WORK Angola Conference

It is with deep regret that we record the early furlough of Miss Martha Drummer, for so many years teacher, preacher, nurse and friend to her own folk of Angola. She is now at her home in Atlanta, Georgia, still pursuing her beloved work through the ministry of prayer. Work like hers cannot be laid down; it goes on and on forever.

Rhodesia Conference

From Old Umtali and from Mutambara small groups of senior pupils, really Student Volunteers, accompanied by one or more missionaries, make frequent week-end evangelistic trips to the surrounding villages, with good results. They are often received by former pupils now in Christian homes and helping to prepare the way for the coming of the King through these representatives. The all-day Sunday services are of special value. The hope is that soon we may have enough missionaries on the field for some of the more experienced of them to give full time for this very important work.

Miss Parmenter, a registered nurse, who calls herself a "fake doctor," is ministering to the steady line of those coming to Mutambara for medical aid. She is still urging that a doctor is imperative, she being the only medical worker in a radius of fifty miles and her furlough soon due. The four-room brick house where a few patients are cared for is a great blessing, as the mud huts are so damp and cold. This, however, is only a beginning; a men's ward and a house for orphaned babies are outstanding needs.

UNION COLLEGES

Isabella Thoburn College

Florence L. Nichols, Principal; Nettie A. Bacon, Marjorie A. Dimmitt, Hattie H. Hepperly, Ruth C. Manchester, Helen K. McMillan, Olive I. Reddick, Lillie M. Rockwell, Florence Salzer (c.t.), Margaret Wallace. Teacher Training Department—Susan J. Walsh, Elinor B. Townsend (c.t.).

ON FURLough—Enola Eno, Margaret K. Landrum, Inez D. Mason.

UNDER APPOINTMENT—Florence L. Justin (c.t.).

On August fifteenth the Isabella Thoburn College opened formally in its new quarters, Chand Bagh. Appropriate services were conducted by Bishop Warne. The Bishop writes, "In my judgment no mistake has been made in the selection of the site, in the laying out of the grounds, nor in the buildings erected. All has been carried through so far with great care." Miss Nichols wrote that they expected one hundred forty pupils.

The examination results for the last year were excellent. This fact has contributed largely to the increased enrollment.

Because the missionary staff is greatly reduced this year by furloughs and the marriage of Miss Eustis and Miss Hepperly, Miss Nichols begs for five teachers' salaries at eight hundred each. She asks also for twenty scholarships at fifty dollars each. "These are for splendid girls who ought to have the training. They are girls from hill-stations and girls from mission schools everywhere, daughters of preachers." Surely there is some person or some school in every Branch that wants to help these girls to get this special training. We want to give the Christian girls their full chance in our college.

At the last meeting of the Isabella Thoburn College Committee, the Conscience Clause was unanimously approved. This enables Miss Nichols to make the delayed application for government aid. If the whole amount expected from Government is received, this, and the additional sum hoped for from the undesignated funds of the College Campaign, will allow us to complete the hospital and clear up all indebtedness on the first unit of buildings. This unit consists of the administration building, teachers' residence, dining room and domestic science building, hospital, and servants' quarters. The total cost has been about $291,932. This includes the leveling and draining of thirty acres of land, digging of wells, furniture and equipment, electric and sanitary installation, fencing, fees for architect and engineers, and $9,000 extra because work on Sunday was stopped. Until the additional funds are received, we are asked to assume the interest on the present indebtedness of $60,000.

We desire here to record our gratitude to all friends who have made and are making the new Isabella Thoburn College possible.

The removal from Lal Bagh to Chand Bagh has not been made without some pulling at heart strings. The old school site was dear to pupils and graduates and many friends here and there. The name of the founder goes with the college to its new site. The name of the girl who "asked for the college," Lilavati Singh, will be held in sacred and blessed memory through all the years to come. We pay our tribute of gratitude and affection to the other college leaders, to brave-hearted, self-sacrificing Ruth Robinson who carried on the work of the college through some of the "hardest" years in its history, and to Flora Robinson Howells who through the days and nights of many months of travel and toil "refused to be discouraged" and thus laid the foundations for the new I. T. C.

We are greatly indebted to Florence Nichols, the present president. What a task she has had and how splendidly she has carried it through to the present time! Enrollment has increased, staff has been built up, site secured, buildings erected, Government satisfied, the removal and settling consummated, the women and friends at home kept informed. A truly Herculean task she has had. Let us pledge her and the college our hearty support.

Above all things else we desire this college to be in the future what it has always been, a place where the Spirit of Christ shall reign supreme. Do not forget to pray for this every day of the coming year.

CLOTILDA L. McDOWELL.

The Woman's Christian College, Madras, India

The eighth year—the best year so far—of the Woman's Christian College of Madras was specially notable in the joy of receiving on February second, from the campaign of the women of America for the seven women's colleges of Asia, the significant cablegram, "Fund completed." This—the ninth year—is even more exhilarating in the splendid material advance which the share of the college ($260,000) in that far-reaching fund makes possible. Already the white walls of the beautiful chapel, the gift of an anonymous lady of Massachusetts, rise among the tropical verdure of the campus—a mosque-like building with its Mohammedan dome surmounted by a Cross, prophesying of that day when all the mosques of India shall be consecrated to Christian worship. This chapel with its seventeen doors always open, its eleven high windows, and the band of perforated work four feet wide around the base of the central dome, thus welcoming all the airs of heaven, will be indeed a symbol of the life of the spirit at the heart of this truly Christian college. Another fruit of the fund, and of the new enthusiasm for science which the American members of the faculty have inspired, is the science building, nearing completion, to be one of the finest laboratories in India. Even the process of building in the Orient is picturesque—the bullocks pacing round the mortar mills, the dark forms and brightly colored garments of the coolie women, carrying on their heads bricks and baskets of mortar with what looks like a precarious balance, their babies swinging in the folds of cloth hanging from the branches of the trees. The students, whose desire to serve deepens in the religious atmosphere of the college, are finding among these toiling women a unique opportunity to minister to their needs.

Thus the dream of many years is being realized. Partly because our young American teachers dreamed it so earnestly and patiently in the days when the science students in the college were but few and not particularly promising or enthusiastic, and partly because in the last two years the women of America have set themselves to make such dreams come true for the girls of the Orient, and partly because the mind of India is now turning eagerly and hopefully to the modern science which it once viewed with cold dislike and numbers of women students are asking for this knowledge, the great building is now rising for the service of Christ in the search for truth.

Every department of the college shows advance, the attitude of Government is generous, the reports of the University examinations of the candidates for degrees are gratifying. The college is most fortunate in its gifted and scholarly principal, Miss Eleanor McDougall, and in the skill and devotion of an able faculty.

THE TRAINING COLLEGE FOR TEACHERS, MADRAS, INDIA—Hanson's Gardens, once our "Naboth's Vineyard," now the unencumbered property of the Woman's Christian College, Madras, on the borders of its campus, is now the scene of a happy enterprise in which we are grateful to have a share. For two years of hope, often dim and almost extinguished, Miss McDougall and Miss Nora Brockway have placed before the missionary leaders of England and the United States the importance of normal training for our college graduates who are to teach, thus uplifting to high efficiency the secondary schools of India. At last, the consent of four Boards in America and four in England to provide five hundred dollars each annually for five years to develop the undertaking was secured and the laconic, but significant cablegram, "Go ahead," was joyfully received in Madras. The co-operating Societies in the United States are the Woman's Board of Missions, Congregational, that of the Reformed Church in America, the United Lutheran, and, through the splendid gift of a friend, our own Society. The school opened in July, 1923.

The faculty of the Training College consists of Miss Van Doren, whom we know as the author of Lighted to Lighten, Miss Gertrude Chandler of the Madura Mission, Miss Brockway, whose recent visit to this country counted for much in arousing courage and support for the enterprise, Miss Devasahayam, who has the B.A. from Madras and further training in England, together with special lecturers. Twelve students, ten of them boarders, are availing themselves of this new open door into larger efficiency—three are Malayalees, one is European, and seven are Tamilians. Eleven have been students in the Madras College. All but one are Christians. Surely an excellent beginning has been made and soon the space in Hanson's Gardens, one of the most beautiful houses in Madras, with wide pillared verandahs, like the Colonial houses of our own South, will soon be inadequate for the number of students.

Miss Brockway and her associates suggest that the school be named "The St. Christopher Training College," since the story of St. Christopher, who found the Christ by helping a little child, illustrates "just the idea of teaching as a Christian vocation that we want to be at the centre of our work."

The college is now affiliated with Madras University and regarded with favor by Government, which had recognized the need of such a place of training for its teachers.

LOUISE M. NORTH.

Ginling College, Nanking, China

In a college, June is always a time both of endings and of beginnings, but of the last days of June, 1923, this has been especially true at Ginling. They have seen the ending of the pioneer stage of the college life in the beautiful but tumble-down old mansion in which eight years ago it began its career, and from which it has now graduated five classes with a total of forty members, and the beginning of a more mature period in the new buildings for which so many people, both in China and in America, have been planning these last years.

The giving of college diplomas to ten young women such as those in the graduating class of 1923 seemed a glad climax, not only to Commencement week, but to the years of work that had preceded it. All are to become teachers, many of them in the schools from which they came, in widely different parts of China.

The college has graduated forty young women in five classes. They are taking important positions as Christian leaders and workers. One is vice principal of Rulison School in Kiukiang and another is assisting Miss Ethel Thompson in Nanchang. Since the organization of the college and at the present time, our denomination has had a larger number of students in Ginling than any other, and we are consequently reaping larger results. At present our representatives on the faculty are Dr. Cora D. Reeves (Biology) and Miss Flora M. Carncross (English).

It was decided to limit the entering class of 1923 to forty. Sixty-seven took the entrance test; forty of this number were accepted, seventeen were put on the waiting list and ten were rejected. Ten years ago a mission board secretary prophesied that in ten years there would not be twenty-five women in China ready for college. Including the entering class of forty, it was expected that there would be a total registration in September of one hundred students.

How those who have been working for the new buildings would like to see them as they are to-day! The plan as outlined in March, 1922, is nearing completion. Six beautiful buildings are practically finished, their softly colored columns and eaves and curved tile roofs paying tribute to the best in Chinese architecture, and their well-planned interiors making them models in many ways for other school buildings in China.

There is much work to be done in the way of getting settled this summer, and after the moving is finished some of the faculty will stay through July, and the rest will be here during August, to get everything possible in readiness for the new college year. Already we are making plans for the formal opening of the buildings, which probably will take place on October thirty-first.

ELIZABETH R. BENDER.

Yenching College

The college has closed a very good year—its first under the deanship of Mrs. Alice Frame, who succeeded Miss Luella Miner, founder of the college. Miss Miner's loss is deeply felt by faculty and by the student body. The faculty has also been quite reduced by the loss of Miss Lane by marriage, Miss Payne who takes up work under the Chili-Shansi Christian Educational Association, Miss Atterbury who resigned for health reasons, four part time teachers employed on the field who have left the field, and Miss Stahl who is on regular furlough. Over against these losses next year's report will show the addition this fall of a goodly number of recruits, largely, however, short term workers.

An outstanding feature of the year was the arrival of Miss Milam, Dean of the Home Economics Department of Oregon Agricultural College, and Miss Mills, who are to establish a department of Home Economics in the college. While Miss Mills spent the year in language school, Miss Milam devoted her time to an extensive and careful survey of living conditions, of household diets, budgets, customs and life in North, Central and South China, and in the Philippines, working from the various school centers in these sections. Based upon the findings of her observations and a searching questionnaire along these lines, courses have been outlined—certain ones which may be elected in the course leading to a Bachelor's degree, and in a special two years' course for teachers who wish to fit themselves to teach Home Economics.

Two of the elective courses are being offered this fall, six girls being enrolled in each.

Miss Milam made a Christmas gift of five hundred dollars to the college toward a model practice house.

Students are admitted on examination. Eighty-six took the examinations for entrance last year. Twenty-three passed.

Ninety-four students were enrolled. Half of them are preparing to be teachers. Only seventeen of the entire number were non-Christian. Eleven students were from schools of the Society. Four students finished pre-medical work and will continue study in our Union Medical School in Tsinanfu. One student was graduated in June from the School of Theology and seven from the Arts College. Two of these are continuing their studies in America, one at Wellesley and one at Mt. Holyoke. Another student who graduated last January is in extension social service work in connection with one of the industrial work rooms in Tientsin.

Six buildings are under construction on the new site, the Sage Memorial Recitation Building, the Administration Building, the Dean's residence and three dormitories. We look forward to the occupation of the new building at the beginning of the next school year.

The outlook for the college in every particular is most hopeful and satisfactory.

MRS. J. M. AVANN.

Woman's Christian College of Japan

Dr. Reischauer, executive secretary of the college, writes: "Before the end of this year, the college expects to be housed in its new home on its quiet suburban campus. The first set of buildings, consisting of two dormitory quadrangles for two hundred students, dining rooms for the same, and a central kitchen which is ultimately to serve the entire institution, will be finished in the late spring or early summer. Work is beginning on the second set of buildings, which consists of a large classroom building accommodating upwards of four hundred students, an athletic social building, in which will center not only the athletic work but all the extra-curricular activities, and a residence for foreign teachers.

"While none of these buildings is what could be called extravagant, they are to be first-class buildings of reinforced concrete, and to be practically fire-proof. The entire cost will be approximately $375,000. Of this amount the major portion is to come from friends in America, but from $75,000 to $100,000 is to be raised in Japan."

One of our Woman's Foreign Missionary Society's representatives in the college wrote last spring: "There is a large and increasing group of girls who are praying very earnestly and working with all their might to put the Christian spirit into practice everywhere here. The Young Woman's Christian Association is very active and has a growing influence among the faculty as well as among the students, and I feel sure the Christian spirit in the college is stronger now than it has ever been. I am becoming more and more sure that Miss Yasui is doing the best she can to build up a Christian faculty. To help her and to influence our teachers after we get them, we need very strong, earnest, foreign teachers here; and the majority of them must have had experience in Japan too, understand the language, must know their subjects and be highly successful as teachers themselves. We already have some splendid Christian teachers on the faculty—indeed a goodly number of earnest Christians among them. My courage is growing and what we are doing is of permanent influence. Since I have been here I have come to see that this college is a part of Japan herself. It is not an excrescence or a foreign growth on the outside. It is embedded in the flesh itself; it is a part of the flesh. The influences which get started here and the ideas that take root win out simply because of their native worth and the intrinsic worth of the people who advocate them. They are accepted and followed only because they bring real conviction of their truth and value."

It was a pleasure to the members of the Co-operating Committee to have Miss Yasui, the dean of the college, visit America this spring. Miss Yasui has a wonderful history of pioneer work in women's education in Japan and in Siam. In the college paper for March, 1923, occurs this interesting sentence about her: "It is the great good fortune of this college that it is guided during these first years by this Japanese Alice Freeman Palmer, whose beautiful Christian character makes it possible for one of this college's students to write: 'It is enough joy for us to dwell in the motherly presence of Miss Yasui, whose example is always leading us on to better things.'"

A letter received since the earthquake assures us of the safety of all the college students except one, a senior, who was killed at a summer resort on the seashore, and another who was injured, though not fatally, in Yokohama. The college buildings stand safe and strong with no damage more serious than a few cracks in the plaster.

FLORENCE HOOPER.

Union Medical College for Women

There have been twenty-three students this year. Seven were graduated in June, five as physicians, making a total of fifty-seven graduates, and two as technician-pharmacists.

Two members have been added to the faculty, Dr. Waddell of the Presbyterian Board who has given half time on bacteriology, and Dr. Morgan who has been a student of the language.

Dr. Leonard, dean of the school, who was compelled to come to America a year ago because of very serious illness, has been completely, almost miraculously restored, and is returning.

Dr. Bertha Van Housen of Chicago was a visiting professor of gynecology. She not only gave a series of lectures which were helpful to the faculty and students but did a large number of operations, thus relieving the very much depleted staff at Sleeper-Davis Hospital.

Plans for the amalgamation of our school and the men's medical school of Shantung Christian University have been carried forward at the Home Base.

The members of the committee of women for the school have been named by the Presbyterian Board and the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society and these women made members of the Board of Trustees of the University. The committee has not yet organized but is functioning. On the solicitation of the committee, the China Medical Board on July 17, 1923, passed the following resolution:

"Resolved that the sum of $50,000 be and it is hereby appropriated for the purchase of land, construction of building, and equipment for the use of the medical school as described above, on condition that the Woman's Board will contribute the sum of $115,000 for the same purpose."

MRS. J. M. AVANN.

The Missionary Medical School for Women, Vellore, India

For the first time we are sharing in the support of the Missionary Medical School for Women at Vellore, and this fellowship in a Christian service of the noblest type is a source of great satisfaction.

The large contribution from the campaign for the seven women's colleges of Asia which comes to this school, approximately half a million dollars, will soon provide the buildings which will constitute an efficient plant. The return of Dr. Ida Scudder to Vellore after her furlough in America and England called out a great welcome. The India Council is seriously considering a town site and a hill site, with inclination toward the former. An architect, possibly from England, is being selected, and the building project is going enthusiastically forward.

A strong faculty is now developing the school on most adequate lines and Vellore Medical School is already making its contribution to relieve and to prevent the physical suffering which has been so grievous a burden for the womanhood of India. Thus again the healing touch of the Master is upon one of the sore places of the world.

One of our fine Methodist girls, Lois Osborn, sailed with Dr. Ida Scudder for Vellore Medical College in August. She has been secretary of the Young Woman's Christian Association at Cornell University, New York State, and goes to Vellore to have charge of the social and religious life of the students. She and Dr. Hendrick are our representatives in Vellore and a strong bond they make between ourselves and this medical college.

LOUISE M. NORTH.

CHRISTIAN LITERATURE FOR WOMEN AND CHILDREN IN MISSION FIELDS

The new venture announced by the General Executive Committee last year, The Treasure Chest, our magazine for young people in India, has passed from the experimental stage into a position of wide usefulness. It is now a recognized force for the culture of the young people in all India missions wherever English is taught, insuring a large and increasing constituency. So successful has been Miss Ruth Robinson in her editorship that urgent demand reaches us for its publication in several of the vernaculars also. We recognize the need of such editions but because of the limited funds at our disposal we have been unable to grant more than one vernacular. A Marathi edition will appear this year and one in Hindustani is the most pressing need. A gift of $300 would finance such an edition for the young folks in our Christian circles in any one of the languages of this great multi-lingual field. Editors have been found, nothing holds us back save lack of money.

The Woman's Messenger is increasing yearly in power in our great China field. Miss Laura White has a very wee home in Shanghai but it is truly a power station, not only through the magazine but through her training of our gifted young Chinese women in journalism. She reports that she is writing a book on "This Freedom," but of type totally different from the volume which we know under that name. She will give the Christian ideal of women's liberty, so different from the socialistic license with which it is sometimes confounded in the Oriental woman's awakening consciousness.

Happy Childhood carries joy and blessing into an increasing number of homes and schools. We faced a real emergency this year when we learned that our gifted editor, Mrs. McGillivray, was threatened with serious eye trouble, but fortunately we discovered we might have the services of her daughter, who, born in China and educated in this country, is particularly well fitted to understand the needs of the little folks of China.

The enterprise for Latin America still waits patiently. Our hope had been that the edition in Mexico would begin next year, but the transfer of Miss Murray to South America leaves us without our chosen editor. We lack only $3,000 to begin this new magazine.

We have been granting to various enterprises a little less than $4,000 this year, though this project was put before the Boards in 1913. Other pressing interests seem to have come in first, war activities and special needs, culminating with the Union College Campaign. Now the committee feels that it should have the right of way. Consider the call before us. The destruction of the stock of the Bible Society in Tokyo and of the publication offices of the various Boards make a distinct, imperative call to us to grant liberally to the cause of Christian literature in Japan. Will you not enable your committee to function in a manner adequate to the immense opportunity? With such avenues of usefulness before us it is not unreasonable to ask for a budget of at least $10,000. This Society, the largest of any, should make more liberal provision for this branch of service in which we were pioneers through our vernacular Friend in India and our Tokiwa in Japan.

A new project has been brought to our committee. Our world leader, Mrs. H. W. Peabody, has suggested a plan for a world bulletin to be sent to Christian women of all countries. It will be printed in English and will deal with such matters as temperance, world peace, purity of the home, child welfare and world friendship. While financed from sources outside of the limited budget of this committee we are being asked to consider assuming responsibility for the editorial work.

BRANCH ACTIVITIES

The second year of the educational campaign, "Children's Year," has closed. It has been fraught with peculiar problems, a year of unusual and little understood mental processes. Promotional work in our Society has not been easy, progress in spiritual, educational and financial lines not always clearly apparent.

In this period of world adjustment the womanhood of the land has been almost overwhelmed by the demands upon her time and strength which the new day presents. Law enforcement, child welfare work, Americanization activities, the selection of better and more able political leaders, incident upon the suffrage newly acquired, all afford new and engaging methods of self expression.

Temporarily the mind of the American Christian woman seems partially disengaged from the claims of world service. But not for long can this continue. Indifference must soon give way before the fact that the womanhood of the world is looking to her for leadership. From every land eager eyes are turned toward her, wistfully, questioningly. Humble women everywhere are asking how they may find a way out into a larger, wider place, how to throw off the shackles of ignorance and superstition which have so long bound them. And her American sister will find the answer. Today the leaders of women's leagues and clubs are glimpsing the need and asking how relief shall reach these other women and what shall be the channel through which guidance and direction shall be given them. The students in colleges and normal schools and the young people in secondary schools, while feeling the influence of the materialistic and worldly so that they are not easily reached by life service appeals and the challenge of world tasks, nevertheless make answer that is genuine and gratifying when spiritual contacts have been established and openings presented that arrest their thought and demand their personal devotion.

For fifty-four years the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society has laid one hand in a creative way upon the nations of the earth, while with the other she has summoned her own Methodist constituency to larger tasks and wider stretches of faith, leading them forth to greater spiritual victories. This year of stress and conflicting interests, of widespread indifference and irresponsibility, has witnessed similar triumphs and significant achievements. Through it all Jehovah's leadership has been manifest, and as the women in the different departments of the Society have followed, they have been given wisdom and strength to overcome humanly insurmountable obstacles, as by the study of the Word, by intercession and by Christian stewardship they have sought to fulfill the obligations specified under the caption of the "Children's Year."

As we approached the tasks of the year to which the "Trumpet Call" summoned us, "Christ for every child—Every child for Christ," there was a deep conviction of the absolute need of a more vital and effectual prayer life on the part of our entire membership if the childhood of the world was to be won for Him. The need also of a more intimate knowledge of the Word of God on the part of His children was before us. Accordingly it was determined that increased effort should be made to cultivate the devotional life of the constituency. A beautiful booklet, "Hidden Treasures," calling for constant study of the Bible was prepared for the auxiliaries and its wide use encouraged. The League of Intercessors was exhorted to increasing and specific prayer. The reports which come to us of the growing earnestness of the prayer life of the women in the Branches, the development of true intercessors, and the increase in the enrollment of the League are evidences that this, the most important of all of our undertakings, has had the seal of Divine approval. The League of Intercessors now numbers 31,071, a gain of 6,531. Every month Mrs. Gilbert Blatchley, the consecrated editor of the Intercessor's page in the Friend, has presented a list of definite prayer topics and has sounded the note of triumph over answered prayer.

The gain in the department of Christian Stewardship has been most encouraging. Real effort in many of the Branches has resulted in a new and genuine interest in the subject. The program for the coming year calls for the presentation of this topic in every auxiliary.

Founders' Day was widely observed in seven of the Branches and was celebrated to some extent in all. The new feature that marked the day was the birthday gift "in mother's honor," a penny for each year of her life. The processional, when the members of each organization filed past the collection box, made to represent a huge birthday cake, and deposited their love gifts, was an impressive part of the service and financially profitable as well. In several instances the proceeds of the day were sufficient to provide support for fifty-dollar day schools or "little red school houses," as they were called.

The reading course for the year, which included the textbook, Building with India, the Friend, and the passing of an examination on the L-M-Ntary, was exceedingly popular. Reports on the reading course have never been asked for before and so the records are not complete, but in the six Branches reporting there were 1800 graduates. Of this number 772 belonged to Topeka Branch. No record is made of the thousands who read the books but did not take the test which would have entitled them to honors.

Brief recognition only can be given to our immense output of literature, amounting to 61,650,000 pages and requiring 500,000 pounds of paper for printing, all fine in quality and beautiful in form. One Branch reports that many club women in their territory are using it as collateral reading in their study of world conditions. In connection with our literature and the reading course the growth of the interest in summer schools of missions is noteworthy. New ones are springing up so rapidly that our secretary is not able to keep an accurate list of them. One of the new and important developments of the denominational summer school is Camp Wesleyan where the young women of the Church are enthusiastically gathering for days of missionary training.

The work of the Student Department has been arrested by the illness of the secretary, Mrs. St. John. Reports are therefore very incomplete, and slight mention only can be made of the year's development. The importance of this department cannot, however, be overestimated. There are 574 colleges in the United States and 306 normal schools. Entirely apart from our own church schools, one out of every five students enrolled in the schools supported by the State is a Methodist. To these institutions, denominational and state, we must look for the leaders of the future. Here in training are the young people who will represent us on the foreign field in the years to come. In every town or city where there is a college or normal school, there should be a student center committee to make and keep the contact between our Society and the students. That there are 114 such student center committees at the present time is cause for gratitude. Of this number thirty-seven are in Topeka Branch, seventeen in Des Moines Branch, and fifteen in the Philadelphia Branch.

The reports on work with foreign students is gratifying. One Branch that has many within her borders finds the "American students, especially in denominational schools, awake to the importance of the opportunity to show the fellowship that Christianity prompts." One of their student committees writes, "Our foreign students are our chief pride," and goes on to describe the way they are caring for them. In Baltimore Branch a New Year's party brought all of the Chinese students of Baltimore and Washington together for a Chinese repast in the home of the student secretary. Several of these students are direct products of our Methodist schools in China. A tea party in the same home in the spring was attended by representatives of eleven nationalities, some of whom had received their early education in mission schools.

Returns from the Junior Department afford ample proof that we reap results only as we invest effort. Children's Year, with its emphasis upon new organizations and its interesting objectives and appealing devices, has resulted in a net gain of 559 junior organizations. If the auxiliaries and young woman's societies had made a similar increase, or even held their own, our membership gain would have been notable. "Mothers' Conclaves" were held in all but two Branches. This was a period set apart at district and Branch meetings when representatives from auxiliaries and districts that had met the requirements as "ideal mothers" were honored by receiving badges of distinction. In the eight Branches reporting there were 1,003 "ideal mother" auxiliaries, and ninety-two districts that had met "ideal mother" requirements. Cincinnati Branch led with twenty-nine districts; and New England came second with seventeen.

The total receipts for the year are $2,303,225.98, a gain of $62,985.10. The thank offerings, included in this amount, are $443,921, a gain of $10,967. The Interchurch fund amounted to $50,354.52. Of this, over one-third, or $17,291, was given by the New York Branch. Three hundred fifty-two memorial memberships secured a large proportion of the total amount raised for the Retirement Fund, while the 3,000 children's life memberships resulted in the amazing sum of $30,000 brought into the treasury.

The illness of Mrs. Burton St. John, our highly efficient secretary of Student Work, has continued throughout the year and compelled her resignation at the mid-year meeting. The Society will not soon forget Mrs. St. John's devoted service and will continue to pray for her complete recovery. It is hoped that her successor may be named at this meeting.

Mrs. Wilma Rouse Keene, secretary of the Home Base for Columbia River Branch, has felt compelled to give up the duties of her office. She is succeeded by Mrs. Jesse E. Davis of Seattle, Washington, who is known as the mother of two missionary daughters.

In August death claimed one of the early and well beloved members of the Home Department, Mrs. Geo. D. Taylor, the Home Base Secretary of Minneapolis Branch since 1908. For thirty years Mrs. Taylor has poured out her life in unstinted measure in the work of the Society. As an itinerant her heroic endeavor had led her to the remote corners of the Branch. Her unfailing courage and cheerfulness, her faith and her power in prayer had endeared her to a wide circle of friends. Mrs. Taylor is succeeded in office by Mrs. Frank A. Cone of St. Paul, Minnesota.

While the year that is closed will be forever remembered because of the frightful disaster that has befallen our fair sister, Japan, our own land has not escaped calamity. It was just as the Pacific Branch officers were rounding up the work of the year that the great fire in Berkeley, California, occurred, destroying hundreds of beautiful homes in that city. The Heavenly Father was very merciful to our representatives in both instances. The lives of our missionaries in Japan were all spared and all save one of the homes of the Branch and conference officers, several of which were located in Berkeley, escaped the fearful conflagration there. In one instance a change in the direction of the wind stayed the advancing flames just a block from the home of the Branch president.

There have been lesser incidents, of a different nature, interesting and significant enough to be worthy of record did space permit. A few only taken at random can be mentioned.

In Baltimore Branch the D.A.R. chapters are accustomed to give American flags to the outgoing missionaries as parting gifts. One of these flags, floating above a Chinese day school, saved it and its inmates from the bandits; others have protected the homes of missionaries in their hour of need.

The Home Base Secretary of Cincinnati Branch gives the following incident of her visit to the medical work in Pakaur, India, and the result of telling the story here. Having been told that 19,000 treatments had been given the preceding year by a little native doctor in the dispensary which was hardly more than a lean-to and was entirely without equipment, she made inquiry of the doctor herself regarding the work, and was told that the count was 23,000 instead of 19,000. Scarcely crediting the amazing story she asked what proof of it she could have to show the women of America. Whereupon the doctor brought out an account book made of manila paper, kept with wonderful neatness and accuracy, which told the tale. When the secretary returned home, she took this book to the office of one of the great surgeons of the country and related the incident. He looked at the book, then walked around the room looking at the cases which lined his walls, filled with the instruments of his profession, and returning placed both hands upon the little volume and said, "And she had no equipment! Call me up to-morrow morning." The next forenoon over the telephone he said, "Everything is ready to ship, instruments, supplies, and even an operating table."

In the prosaic work of a conference secretary one would not expect thrills, but they are there. Imagine the joy of a worker who went to a church one Sunday morning, expecting nothing, and went away with a fine organization, then in the evening having the same experience repeated. Two new societies in one day! It is as exciting to her as the entrance into a new village is to a missionary, for in the new societies here the Home worker sees the possibilities of the new village day schools there.

The unusual and unexpected in the relation of foreign missions to the advance of Christianity in the home land was found in the recent experience of a Home Base worker and a missionary in a financial campaign.

The bread we have been casting upon the waters through the years is returning, yes, and will return in increasing measure as time goes by.

A young Japanese came to America seeking prosperity and success. From the first fortune smiled upon him and in a few years he began to long for a home and someone to share his wealth. Returning to Japan to seek a wife he met one of our beautiful Kwassui College girls who was teaching at Aoyoma Jo Gakuin in Tokio. Soon he proposed marriage and in the final arrangements it was agreed that he should remain in the faith of his fathers, Buddhism, while she should continue true to her Christ. If children blessed the home the mother should train them as Christians.

Returning to America the young people established themselves in one of the coast cities and the young man became well and favorably known as an importer, the leading Japanese banker and the editor of the leading Japanese paper in the United States. All this time he was a faithful Buddhist. He erected a Buddhist temple and promoted by every means in his power the religion of Buddha.

One day serious illness befell the man. He sent for his physician who urged him to lose no time in settling up his affairs as he could not hope to recover. The husband said to his Christian wife, "Buddhism is good to live by, it is not good to die by. Christianity is good to die by. Send for your pastor!" The pastor came and ministered to the suffering man who was converted. Strangely enough, from that hour he began to mend physically and soon regained his health. On the morning of his return to business he said to his happy companion, "Wife, every one on the Pacific coast has known me as a Buddhist, now every one on the Coast must know me as a Christian."

The sequel? Every morning in every one of the numerous places of business of this Japanese Christian, the employees are gathered for a half-hour of Bible study and prayer before the day's activities begin. The wife has decorated and furnished one of the most beautiful rooms in one of the finest Young Women's Christian Association buildings in America, as a contribution to Christian work in her adopted land. And together they have made the first contribution, a large one, for the new buildings for Kwassui College in Nagasaki.

Commission on Life Service

The question of recruiting for Christian service in the Church is one that touches every department of our Church life; consequently, the Commission on Life Service is constantly increasing its points of contact throughout the Church. Of course, this supervision can only be general in character. It is the aim of the Commission to have every department of the Church become cognizant of the fact that they can receive information from this office concerning preparation necessary for the various lines of service and the types of workers being called for. District superintendents, ministers and church workers in general are learning that they can refer young people to the Commission for information along these lines and for cultivation through the years.

The question of the recruiting program in the colleges throughout the United States is one that has been specifically designated to the Commission on Life Service. This last year sixty-four institutions were visited, teams of three or more members being sent to forty-nine institutions, the others receiving a single representative. The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society had representatives on thirty-eight of these teams. Our college conference program is increasing in efficiency, but we have learned that the success of a conference in any institution is entirely dependent upon the whole-hearted co-operation of the institution itself.

The positive value of the work of the Commission may be stated briefly as follows: first, there is great value in having a single alphabetical list of all Methodist young people looking forward to some form of Christian service. If, at any time, anyone changes her plans her name may be handed from one Board representative to another without delay. Second, there is also in this office a closed-out file which contains a record of all past correspondence with young people whose names have been removed from our active list of possible workers. Third, the co-operation between the Board representatives is working out most satisfactorily. They all feel that there is a great deal of value in this centralized cultivation. Fourth, literature has been printed which gives definite information concerning the work of all the Boards of our Church, also, qualifications and preparation required for these various positions. The Personnel Needs bulletin, published every three months, gives a complete list of openings in the Methodist Church. Fifth, the centralization of advice makes toward an equality of standards of qualifications and preparation throughout the Church. Sixth, the force of unity is felt in many ways. Seventh, many colleges are incorporating a Life Service presentation as a definite part of their religious work program for the year.

Of course, there are many difficulties which have presented themselves in the working out of the program set before the Commission. Although the representative of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society on the staff of the Commission on Life Service is in correspondence with fourteen hundred and ninety-nine young women, we are having far too few applicants for the foreign field. We realize that these young women need very careful personal attention during their years of training, and that cultivation by correspondence alone is entirely inadequate; consequently, the responsibility for vital cultivation goes back to the Branches, and especially to the student workers.

It is the great desire of your representative to help these young women with whom she is in correspondence to find places of service in our Church. It is her desire that the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society shall be able to secure workers necessary to fill the needs. The task is one which needs your prayers and your loving personal assistance. May we co-operate in the quest for workers in His vineyard.

MRS. CLYDE COLLISON,
Representative of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

Because this department cares for the activities of our Society during those years in the life of the individual when the greatest and most radical changes are occurring and when the most important decisions are likely to be made, its work is at once most difficult and most vital. Recorded statistics seem to have little meaning in the light of facts that cannot be recorded. The former have shown discouraging decreases in the two items of membership and money and yet in neither case do they signify actual losses to our general work. Three factors have especially contributed to these apparent losses, viz., the transfer of the Wesleyan Service Guild from this department to the senior department, the promotion of a large number of strong Young Woman's Foreign Missionary Society organizations to auxiliary societies, and the diverting, to the Board of Foreign Missions, of funds formerly paid by Epworth Leagues and organized Sunday school classes through this Society.

The total number of organizations is 3,588 with a membership of 76,319. Subscribers to the Woman's Friend total 6,187 and to the Junior Friend 1,935. Eight thousand two hundred and forty-five tithers, an increase over last year of 1,186, have been reported, and 471 more organizations used the text book, making a total of 2,003. Thirty-one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five mite boxes were used. The amount given for the thank offering object, the administration building of Aoyama Jo Gakuin, was $39,778.60. The total amount contributed through this department was $200,690.13, a per capita giving of $2.67.

Des Moines and Columbia River Branches gained in number of subscribers to the Friend, and Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Minneapolis, Pacific and Columbia River Branches gained in subscribers to the Junior Friend.

The largest per cent of increase in number of mite boxes in use, thirty-nine per cent, was made by Columbia River Branch, which also has the largest per cent of increase in tithers, also thirty-nine per cent. Des Moines had a twenty-two per cent increase in number of mite boxes in use.

Thirty per cent of the societies of Pacific Branch reached Class A in the Standard of Efficiency and thirteen per cent in Topeka Branch made this goal. The twenty-five-dollar award for the largest per cent of organizations in Class A was won, therefore, by Pacific Branch. Not all Branches reported this item. The five-dollar prize for the greatest number of practical ideas for missionary good times was won by the organization at Lancaster, N. H., Miss Eva L. White, counselor. The ten-dollar prize for the best collection of programs and devices used in the Branch was awarded to Northwestern Branch.

Among the leaders in this department, the year has been marked by much hard work in preparation for Young People's Year. The results are seen in the lantern lecture, "Girlhood Everywhere," the Poster Record, the "Blue Print," the "Girlhood Impersonations," the beautiful recruiting leaflet and the decoration to be given to women belonging to "Daughter Blessed" auxiliaries.

The Standard of Excellence has been carefully revised and all Branches are being urged to use it as a means of unifying and standardizing the work of the department.

From every Branch there come expressions of great enthusiasm for Young People's Year. Our splendid publisher has put our plans into most attractive form and to her is due our deepest gratitude for her generous expenditure of time, thought and money. We are also deeply grateful for the loyal, loving interest of the Home and Foreign Departments, and request your constant prayers that we may lead the youth of American Methodism to labor for the fulfillment of their motto, "Make Jesus King."

The emphasis placed on the work of our department during this Children's Year has made it possible for us to bring in a report far exceeding our fondest expectations. There has never been a time in our history when the auxiliaries have been so impressed with the importance of the work and have demonstrated so beautifully the rare qualities of real "missionary motherhood." We could speak at great length of this fine co-operation, manifested in so many churches, while the half cannot be told of the enthusiastic devotion of consecrated leaders and their energetic boys and girls.

MEMBERSHIP—We report 3,611 King's Heralds Bands, with a membership of 82,802; 3,283 Little Light Bearers Circles with a membership of 84,270; total membership 167,072, a gain of 9,126. The Philadelphia Branch claims the largest Band and Circle for the Heralds of Pitcairn, Pa., numbering one hundred and eighty, and the Little Light Bearers of Greensburg have four hundred and fifty with a combined membership in that church of five hundred and ten.

LIFE MEMBERS—Our great aim this year was to present a record-breaking list of life members. We have attained that "high eminence" and are proud to present the names of 3,207 boys and girls and babies thus honored, a gain of 1,475 over last year's report. The good "Auxiliary Mother" has no doubt helped to make this possible, but it must not be forgotten that in many cases the children have earned their own memberships. Esther Fox, Minburn, Iowa, Des Moines Branch, raised chickens to sell that she might make her playmate a life member. Pasadena District, Pacific Branch, reporting the largest number of new life members, seventy-five, has earned the right to be called the "Star District" and receives the banner. McKeesport District, Philadelphia Branch, is a close second with seventy-four. The Chinese costume, offered to the church securing the most life members since the Jubilee Year, goes to Hamline Church, St. Paul, Minneapolis Branch, reporting sixty-five. A Chinese costume was also offered to the Band with the most new life members this year. Franklin, Pa., and Orange, Calif., each report twenty-two. Another costume will soon be on the way from Peking in order that both may receive the promised award. The Little Light Bearers of Somerville, Mass., New England Branch, have twenty-four new life members and will receive the Chinese baby outfit. Des Moines Branch has by far the largest number of life members in proportion to organizations. Her Bands and Circles number 551, life members 548. Columbia River is next with 191 organizations and 110 life members.

JUNIOR FRIEND—Only four Branches made gains in Junior Friend subscriptions and we regret to report a loss of 3,457. This valuable little magazine must be read by our Juniors if we expect them to become intelligent missionary workers. Our list of subscribers totals 62,162. The Heralds number more than 80,000. We call again upon the "Auxiliary Mother" for assistance. The Junior Friend must keep up with the growth in membership. We hope to change those figures next year. Topeka Branch made a splendid gain of 618 but Baltimore receives the publisher's banner as it was to be given to the Branch making the greatest gain in proportion to number of Junior organizations. Baltimore's gain was one hundred and ninety-nine. Her Bands and Circles number one hundred and thirty-eight. Weston, Mass., reports the largest number of subscriptions, two hundred and forty.

THANK OFFERING—The Red School Houses, the Blackboard Cards and the splendid demonstrations prepared by Mrs. Hurst have helped us to gather in the fine thank offering of $20,314. Pacific Branch reported the largest number of offerings in proportion to organizations and will have the privilege of naming the kindergarten in Puebla, Mexico. Philadelphia Branch is to name the children's infirmary in Algiers as they have the largest thank offering in proportion to organizations. Fort Branch, Ind., Heralds are credited with the largest offering, one hundred sixty-nine dollars. The Circle reporting the largest offering is at Greensburg, Pa., one hundred and twenty-five dollars.

WORLD SAVING SERVICE ROLL—The silk Christian flag, offered to the conference having the largest number on the Service Roll, goes to the Indiana Conference, reporting two hundred thirty-six. Hundreds of children in every Branch have earned their stamps by effort and self-denial for the requirements are not easily met even when one "has a mind to work."

LIBRARY SERVICE—Partial reports from the Branches show that about 2,000 books have been sent to the field by the Juniors. Many Bands have taken up the work with enthusiasm and have sent a full quota of 100 books. Mrs. Herben has made the work most attractive with the charts and name books, and the work will continue with increasing interest.

HONORABLE MENTION—Nearly every Branch reported the names of two champions, that is the boy and girl who were reported as doing very exceptional work. These names will be published in the Junior Friend. Marian Wilbur, Northwestern Branch, should be mentioned. She secured sixty-six members and fifty-one are new subscribers in addition to other achievements LeVeta Lehn, Topeka Branch, secured thirty new members and three Standard Bearer members. In the long list of her "golden deeds" we find this item: "She answered correctly fifty questions in the LMNtary in an auxiliary meeting." The Heralds and Light Bearers of Orange, Calif., have the largest financial report received, five hundred and four dollars. It is not surprising with the foregoing facts and figures that the Junior Department has the largest sum to place in the treasury recorded in her annuals, $112,010. Fifty-three missionaries and many scholarships are supported by the children.

MEMORIAL MEMBERSHIPS—Seventy Junior memorial memberships have been reported. This idea is comparatively new in our department, but is increasing in popularity.

It is a matter of great regret that, because of ill health, two of our most faithful and efficient superintendents must give up their work, Mrs. Ina Wilhelm Campbell, Philadelphia Branch, and Mrs. Lula M. Firey, Pacific Branch. These dear women have given long periods of devoted service to the Junior Department and have watched its development almost from the beginning of organized children's work. They will be greatly missed. We welcome in their places Mrs. Albert Brown, McKeesport, Pa., and Mrs. James Ferris, Los Angeles.

During the war, our government inaugurated a Children's Year which proved a great success. The year thereafter they planned a Follow-Up Campaign which brought even greater results. Shall we not keep this in mind and press on to higher and better things in this department? The call comes to us as it did to that mother on the banks of the Nile so many years ago, "Take this child and nurse it for me, and I will give thee thy wages."

EMILIE C. HAVIGHURST, Secretary of the Junior Department.

GERMAN WORK

Our German work in the United States shows a slight increase in receipts despite a decrease in membership. Just half of the ten Conferences have an increase, the two smallest taking the lead with sixty per cent and twenty-five per cent respectively. The largest show the biggest decrease. Our membership in the United States is twenty-one less than last year. As our churches merge into the English work, this is only an apparent loss.

We are now receiving quite an influx of people from Germany and would have many more coming here if the traveling expenses were not out of the question for the people. Only those can come whose fare is paid by friends on this side. That is done by many of our churches and in one I found fifteen young people who had come over within a year, all of them members of our Church. We see by this that it would not be wise to give up the German preaching and the use of the German language in our churches too quickly.

The interest for the work of our Society is very lively and is rather on the increase. Besides contributions to the foreign work, the people send a great many packages of food and clothing to Germany. Money is also sent very frequently to friends and for Bishop Nuelson's relief work. The need is so great that our women deny themselves constantly in order to be able to help their kindred over the seas. This activity is making their hearts tender towards all suffering and our receipts show that they have not neglected the work for those sisters that are in the darkness of sin.

We have in the United States 304 auxiliaries with a membership of 9,650, 119 young people's organizations with 3,190 members, and 217 children's organizations with 4,615 members, a total of 640 organizations with 17,455 members. That is a decrease of 21 members. These contributed $58,419.55, an increase of $67.90. Our thank offering amounts to $10,435.62, which is $116.59 less than last year.

It was my privilege to go to Europe in May to meet with the officers of our five conferences there. It was a pleasure to meet these fine women who are so greatly interested in this work. At four ministerial conferences I had the opportunity to address the ministers as well as the laymen's associations and large meetings of men and women. I traveled extensively in the conferences showing the growth of our work with the help of the slides that the Northwestern Branch gives us and they were enthusiastically received and will go on their mission of enlightenment, not only through our secretaries, but through the ministers themselves, who are anxious to borrow them. Since coming home I received word that a number of new organizations have been the result.

Though the German mark is quite worthless and there may not be any large financial results at present, there is going to be a powerful work of intercession done at the weekly meetings of the women of our churches. The effects are even now noticed by their representatives on the mission field. Our young women would like to enter the foreign service in large numbers, if circumstances would not make this quite impossible in most cases.

Switzerland is going forward. The receipts there were $1,028.57, an increase of $54.08 over last year. A large part of this is given for support of orphans in the school where a missionary from Switzerland works. No doubt her visit home this year will create even more enthusiasm. There are several prospective candidates from there in this country learning the language and preparing for mission work. Others wish to come when the way opens.

South Germany has fifty-eight organizations with 1,146 members whose contributions amounted to M. 10,068, which sum includes the collections taken during my itinerary. This does not mean that I asked for collections,—the people simply would not have a meeting without one.

North Germany has at least ten organizations, but the membership is not reported this year. The contributions were M. 5,508.

Austria has seven organizations in its eight stations with 117 members who gave Kronen 1,461. The work here is very hopeful and as it grows, now that the ban is removed and our Church is permitted to worship openly, the new stations will take up this work of women for women.

The same is true of Hungary where we have four organizations with seventy members who contributed the equivalent of one dollar.

We are greatly encouraged about the outlook of the work in Europe. When conditions change, we shall soon see results. We have about twenty Bible women, or Church deaconesses, at work in the large industrial cities who are a great blessing to the churches and the poor people. This work is supported by the German speaking conferences in this country through appropriations of our Society. Our ministers everywhere expressed their thanks for this great assistance in their difficult tasks. We were also allowed to use part of the relief money granted to us, in advance, and it helped to prevent some of our institutions from closing their doors. For this also I was asked to convey the thanks of the Church to the people and the Society here.

The distress in Germany is so great that I am asking for an increased sum of money for famine conditions. Our German people here are doing what they can, but when millions of people are involved help must come in a larger way. Many that have been helped materially have also been rescued from their sins and our churches are crowded in many places, so that new ones must be built. Will you not pray for these terribly afflicted people who are also His children and who He has included in the "least of these."

A. M. ACHARD, Secretary of German Work.

SWEDISH WORK

This year's report for our Swedish work represents an advance upon our last year's report, and for that matter all previous reports, in all branches of our activities. Our Swedish work has never retrograded, and though we may not have made any spectacular increases in anything, we have always been on the forward march and made some advance upon the former year's record. This is true this year also.

We have in the six Swedish-speaking conferences in the United States 132 organizations and a total membership of 5,476. This is a small increase over last year and comes chiefly from the young people's work. The total remittance for the year for the six conferences is $14,586.05. This is an increase of fourteen and nine-tenths per cent.

Our Society has had a page every other week in Sandebudet, the Swedish Church paper, which has been edited by Miss Ruth Gordon.

Miss Winnie Gabrielson, one of our missionaries in India and now home on furlough, was kindly loaned to us by the Topeka Branch that she might travel throughout our connection and she has been busy conducting rallies and institutes and has rendered a great service for our Society.

This year the immigration from Sweden to the United States has been unusually large. The immigration quotas (about 24,000 a year) have been filled early in the fiscal year. This large number of newcomers to our country has increased our opportunities and responsibilities as a bilingual church. Our churches are endeavoring to reach these people and in many places are succeeding well.

In Sweden our Society has held the ground firmly and also made some headway. There are 105 auxiliaries reported this year and a total membership of 5,334. They have raised for missionary purposes 23,129 crowns. A returned missionary, Miss Anna Lindblad, has rendered excellent service by itinerating for our cause among the churches. We have a section in a missionary paper, Missions Tidningen, which is edited by Mrs. L. Lindstrom. A number of Bible women and scholarships are supported by our women in Sweden.

Our little conference in Finland reports 13 auxiliaries this year, one more than last year, and a total membership of 835. These women have raised during the year 16,212 Marks. The Finland society is this year sending out their first missionary, Miss Emily Cooper, who is training in Boston for service as a medical missionary. Sending a first missionary is an event in any society. Because of the low rate of exchange half the amount which the women in Finland raised during the year was used to defray Miss Cooper's traveling expenses to America.

The total number of members in our Swedish auxiliaries is: auxiliaries, 250; members, 10,630, an increase of three per cent; remittances, $21,198, an increase of ten and six tenths per cent.

MRS. EDWIN S. DAHL, Secretary of Swedish Work.

WESLEYAN SERVICE GUILD

The Wesleyan Service Guild ended the year May 31, 1923, with a membership increase of thirty-six per cent—and this without any promotional work, for the Guild was formally adopted as the official organization of the Woman's Foreign and Woman's Home Missionary Societies for business and professional women in May, 1923. The report showed units extending from Massachusetts to Oklahoma, twenty-two in number, with a membership of five hundred and fourteen. Each member paid double dues, $2.50, of which $1.15 went through the regular channels of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, $1.15 through the regular channels of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, ten cents to the Central Committee of the Guild for contingent, and ten cents was retained by the local unit. Besides the dues, the twenty-two units contributed in pledges and gifts to the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society $1,286.26. The per capita contribution of the Guild to both Societies, including dues, was $7.13. Of the 514 members, 91 are tithers.

Each unit has at least one meeting a month, with the possible exception of the summer months, and is studying the missionary program in our own and other lands. The regular Foreign and Home study books are used, and the missionary organs of the two Societies are read by many members.

At present the special foreign project is the Social Center in Tokyo which the Guild is anxious to help rebuild and refurnish.

MARION L. NORRIS, Secretary.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY FRIEND

There seems to be a feeling, as one writes reports year after year, that there is nothing new to be said. Especially is this true of the Friend. Every year we issue twelve numbers and every twelve months the pages total the same. Every year we print the list of missionary addresses three times, and every year a greater or smaller number of women write to know the address of some missionary. Twelve times a year we print, "Send all subscriptions to the publisher," and every month some women send them to the editor. Some even write to the editor for mite boxes, while the demand for information on all subjects even distantly related to missions is appalling. I often wonder if any one woman can know the answers to all the questions that are asked, or even know where to find the information.

Every year we print at least one article from nearly every country in which we have work. Usually there is one which has not been heard from—and now for two years this has been Burma. Our total number of articles, not including brief letters and articles in "Far Countries" and "Overseas Mail," nor in the regular departments, is one hundred twenty-two, of which twenty-six concern Home Base matters and ninety-six the foreign field. India leads the list, as was fitting in India Year.

We began the year with the same department editors as last year, with the exception of the young people's page, which Mrs. Van Sant took over when she became secretary of young people's work. Certainly everyone has enjoyed her page. During the year Mrs. Helen A. Birdsall, for many years editor of the Pacific Branch Quarterly, heard the voice of her Master, calling her to lay down her pen and undertake higher service in the land above. Gladly she left her work here for that which is far better, and a substitute has completed her year.

In Branch Circles has supplanted the Branch Quarterlies, and the title has met with general favor. We have had a new set of headings for the departments, and have tried to make our covers varied and interesting.

The Magazine Fund continues to function as a part of the work of the Friend, though the details are handled outside my office. About four hundred dollars has passed through my hands this year, in magazine subscriptions for missionaries, and many other magazines are sent of which we have no record.

We have tried very hard to make the Friend indispensable to our workers. In our endeavor to accomplish this we gave the juniors additional space during the whole of Children's Year and made the issue for October, 1922, a special one for them. We have had a column of material from the Wesleyan Service Guild. We have printed all sorts of helps for the year's work. In short, as has been said, we have tried our best to make the Friend indispensable to our members. How well we have succeeded let our subscription list tell, if its indications can be believed. We have lost 5,856 subscribers during the year.

The best advice that I can give in this situation is gleaned in part from roadside signs. Drain the old, wornout oil from your crank cases and put in a generous supply of new Speed Oil. Fill up your tanks with Go Gas. Do not depend on self-starters, but crank up vigorously. Then step on the accelerator, ignore speed limits and whiz on to victory over the subscription route!

EFFIE A. MERRILL, Editor.

JUNIOR MISSIONARY FRIEND

Twelve numbers of the Junior Missionary Friend have been published during this year. An effort has been made to present to our Juniors stirring incidents from our foreign fields, stories about children in various parts of the world, and illustrated articles which will bring vividly to their minds characteristic scenes and customs, thus making the boys and girls of our land acquainted with the life of their brothers and sisters of other races.

The study book and L-M-Ntary were discussed and questions presented. So far as possible, these were accompanied by appropriate articles and stories.

The generous collaboration of Mrs. Florence Scott Hurst, who contributed helpful thank offering and Light Bearers' plays, as well as caring for the reports received from the King's Heralds and Little Light Bearers Bands, a work requiring much work and time, has been deeply appreciated.

From many sections have come words of commendation for the Mystery Questions, provided by Mrs. R. E. Clark of Chicago. The Juniors are enthusiastic in their search for answers.

What of the future of the Junior Missionary Friend? On our part, we will endeavor to increase its value and make it more attractive and informative. Is it not the task of the women in our auxiliaries to devise some plan by which this paper, devoted to the interests of our mission work, shall be placed in the hands of every boy and girl in our Sunday schools between the ages of ten to thirteen years, so that they may be educated as "little missionaries?" By this means, missionary interest will be aroused which will make the youth of to-day ready in coming years to step forward into the ranks of the army of our Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

FELICIA BUTTZ CLARK, Editor.

THE FRAUEN MISSIONS FREUND

Our German paper has been carried on as usual. During the absence of the editor, Miss Marie Grentzenberg, of Cincinnati, took over the work. Her father had been an editor for many years and with his help she was able to do the work to the satisfaction of the readers. We are losing subscribers from year to year, but we are gaining them for the Woman's Missionary Friend. In Germany the few copies that were sent out were read by a large circle of people and we are glad that this coming year every pastor is to receive one for use in the women's societies. The price is forbidding since it was one hundred million marks for the year and has increased greatly even in the last few weeks. One year ago it cost eight hundred marks, which shows how the money has depreciated.

That our thank offering was nearly as large as last year shows that the Freund is read and heeded. We had many letters telling us of the interest the traveling letters are creating. As we are not printing any German literature now, except the annual report and the Freund, this is the only help our members get in that language for their programs.

Our missionaries keep in touch with their constituencies by writing for the Freund and we are glad it is a vital part of the success of the work. We have 3,199 subscribers and 2,249 to the Woman's Missionary Friend and 1,683 to the Junior Missionary Friend. That is one periodical to each two and one-half adults, including the Standard Bearers, and one Junior Friend for each two members of the children's organizations. That is not a very discouraging state of affairs. In my own home auxiliary the members pay individually for enough Junior Friends to supply the paper to each child in the King's Heralds Band. These children are largely children of non-members of the Church.

Our women usually pass their copies on for others to read so the readers are not to be counted as the subscribers. May the message continue to arouse the interest in the work in non-Christian lands so that more prayers will arise and more gifts will pour into the treasury until every knee shall bow before the only true God and acknowledge Him King.

PUBLICATION OFFICE

The diversified activities of the Publication Office make it difficult to embody a year's report in a few words. An incoming mail of about seventy-five thousand letters and postals naturally brings questions to answer, many requests for information and advice, as well as orders for subscriptions and literature. The end of the year is merely a time to turn a new page and yet the last day of September has a peculiar significance as we cast up the accounts and see whether or not the balance is on the right side.

We have a pride, which we hope you share, in the record of self support which the office has maintained from the beginning. And so this year we may be justly gratified that the total receipts of $108,965.72 are more than $5,000 in excess of the expenditures. It requires many accounts in a business dealing in a sixty cent magazine and three and five cent leaflets to total one hundred nine thousand dollars.

But the real function of the Publication Office is to create missionary interest by increasing missionary knowledge through the dissemination of missionary information. For this reason it is disturbing to find that the number of subscribers to our magazine is less than a year ago. Whatever reason or explanation for this fact may be given, it is none the less true that, with each subscriber lost, the work of the Society as a whole receives that much more of a handicap to progress. Because an informed constituency is so vitally important, we urge upon everyone the necessity of extending the use and usefulness of our publications in every possible way. We have heard it said that the triangle is the basis of strength in engineering construction. May we not also consider a triangle fundamental to the strength of our missionary activities, a triangle the sides of which shall be Intercession and Stewardship—stewardship of time and talents—and the base, Information.

Such a triangle of consecrated virtues would most certainly enable the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society to strengthen its stakes and lengthen its lines. Therefore let us give heed to these things and be not indifferent, expanding our faith and adding to it knowledge.

ANNIE G. BAILEY, Publisher.

THE CENTRAL COMMITTEE ON THE UNITED STUDY OF FOREIGN MISSIONS

The Central Committee on the United Study of Foreign Missions sends its annual greeting to the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church and has asked your representative to express to you its sincere appreciation of your loyalty to the united study plan, now in its twenty-fourth year, and your generous support of the work of the committee.

Of the 122,000 copies of Dr. Fleming's Building with India printed, over 75,000 copies were sent out by the Central Committee, and of these your share was 25,513. Of the 33,000 copies of Miss Van Doren's Lighted to Lighten issued, 6275 came to you. Nearly five hundred of your children gathered the flowers of The Child's Garden of Verse.

As the Japan year is now at its outset only partial figures are available, but already our Society has secured over twenty thousand copies of Creative Forces in Japan, by Mr. Galen M. Fisher, nearly five thousand copies of Woman and the Leaven in Japan, by Miss Charlotte DeForest, and thirty-two hundred copies of that unique book for children, The Honorable Japanese Fan, by Miss Margaret Applegarth.

Excellent as these figures are, which indicate that approximately one-fourth of the editions of these books come into the hands of our Society, let us not forget that in that happy day when every member owns a text-book we may multiply these figures by ten and feel our whole task lifted by the inspiration which mission study brings.

For many years the Central Committee has been impressed with the Providential leading in the choice of a subject for study. In 1911 the Committee was diverted from a theme already chosen to the study of China, and, before the book was issued, China had surprised the world by becoming a republic. Last year's subject, India, was fixed long before the new nationalist movement made the study peculiarly timely. And now, when we are opening our new books on Japan, the greatest disaster in Japan's history and in the history of Protestant missions in the Far East gives a new eagerness and importance to our consideration of this brave and afflicted nation.

Our text-books, Creative Forces in Japan, and Woman and the Leaven in Japan, are written by those whose long residence in that land has made them thoroughly appreciative of its problems and possibilities and genuinely sympathetic with its people. We dare to believe that this year's study will not only give added impetus to our missionary endeavor, but also strengthen in us those qualities of "the international mind" which make for world friendship and world peace. "Wanted—a Woman's Hand" is the significant title of one of our leaflets, written half a century ago by the first president of the New York Branch of our Society, Mrs. Stephen Olin—the woman's hand which takes the leaven and places it in the three measures of meal till the whole is leavened. May this appeal of long ago—"Wanted—a Woman's Hand"—be in our thoughts, as this year we study the workings of the Leaven in Japan!

In 1924-1925, when our theme will be the great Republic of China, the book for intensive study in classes will come from the pen of Dr. Lucius C. Porter of Peking University, who has chosen the tentative title, Thinking Ahead with Young China—a book sure to be both brilliant and profound. This will be published by the Missionary Education Movement. Is there not need of a revival of such classes for the more serious study of the great nations of the world?

The special woman's book on China is being written on the spot by Mrs. Frank D. Gamewell—a composite picture of the mission station, with all its varied lines of service from the days of the pioneers to the present time. Our children's book will have a similar theme, suited to the age of twelve years, and this is being prepared and taught by Mrs. Henry H. Meyer. For the very little people there will be stories about China.

The Missionary Education Movement will add to the series a book for the ages between fifteen and eighteen years, China's Real Revolution, by Paul Hutchinson. It is pleasant to note that three of the four authors selected by these interdenominational committees to prepare the books on China belong to the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Mrs. William A. Montgomery, in preparing for our use in 1925-1926 the long anticipated book on Prayer and Missions, asks our members and our missionaries to send her instances and stories on this theme:

Everyland, that very attractive waif among the magazines, having been taken under the care of the Central Committee when in need of shelter, will be maintained for the coming year, but unless the constituencies of the Boards and Societies give it more generous support, it will then die, greatly mourned by many children.

Mrs. Mary Labaree Platt, author of The Child in the Midst and The Home with the Open Door, has now written a little volume, entitled The Heart with the Open Door, which the Central Committee will publish at once, in the assurance that every missionary Board will wish to place it in the hands of the young women who are its candidates for foreign service, both for the practical and inspirational value of the book.

While we agree with the author of Ecclesiastes that of making many books there is no end, we again express our confidence that much study of missions is not a weariness of the flesh, but ever the opening of new vistas into life and the gaining of new visions of Christ, as He is seeking and saving a lost world.

LOUISE M. NORTH,
Representative of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

GENERAL OFFICE

Few offices are more interesting than this central office of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society. There is never monotony. The postman and the Western Union messenger bring news almost hourly from around the world. To respond promptly to a call for books to be used at the opening of the next term in Seoul or Montevideo, to reach a mother with news of a daughter's recovery after a critical operation, or a secretary with a message needing immediate attention are our tasks.

General Office received many missionaries and officers after the meeting in Baltimore and on one day had seventeen missionaries sailing from four piers in New York to take up work in Argentina, Uruguay, Peru, Rome, India. To have these young women from ten states acquainted with requirements for passport and permits to enter British territory, for educational and health certificates to be vised for some South American countries required weeks of correspondence. To advise as to a multitude of needs—physical, mental, social, spiritual—and see the advice taken by our young missionaries as with high hopes or homesick hearts they really start on the great adventure calls out one's best. There were weeks of comparative quiet when files were brought up to date, accounts reviewed, reports studied.

Then came September first and the news of the Japan disaster. At such a time General Office in any case becomes a very active central bureau of information and since the secretary of General Office had lived eleven years in the stricken cities, she had experience and contacts that increased the possibility of service at this time. To her desk came many anxious inquiries from friends and relatives, and it was a glad moment when the cablegram from Bishop Welch arrived, "All safe," and telegrams could be sent to waiting families and letters to many friends.

AMY G. LEWIS, Secretary.

LIBRARY SERVICE

Power, expressed in a new form of action, is represented by the LIBRARY SERVICE, which has as its aim:—that the works of God may be made manifest; that learning may be advanced; that world-friendliness may be maintained.

The record of a single year is merely a glimpse so far as history making is concerned, but within the brief period of three and one-half years since the LIBRARY SERVICE was called into being, one can discover a decided change in book matters which challenges the thoughtful to even more profound consideration. After consultations with book publishers, advertising managers, editors of book trade journals and reviewers, who feel the pulse of the reading public with as keen discernment as a physician with his finger on the wrist of his patient, one fact stands out with startling clarity: a publisher, representing literally millions of readers, said, within a week, "It is perfectly clear that we are on the edge of a condition hitherto unequalled in the book selling business. The best seller is always of vast interest to all book publishers as it helps to give the pulse of the reading public."

Last year, H. G. Wells and Van Loon easily led with their histories, but this year it is the Life of Christ that the public demands. It is back to the Book!

What does it mean that a converted Italian atheist pours out his impassioned nature in a "Life of Christ," as he sees it, and the sale of books leaps into millions? What does it mean that Beecher's "Life of Christ," incomparably fine in its diction and reverence, is again in demand? What does it mean that a great Chicago daily prints parallel columns of the Bible in various versions, a newspaper record never heard of before? What does it mean that reverent scholars like Drs. Goodspeed, Moulton, and a dozen others, after long years of theological research, bring into dignified modern speech the very thoughts that arrest the mind and give new value to the messages age old? It is the Life of Christ that is needed! It is "back to the Book" that marks the new trend of thought! Let us rejoice and take new courage.

At this strategic point in world thinking, the greatest woman's religious denominational organization undertakes its unique work. Through its LIBRARY SERVICE it has begun a movement of books hitherto unknown. Reports from various Branches tell of many boxes of books sent to our missionaries; of hundreds of parcels containing a few books, and, better still, of other hundreds who, as "Book Friends," have pledged themselves to send two books each year, continuously. We shall never know the full report. It is better that we do know that thousands care, and are sharing their choicest treasures.

During 1924 the Young People will be provided with the Blue Book "AS." The birthdays of missionaries are given and "Book Friends" are sought whose birthdays coincide or whose family name initial letter is the same. Shall we help our young people to discover that the personal contacts established by this simple plan are vital, and of increasing interest?

There is another service that must be undertaken on the firm foundation of permanency if books of known value are to be placed for widest use in our educational institutions. Wherever a college or secondary school is maintained under the auspices of the Society there a library is needed, and annual accessions must be provided, as higher sources of happier, nobler, more abundant life.

It is ours to accumulate knowledge in the form of books and furnish vast stores for our missionaries to organize into service where their work touches life at all points of human relationships. It is ours to make Jesus Christ known through the books which can reach beyond the spoken word, and can stay till the light of life shines through the pages, and one soul after another shall "see the Christ stand;" this is the purpose of LIBRARY SERVICE. To achieve this alone can be true success.

GRACE FOSTER HERBEN, Director.

NOTE: The apparent discrepancy between the total here given and the amount reported elsewhere, as the result of an analysis of Branch figures, is explained by the fact that the General Treasurer's figures given above are based on payments actually made to her by Branches, while Branch figures are based on appropriations set aside but in some cases not yet paid over.

The General Treasurer also reports in addition to 1923 appropriations, 1922 appropriations received by her after the close of the fiscal year, 1922.

FLORENCE HOOPER, Treasurer.

4. The funds of the Society shall not be raised by collections or subscriptions taken during any of our regular Church services, nor in any Sunday school, but shall be raised by such methods as the Constitution of the Society shall provide, none of which shall interfere with the contributions of our people and Sunday schools for the treasury of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and the amount so collected shall be reported by the pastor to the Annual Conference, and be entered in a column among the benevolent collections in the Annual and General Minutes.

5. Section 4 of this article shall not be so interpreted as to prevent the women from taking collections in meetings convened in the interests of their societies, nor from securing memberships and life memberships in audiences where their work is represented, nor from holding festivals or arranging lectures in the interests of their work.

ARTICLE X—CHANGE OF CONSTITUTION

This constitution may be changed at any annual meeting of the General Executive Committee by a three-fourths vote of those present and voting, notice of the proposed change having been given at the previous annual meeting; but Article IX shall not be changed except with the concurrence of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

In case the vote is not unanimous the matter shall be referred by the Recording Secretary to the Home and Foreign Departments, voting separately, a three-fourths vote in each department, exclusive of the officers, being necessary to pass a measure. No vote of the General Officers taken ad interim shall be binding or legal unless the request for such vote shall have been sent out by the Recording Secretary of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society (or, in case of her disability, by the President) and until the vote itself shall have been declared by said Secretary after examination of the votes returned; (d) the Vice-President who is the senior in office shall perform the duties of the President in case of the disability or death of the President.

In case the vote is not unanimous the matter shall be referred by the Recording Secretary to the Home and Foreign Departments, voting separately, a three-fourths vote in each department, exclusive of the officers, being necessary to pass a measure. No vote of the General Officers taken ad interim shall be binding or legal unless the request for such vote shall have been sent out by the Recording Secretary of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society (or, in case of her disability,

MISCELLANY

POSTAGE TO FOREIGN LANDS

The rate of postage to Mexico is the same as in the United States. To all other points where our missionaries are stationed letters weighing an ounce are five cents for the first ounce, three cents for additional ounce or fraction thereof. Newspapers, one cent for each two ounces; all printed matter the same as in the United States; postal cards, two cents. Foreign postal cards may be procured at any postoffice. All foreign postage must be fully prepaid.

Parcel Post packages must not weigh over eleven pounds, except to steamer-served places in China, where twenty pounds are allowed. The rate to all foreign countries is 12 cents per pound, except to India where it is as follows: 24 cents for four pounds, 48 cents for eight pounds and 72 cents for eleven pounds. Packages valued at less than $5.00 will have no duty charged on them except in India where duty is eleven per cent on package worth one dollar.

FOREIGN MONEY

India—A pice is one-fourth of an anna, or about two-thirds of a cent. An anna is worth one-sixteenth of a rupee. The rupee varies in value and is worth about 33 cents.

Korea and Japan—A yen, whether in gold or silver, is one-half the value of the gold and silver dollar in the United States. There are one hundred sen in the yen.

China—A cash is one mill. The tael is worth in gold about $1.15. The Mexican dollar is also used in China, but varies in value; it averages, however, about one-half the value of the United States gold or silver dollar.

MEMBERSHIPS

The payment of one dollar a year or two cents a week constitutes membership in the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

The payment of twenty dollars specifically for that purpose constitutes life membership.

The payment of fifty dollars constitutes memorial membership, the money to be given to the Retirement Fund.

The payment of one hundred dollars constitutes an honorary life manager.

The payment of three hundred dollars constitutes an honorary life patron.

SCHOLARSHIPS

Scholarships in Africa are twenty-five dollars.

Scholarships in China are thirty and thirty-five dollars.

Scholarships in India vary from twenty to forty dollars.

Scholarships in Malaysia are thirty-five dollars.

Scholarships in the Philippine Islands vary from thirty to sixty dollars.

In Japan, Korea, North Africa, Mexico, South America and Europe the share plan obtains. Work in individual stations is classified and listed as follows: educational, evangelistic, medical. Shares, except in France, are twenty dollars. In France shares are one hundred dollars each. Patrons will be kept informed concerning shares through station letters, issued quarterly.

ENDOWMENTS

Any individual or Branch desiring to name a building may be given that privilege on payment of more than one-half of the cost of said building.

A gift of $1,200 may endow a medical scholarship; a gift of $1,000 may endow a hospital bed.

A gift of $500 may furnish and name the operating room or a ward in a hospital.

A gift of $500 may furnish and name a chapel or library within a school or other building.

A gift of $100 may furnish and name a bedroom in any building.

ANNUITIES

Where it is practical, instead of making a bequest it is far better to convert property into cash and place the same in the treasury of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society at once, on the annuity plan. By so doing all possibility of litigation is avoided and a fair income is assured. The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society does not spend money so contributed while the annuitant lives, but invests it in good securities in this country.

At a meeting of the Inter-Board Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, held in Chicago, Illinois, in May, 1918, the following uniform schedule of annuity rates was recommended for adoption by all the Boards of the Church doing an annuity business:

(a) Rates on a single life:

40.....	4.0%	50.....	5.0%	60.....	6.0%	70.....	7.0%
41.....	4.1%	51.....	5.1%	61.....	6.1%	71.....	7.1%
42.....	4.2%	52.....	5.2%	62.....	6.2%	72.....	7.2%
43.....	4.3%	53.....	5.3%	63.....	6.3%	73.....	7.3%
44.....	4.4%	54.....	5.4%	64.....	6.4%	74.....	7.4%
45.....	4.5%	55.....	5.5%	65.....	6.5%	75.....	7.5%
46.....	4.6%	56.....	5.6%	66.....	6.6%	76.....	7.6%
47.....	4.7%	57.....	5.7%	67.....	6.7%	77.....	7.7%
48.....	4.8%	58.....	5.8%	68.....	6.8%	78.....	7.8%
49.....	4.9%	59.....	5.9%	69.....	6.9%	79.....	7.9%

For eighty and over the rate is 8%.

(b) Joint Annuity Rates payable during the joint existence and to the survivor of the two lives; for these apply to Miss Florence Hooper, Treasurer, Maryland Life Bldg., Baltimore, Md., or to Branch Treasurers.
